

Conan O'Brien to make TBS his new late night home

By Frazier Moore
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

NEW YORK — The late-night guessing game is over, with a startling twist: Conan O'Brien has chosen TBS as his future talk-show home.

Expected to debut in November, the as-yet-untitled show will return O'Brien to the air after an absence that began in January when he abruptly left NBC, his employer of 17 years.

O'Brien's new program will air Mondays through Thursdays at 11 p.m. Eastern, which will shift "Lopez Tonight," starring George Lopez, from 11 p.m. EDT to midnight. O'Brien's show will originate from Los Angeles, where he moved from New York for his short-lived stint hosting "The Tonight Show."

For the second half of his show, he will face off against Jay Leno, who replaced him.

Upon TBS' announcement Monday, O'Brien quickly fired out a celebratory tweet.

"The good news: I will be doing a show on TBS starting in November! The bad news: I'll be playing Rudy on the all new Cosby Show," he posted on Twitter.

TBS said that talks with O'Brien accelerated last week after Lopez called O'Brien to ask him to come aboard.

"I can't think of anything better than doing my show with Conan as my lead-in. It's the beginning of a new era in late-night comedy," Lopez said in a statement released by TBS.

Steve Koonin, president of Turner Entertainment Networks, said he flew from Atlanta to George Lopez's office on the Warner Bros. lot in Los Angeles last Wednesday to enlist the comedian's help. Koonin pitched Lopez on the idea that both he and O'Brien were in their 40s and appealed to a young demographic, while Leno and David Letterman were older and played to an older crowd.

"He got very excited," Koonin said. "George saw the vision." Lopez picked up the phone to speak with O'Brien immediately. With his own show just months old (it began in November), Lopez agreed to have "Lopez Tonight" pushed back an hour.

Within days, a deal was struck. Koonin said the cable channel reached a "multi-year deal" with O'Brien and added, "hopefully this'll be something that lasts for the next decade."

The deal happened quickly, so there was no discussion about how many staff O'Brien could keep.

"In the 90 hours we had to do this, we didn't get into that," Koonin said. He declined to reveal the budget for the show. "They told us what they needed to make the show, and we said, 'Let's go make the show.'"

Koonin said he was optimistic that O'Brien will have more freedom on cable, saying "cable has historically had a different temperament than broadcast," but noted, "Conan's not a dirty comedian. That's not what he does."
