Icer alumni try to recapture past glories in Ice Pavilion

By MATTHEW CORRADINO
Collegian Sports Writer

The crowd roared in disgust. No. 10 on the blue team in the Icer alumni game was called off for slashing. Joe Battista was escorted to the penalty box for two minutes of solitude. Cries of "goon" filled the rink. Battista was assessed one of only five penalties in the game.

"I got more penalties called against me in that game than I did in my whole career," Battista said.

At the end of the game, the scoreboard read 5-5 and there Battista was, having a cordial squabble with his teammate Ken Fatur on the ice. For those keeping score, Fatur won with a nifty reversal move.

John Dufford, who played for the ice hockey team in the 1940s, scored

"I got more penalties called against me in that game than I did in my whole career."

— Joe Battista
Icers coach

the game-tying goal for the white team. Dufford, the most experienced alumnus, played the game in his old leather helmet. His linemates were his son and his grandson.

The game also featured six 1991 Icer alums: Josh Brandwene, Marc Gresko, Midge Hutchison, John Joia, Bob Kokal and Lance Riddle.

"I haven't been back to see a game since the end of the year," Brandwene said, "and I got into town late Friday night so I turned the radio on and I started shaking listening to the game. It was a neat feeling."

In goal for the blue team was Paul Graf, the graduate assistant coach. Between the pipes for the white team was current Icer Dennis Magulick — who was called into action when other alumni goalies did not show.

"I learned that you got to stay in shape," Magulick said. "A couple of those guys were out there huffing and puffing."

The game was played in a relaxed atmosphere body checks were non-existent. It was more of a social event than a quest for victory.

"It's a ball," 1989 Icer Most Valuable Player Brian Stevenson said. "The greatest thing about the whole thing is getting back and being with old friends."

Also this weekend, four former players and a former coach were inducted into the Penn State Hockey Hall of Fame. Inducted were Glenn DeStefano (forward, 1979-83), Clayton John (head coach, 1977-79, 1980-81), Larry Lightbody (goaltender, 1939-42), Stevenson (forward, 1984-89) and Jim Yablecki (forward, 1982-87).

"I wasn't really looking to be inducted," Stevenson said. "If at all, not this soon. It was a real pleasure."

Sports Brief

Wisconsin backhands netwomen, 8-1

Wisconsin rudely welcomed the Lady Lion tennis team into the Big Ten with a not-so-friendly 8-1 romp Sunday at the Ice Volley Invitational in Madison, Wis.

The lone winner for Penn State was sixth-seeded Sarah Bartlett, who defeated Tina Grubisic in singles, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2. Wisconsin dominated the rest of the competition, winning in straight sets in the rest of the matches. Penn State's No. 1 seed Tammy Okins-Nguyen lost to Holly Harris 6-2, 6-1. Second-seeded Kerri Kohr was bounced by Marija Neubauer 6-1, 6-1.

In other matches, Jill Chullino beat Jennifer Farrington, 6-1, 6-1; Amanda Gregory defeated Kristin Kovalik, 6-2, 6-1 and Stephy Benz got by Andrea Chiumento 6-2, 6-4.

In doubles action, Neubauer and Gregory defeated Okins-Nguyen and Kohr 6-4, 6-4; Chullino and Kira Gregersen beat Kovalik and Chiumento, 6-3, 6-3 and Harris and Benz defeated Farrington and Denise Robinson, 6-2, 6-3.

Penn State is 1-1 overall and 0-1 in the Big Ten. Wisconsin is 2-3 and 1-1.

The Lady Lions played yesterday at Northwestern. Indiana University will visit Penn State on Saturday.
