

Season ends for women's tennis

By Hiran Ratnayake
COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

All bad things must come to an end, otherwise they would cease to be bad things. This old adage rings clear when concerning the Penn State women's tennis team, as their disappointing season found its resting place in Ann Arbor.

At the Big Ten Conference Championships in Michigan, the Lady Lions bowed down to the Purdue Boilermakers by a score of 4-2.

The early exit for Penn State came down to the final matches.

The Lady Lions were down three matches to zero when sophomores Rebecca Ho and Janel Perez returned to the scorer's table with a pair of victories, closing the gap to just one match.

Ho's victory avenged an earlier loss to the Boilermaker's Shannon Taheny by beating her 6-2, 0-6, 6-4.

Meanwhile, Perez toppled her sixth singles opponent (6-3, 2-6, 7-5).

Two more victories and Penn State would overcome Purdue, a team that beat the Lions 5-2 earlier in the season.

However, this was not to be the case as the momentum shifted back to the Boilermakers in the next match, assuring them the victory.

"The last matches were in the third set, they were both good, tight matches," head coach Buffy Baker said.

"Our players left their hearts out there, the only thing is we didn't come away with the victory."

The makings of the season finale replicated an experience that has become a commonplace for the squad throughout the entire year: Close, but no cigar. Many times throughout the course of the tennis schedule, the players fought their way within inches of a Big Ten victory and came up fruitless.

However, the team put forth the first steps to rebuilding the program with a 7-0 shutout of Michigan State in their last match of the season.

Combining that with the emergence of Ho and Perez, the return of Pilar Montgomery and Ali Barnett should solidify the Lions rise.

"The last matches of this year were a good foundation to build upon," Ho said. "We're gonna want to win a lot more next year because we definitely have the talent and the experience that it takes at this level."

France beats Russia in Kournikova's return

By The Associated Press

Russia's Anna Kournikova hits a ball during a Federation Cup World Group C tennis round-robin match against France's Julie Halard-Decugis yesterday.

Russia made it to the Fed Cup final last year without its injured phenom Anna Kournikova.

However, even with its top player back in the fold yesterday, the Russian team was no match for its French counterpart in the first round.

Kournikova, playing in the Fed Cup for the first time since 1997, lost in singles and doubles as Russia bowed to France 3-0 in round-robin play in Moscow.

She made 43 unforced errors in a 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 loss to Julie Halard-Decugis. Sandrine Testud beat Elena Likhovtseva 6-1, 6-4 in the other singles match, and Halard-Decugis teamed with Nathalie Tauziat in the doubles to defeat Kournikova and Likhovtseva 6-3, 7-6 (5).

Kournikova was 9-0 in Fed Cup doubles matches.

France, the 1997 champion, was not at full strength.

Amelie Mauresmo, the 1999 Australian Open runner-up, withdrew this week because of an injury, and Mary Pierce had earlier opted not to play in the tournament matches.

Russia lost last year's final to the United States, which received a first-round bye as the defending champion.

The three winners of this weekend's new-format group play will join the American team in the semifinals and finals held during Nov. 22-26.

In the other Group C contest in Moscow, Belgium defeated Australia 2-1.

In Group A in Bari, Italy, Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario and Conchita Martinez picked up straight-set singles wins as Spain routed Italy 3-0.

Germany edged Croatia 2-1.

In Group B in Bratislava, Slovakia, the Czech Republic beat Austria 2-1.

Under the new format, 12 World Group teams are split into three round-robin groups, with play through running through Sunday.

Each encounter in the tournament consists of two singles matches and one doubles match.

If two teams are tied for the group lead after play ends on Sunday, the first tiebreaker is the head-to-head records that the teams hold.

If three teams are tied, the tiebreakers will be most matches won, highest percentage of sets won and highest percentage of games won.
