al's abilities — not personal characteristics.

Vice Provost for Underrepresented Groups James Stewart called the subcommittee's research thorough, but refused to comment specifically on the recommendation until the Faculty Senate decides.

"I think that the President (Thomas) asked the Faculty Senate for advice because he wanted to have the input from the Faculty Senate as a major governing body," Stewart said. "I'm sure that he will be gratified that the Faculty Senate has moved so quickly."

In its recommendation, the subcommittee said that a sexual orientation clause would not force the ROTC program off campus. Sexual orientation clauses and ROTC programs coexist at countless schools nationwide, Rung said.

The University's ROTC classes are open to anyone. ROTC scholarships and military commissions are withheld from gay men and lesbians because of the U.S. Department of Defense's exclusion of gay people from the military.

The subcommittee also cited increasing rates of violence against gay men and lesbians on campus, as reported in faculty and University studies during the last four years.

University faculty members who spoke at a February hearing disagreed on the subcommittee's recommendation.

William Tierney, chair of the Committee on Gay and Lesbian Concerns, applauded the recommendation and said he expects the Faculty Senate's approval.

"Given the unfortunate comments of Rene Portland in the last week makes the need for the (sexual orientation) clause clear," he said. "And given the current climate on campus, it is clear that there are acts of intolerance against gay men and lesbians on campus."

But Glen Bayly, campus minister of Alliance Christian Fellowship, disagreed.

"As we have been, we continue to oppose that language," Bayly said. We feel that it would be damaging to the community as a whole and to the homosexuals because it basically endorses their lifestyle as a healthy, valid lifestyle."

Faculty Senate Chair Peter Deines appointed 11 people drawn from University faculty, staff and students to serve on the subcommittee.

Amendment as only applying to academic records and adheres to the law as interpreted by the court.

The policy allows for the release of arrested persons' names only if that person has been arraigned and formally charged with a crime. However, an investigation could be grounds for withholding information, Harmon said.

Southwest Missouri State University's

Board of Regents will not appeal the case, said Paul Kincaid, director of the university relations department.

A Department of Education spokesperson said the department is reviewing the case and had no comment on the school's decision not to appeal.

Violation of the Buckley Amendment could result in federal funding cuts. The institutions and universities who received letters from the Department of Education now must decide whether to follow the court's ruling.

Iowa State University's Police Chief Loras Jaeger said Iowa State will not release the names of victims and arrested persons until the court decision is reviewed.

At Colorado State University, Keith Miser, vice president of student affairs, said the university will review the case further before it releases names.

LGBSA endorses Osborn/LaFlam USG ticket

Undergraduate Student Government executive hopefuls Leslie Osborn and Michael LaFlam won the endorsement of the Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Student Alliance last night in a secret ballot vote.

After hearing platform speeches from four of the five tickets running for USG president and vice president, LGBSA cast 13 votes for Osborn (senior-advertising) and LaFlam (senior-health and human development) and two for Mark Stewart (junior-English) and Merryll Werber (junior-accounting). Seven members abstained.

"We're very happy," LaFlam, a former LGBSA political co-director, said later in the evening. "We really didn't know what to expect. Myself and LGBSA agreed that we would be treated as neutral as all the other tickets."

"I do feel that they will best represent the needs of our organization and of the student body," said LGBSA political co-director Craig Waldo. "There were things I liked about all the tickets, except Courtney's (Malveaux)."

Presidential candidate Courtney Malveaux (senior-sociology) said he does not support the addition of a sexual orientation clause to the University's non-discrimination policy.

He also said he would not allow USG to sponsor events that "forward a viewpoint that is not representative of the student population."

Another ticket, Roger Czulewicz (junior-political science) and Janine Salomone (junior-psychology), did not attend last night's meeting and also opposes a sexual orientation clause.

Osborn and LaFlam pledged to draw attention to issues of underrepresented groups and make the Paul Robeson Cultural Center and HUB expansion an administration priority.

Osborn said she has attended past LGBSA meetings and been supportive of lesbian and gay issues.

LGBSA political co-director Theresa Summer attributed the many abstentions to the fact that some LGBSA members might not have felt comfortable voting if they are new or are not familiar with the candidates.

tan, Tadjikistan, Turkmenia and Kirgizia.

There were no final totals for Russia and Azerbaijan yesterday. Local counts were running strongly in favor of the union in the Russian countryside and many cities, but weak in Yeltsin's strongholds, Moscow and Sverdlovsk.

Six independence-minded republics refused to hold the referendum and the majority of their voters appeared to stay away from polls held in Communist Party and military bases. Less than a 50 percent turnout renders an election invalid under Soviet law.

The Baltics held their own referendums and voted overwhelmingly for independence: 91 percent in Lithuania, 74 percent in Latvia and 78 percent in Estonia. Georgia, also boycotting on Sunday, was expected to approve independence in a referendum later this month.

PERSONALS

ALPHA PHI'S BARB, Krista, Molly, and Kara. Thanks for loopin' it eight straight. Love, your favorite LiBro' and coach-Jeff.

BONN- I'VE KNOWN you since high school and have been looking out for you ever since. I'm not the person that you think I am. In all of the times we've met, I've kept my affection for you hidden because of the people that might become hurt. I'm not sure it's a good time to let my feelings be known. However, things have become somewhat complicated and the time has come that I need an answer one way or another.

'IS UNCLE FESTER there?' Ronglad the Silver Bullet didn't slow you down, Delores knows you're a Marlboro Man! Greg- Did Peter Brady have a squeaky frog and an awesome hairdryer, too? Derek- Glad the Gatorade didn't slow you down...that is correct! 'Candy, Candy, Candy...' Had a great time. Maybe we could be hostesses some week-end? Thanks, the condom queen, Beth, and Steph.

JESS (YOLANDA)-Happy birthday roomie! Time to celebrate! M & L here we come! Love ya, Chrissy!

JOEY I JUST wanted you and all of Penn State to know how very much you mean to me. Happy anniversary! I love you! Dani.

KAO TO MAKE UP for this weekend. Dinner and a show on TV tonight at 7-1 I hope you can make it. I look forward to a night of friendship and maybe more. Love, H.K.B.

LAURA HAPPY 22nd you old hag. Now you are over the hill too!! Annie.

LOOKING FOR SOMEONE different? Academic kind of guy who enjoys ice-skating, bowling, and watching movies interested in meeting women with similar interests. Reply personals.

LORI-ALPHA XI delta-good luck at Synchro Nationals! We're all rooting for you! Love and Xi-Yu sisters.

RAZZLE- HOW ABOUT a movie instead of dinner? Meet me in front of the rideboard at 6:00 on Thursday. Hadley.

SHELLY- THANKS TO a great coach. We had a blast! Love, Kappa Phi.

SLETA, HEY! ARE those age spots I see, or just bruises from rolling down the stairs?! Happy 22nd! Love, Cindy

TO THE TALL, dark, and handsome bowler-I was impressed with your style in class. Would like to meet...Gotta Larri! Hope you do well on your exams! -L.

TO VALERIE, OUR number one Triathlon coach, you helped make victory ours! Love the Kappas.
