

Rugbers to hold rookie day for future players

By Brandt Gelman
COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

Rugby is not a sport for the faint of heart.

Between the gruesome scrums and the huge hits, many who have not played the sport may be scared off before they ever attempt to play the game.

That's why this Sunday, the Penn State women's rugby team is holding its annual rookie day, where athletes can come out and see if rugby is the sport for them in a much less intimidating atmosphere.

"Rugby is not a popular sport for girls in high school," coach Pete Steinberg said. "A lot of our best players never played rugby before college."

The rookie day is broken up into two practice sessions where the newcomers will work on kicking and passing drills, followed by a scrimmage.

"Rookie day really gives you a crash course into the game," said Jeanne Drouilhet, a senior member of the team.

Although she played in high school, Drouilhet said for people who have never touched a rugby ball it is a great chance to find out if they're going to like rugby or not. One thing that makes rookie day unique is the inviting atmosphere the team creates.

"We want our players to be able to show up and learn the game in a way that isn't around people who have played the game for a while," Steinberg said.

The goal of the rookie game is to enable players who want to play rugby to eventually come to their first practice and not be confused about what is going on. Steinberg is able to draw athletes from all different backgrounds to come out for rookie day.

"Maybe you're an inch or two too short for basketball or you're tired of playing soccer, and you just don't know that rugby is your sport," Steinberg said.

Players currently on the team encourage anyone to come out and participate in rookie day, no matter what their athletic pedigree is.

"A lot of people may not look like the best athletes at first, but we can make them into better athletes," said Caitlin Prendergast, a senior on the team.

Prendergast said she loved rookie day because she got to play with people who did not have much experience.

Before attending rookie day, Prendergast didn't know anything about the sport, and admitted it would have been intimidating to play with a team as good as the Lady Ruggers.

The Lady Ruggers day is also a chance for the current players to see the game from the coach's perspective. The veteran players will work with the rookies on all the different aspects of the game.

"Coaching also helps us out because while coaching you get to learn more about the game," Drouilhet said.

Sadie Anderson, a junior on the team and a returning All-American, said the rookie day is an important event for the team. While she doesn't have a large role in rookie day this year, she said she will still try to help out.

"I will mostly be trying to make people feel welcome," Anderson said.

"I don't want people to feel overwhelmed. I just want them to feel comfortable."

Former Australian pro brings exciting coaching style

By Joe McIntyre
COLLEGIAN STAFF WRITER

He's hardly Reggie Dunlop from the movie "Slapshot," but first-year field hockey coach Stu Smith is coaching the Nittany Lions as if he were one of the gang.

Smith, a former professional field hockey player in Australia, has brought a new voice and a new perspective to the Lions. Both of head coach Char Morett's assistant coaches had previously played for Penn State. So all of the theory on coaching has come primarily from one source: Morett.

And assistant coach Annie Zinkavich said for the team to get a new view on the game of field hockey, especially a view from someone as far away as Australia, has been tremendously helpful.

"I think he's just offered a lot of new technique-type stuff," Zinkavich said. "And a lot of the newer techniques for the girls have been pretty cool."

Smith preaches to the team about playing with pride, Zinkavich said. He talks about how his Australian club would play as if every game was its last, and he wants to make sure the Nittany Lions play the same way.

"[For Smith], it's just a lot of pride in what you do and loving the game...and I think he's really tried to instill that in the girls. I think sometimes it gets kind of repetitive, you're doing the same things over and over again, you kind of lose focus on why you're doing it and why you're playing," Zinkavich said.

"It's all about loving what you do and doing it because you really want to get better and making sure it's something that brings you a lot of happiness."

Smith has energy and an enthusiasm on the field that is not normally seen in coaches. He plays alongside the team in practice and shows them, instead of telling them, how to play the right way.

Senior captain Dancen Zug says what Smith brings to the coaching table is a kind of youthful exuberance. He coaches as if he were preparing to suit up in the blue and white and play in the team's next game.

"Stu just brings that energy. He jumps on the field, he plays with us and that's always awesome," Zug said. "It's great to be able to see a coach play and learn from what they're doing instead of learn what they say."

Although Smith puts on the face of a player, he's still a coach at heart.

The former Buckeye turned Nittany Lion said it has always been a dream of his to come to Penn State. And for him to get the chance to coach under "the queen of USA field hockey" Char Morrett, has been nothing but spectacular.

And by the way he looks at this Sunday's home contest versus Lock Haven, this ultimate player's coach must have learned something from the coaching queen already.

"I think psychologically it would be massive for us to beat Lock Haven," Smith said.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, Sept. 10, 2010.
This year you have follow through and drive. When you decide to realize a hope or wish, it is nearly as good as done. Your finances will need careful scrutiny, especially a tendency to go overboard at times. Hopefully, you have a sense that there is never enough. If you are single someone is clearly an admirer and might be in your daily life. Look around. In any case, an intense relationship is slated for the next few years. If you are attached, the two of you could struggle over money. Perhaps separate checkbooks is the answer. LIBRA helps you spend your money!

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic, 4-Positive, 3-Average, 2-Negative, 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
*** Others seem to promote in front of you. Someone who doesn't stop wants you to notice. A friend spews many good ideas and suggestions. You might feel as if this person is witty or not grounded. Tonight: Hook up with friends. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
*** Your pace reflects what you want to accomplish, and perhaps the fact that it's Friday. A boss wants to have a brainstorming session. What was booked as a quick meeting could go way past that. Tonight: Thinking and maybe talking work, too. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
*** Your imagination keeps interfering with what you see as a boring task. How you handle a loved one and your choices could transform the relationship. Allow new types of thinking to open doors. Tonight: Let the fun begin. CANCER (June 21-July 22)

*** If you can make it, an early or midday. A partner offers opportunities to go overboard on a thought of. Think carefully before making a change on the domestic front. Tonight: Sharing with a spouse or best friend. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
*** Communication adds an odd but expansive quality to interactions. Others might not be as clear as you could like, but you are inspired to toss yourself into whatever a discussion revolves around. Your efforts quickly complete a job. Tonight: Chattering up a storm. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
*** Accomplishing a project could be halted or waylaid. Being less uptight could help ultimately, as you cannot change what is occurring. You often take the lead in handling details and completing the final steps of a project. Tonight: Stick to your hips. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
*** You beam, and others seek you out like bees do honey. Whether dealing with a work-related matter or a personal situation, you need to take the lead right now. Everything else will fall into place. Use that great imagination. Tonight: Wish-upon-a-star time. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
*** If you discover that there is no meeting of the minds, say less and listen more. Others have good ideas, too. A lack of focus on your part... as your imagination frequently kicks in... could make communication more difficult. Be happy it is Friday. Tonight: Now, use your imagination!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
*** Focus on your priorities. In a meeting, don't lose sight of why you are there. You might need to ground the meeting more in reality. Like a proactive role in coaching a long-term dream. You might be surprised by the results. Tonight: Where the crowds are. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
*** Push as hard as you need to at work. A boss might be reticent, until he sees how enthusiastic you are. Creativity helps in a financial brainstorming situation. Check figures as well. Tonight: Leader of the gang. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
*** You might want to add your particular touch to a situation. You might not feel as if you have everything in control as you would like. Reach out for others who have more expertise or experience than you. Tonight: You could be especially happy around great music. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
*** Others make the first move, the first call, the first offer. Those you associate with want feedback, but also your participation. You might feel pressured by others. Handle what you must. Tonight: Be careful with a lively discussion, it could erupt into a fight.
