PUB STOLEN

On the evening of August 25th, a pub in County Kildare, Ireland was burglarized. Police report that "they cleaned the place out. Everything from the chairs, tables, bric-a-brac, even the entire bar was removed."

Owner Paddy Murphy is baffled by the crime.

"Why anyone would lift a 100-year-old bar is beyond my understandin'," said Murphy, "I was just showin' it to a lad from the states yesterday."

Police have no suspects at this time. The only clue is a navy blue hat with the image of a Nittany Lion found at the scene.
