Published independently by students at Penn State

psucollegian.com

Vol. 110 No. 99

Monday, Feb. 15, 2010

Armed robberies reported

Police believe the two robberies this weekend could have been related.

> By Laura Nichols COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

Police say there's reason to believe two men who carjacked one man and beat him over the could be the same robbers who held up a pizza deliveryman the night before at The Pointe apartment complex.

During the Friday night robbed him before Patton and beating him at about 9 p.m.

They made the hit on Park Ferguson Township Department said.

The night before, a pizza delivincident, the two unidentified 501 Vairo Blvd., when two uniden-police said. men threatened the man tified men approached him. with a gun, seized control of pushed him to the ground at gun- either incident, but authorities his car, drove to Boalsburg point and robbed him, the say the suspects are still Township

Department said. Crest Lane off of Martin Street - men threatened the pizza ted both robberies, they believe head with a gun on Friday night about six minutes off campus. deliveryman with a revolver the incidents are related. Police outside The Point, forcing him to the ground, police said.

The men then robbed him of the ery driver had just made a stop at small amount of cash he was The Pointe apartment complex, carrying but left him unharmed.

No shots were fired in Police at large and remain unidentified.

Although they couldn't conclu-One of two unidentified sively say the same men commit-

the Friday During night See ROBBERIES. Page 2.

2 robberies, 2 days

Police are investigating two separate incidents of robbery at gunpoint that may be related.

was threatened with a gun outside of 501

was threatened with a gu at Park Crest Lane then

Limits lessen totals

By Sarah Peters COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

While there were few reported canning violations this weekend, THON organizations said the restrictions led to disappointing donation totals.

Citing weather safety concerns. THON officials barred organizations last weekend from canning on street corners and intersections. Interfraternity Council Panhellenic Dance Marathon Overall Chairwoman Caitlin Zankowski said the Rules Regulations Committee members received a few phone calls from police or borough officials, and no serious violations were reported.

Though she doesn't have specific figures yet. Zankowski (senior-industrial engineering) said the fourth canning weekend's returns seem comparable to years past in spite of the changes

"Historically, the fourth canning weekend is the slowest weekend because organizations are gearing up for THON and don't want to put anyone out in the cold." Zankowski said. "It was right on par. As far as I can tell, things are as normal.'

But that's not what some THON organizations are saying. See CANNING, Page 2.

Brendan O'Connor (junior-human development and family sciences) and Jeremy La Master (junior-biology), Yvette Lerma (senior-sociology) and Allison Jones (junior-nursing), and Alex Yates (junior-secondary education) and Kirstie Hartman (sophomore-marketing) lock lips in the

Students KissOut for rights

By Leah Gillen and Julie Mastrine COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

While some students stared and pointed, others walked past without a second look during the sixth annual KissOut Friday in the HUB-Robeson Center.

About a dozen lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender students and their allies (LGBTA) kissed at the bottom of the HUB stairs in an attempt to alter the perception of Valentine's Day as a heterosexual love, Haas said.

holiday, participant Julian Haas

HUB-Robeson Center on Friday afternoon as part of the LGBTA KissOut.

"Actions like these shed light on affirming love." Haas (sophomore-sociology) said.

'We can share our love, and it's just as beautiful as anyone else's

Part of the national Freedom to Marry Week, the event lasted less than fifteen minutes but served as a lasting act of resistance against constrictions of non-traditional

"When I see a straight couple exist." Newman (senior-media said participant Clare Jablonski (junior-criminology and sociology)

Students of every sexual orientation participated in the KissOut Lianna Newman, president of Undertones, an LGBT group for minority students. We'd like to see people accept For a story on couples' efforts to get making out, I say Aw, and we get, studies) said. "They need to accept that we are people and we deserve our rights

Other student leaders were also vocal about the event. University Park Undergraduate as a way to make LGBT students Association (UPUA) Student Life more visible on campus, said and Diversity Chairman Christian Ragland encouraged students to See KISSOUT. Page 2.

it as a different culture that does marriage licenses LOCAL, Page 4.

Dancers, moralers prepare for event

By Sarah Peters COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

Dancers, moralers and captains refrained from canning this weekend. catching up on homework and sleep in preparation for the challenges they'll face at Interfraternity Council/Panhellenic Dance Marathon Springfield THON dancer Gabbie Gort said this is the first canning trip she's ever missed.

"It would have been my 12th straight canning weekend," she

"I understand why they tell us not to go. If one of us would get sick or hurt ourselves canning, I would be upset. Dancers, moralers and captains are typically discouraged to go on the final canning trip to See THON, Page 2.

A model walks the runway during the Andres Aquino fashion show at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City on Saturday night during Couture Fashion Week.

Fashion Week rocks NYC

By Kathleen Loughran COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The stage at the Waldorf Astoria Grand Ballroom was set: A grand piano was placed on center stage, statues of dancers were installed to the left and a microphone stood front and cen-

Though the setting seems typical for a classical concert or an opera, Saturday's 250-person audience wasn't there to see a musical event.

They were patiently waiting for the Janerations and Andres Aquino show at Couture Fashion Week producer Andres Fall 2010 New York Couture Fashion Week Aquino showed his collection. to begin — and like the weekend's other shows, it started fashionably late.

To view a photo gallery of various designers' collections at Couture Fashion Week in New York City: ONLINE psucollegian.com

Janerations premiered her line first, a collection of knit sweaters with touches of fur and leather trim. The sweaters were accented with big buttons and poufy shoulders. She worked with mainly black, cream, gray and pink.

Along with the brand Janerations,

See FASHION WEEK. Page 2.

Meningitis case detected in East Halls

By Laurie Stern COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

A female Penn State student is in the hospital after being diagnosed last week with a possible case of meningococcal meningitis.

The Pinchot Hall resident — whose identity has not been released due to federal privacy regulations — was admitted to Mount Nittany Medical Center and is undergoing treatment. University Health Services (UHS) Director Margaret Spear

An official status report from the hospital has not been made public, but university spokeswoman Lisa Powers wrote in an e-mail that the student's condition has improved.

Because the infection spreads through direct person-to-person contact, Spear said UHS has notified people who had contact with the patient in order to administer appropriate medication.

At the onset of bacterial meningitis, symptoms can include fever, headache, body aches, neck stiffness or a rash. Those students who experience See MENINGITIS. Page 2.

Symptoms:

■ Fever, headache, body aches, neck stiffness

For more information, visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Web site:

http://www.cdc.gov/meningitis/index.html