Green Green didn't have any carries in the win Saturday. Royster received a season-high 29 carries, and freshman tailback Silas

Redd had 24 yards on six carries as the second stringer. Green hasn't gotten more than three carries in each of the last four games. The redshirt junior was limited to kickoff duties against Michigan. He returned two for 50

Defense: Cornerback Stephon

Like Green, Morris saw no production. Chaz Powell replaced him at cornerback after Morris'

sub-par performance last week

Morris started every game at cornerback before Michigan but didn't play a down Saturday.

Defensive coordinator Tom

Bradley said there will be weekly competition for the starting cor-

McGloin when talking about teammates calling him Brett

Favre because he has similarities in playing style with the NFL quarterback: "I don't send any pictures or anything like that, so

To e-mail reporter: bjm5146@psu.edu

I'm not entirely like him."

yards.

Morris

at Minnesota.

ner spot.

Quotable

Robinson

From Page 14.

passing yards and four touchdowns, didn't exactly bode well for a defensive showing. The Lions knew coming in Robinson would be a handful and struggled to adjust as he broke free from the pocket and also threw a 60vard touchdown pass.

"We feel good about the win, but we know there are still holes in our defense that we have to work on in practice and hopefully we can get that fixed," defensive tackle Devon Still said.

Robinson's speed made him unlike any other quarterback the team faced this season, and but would instead throw a short justify Robinson's quickness. "I looked at tapes of him on ball. film, tapes of games, you know, he was impressive," Paterno said.

"But until you've been around him and see guys that can move pretty well, he just ran away from a couple of them."

Bradley said Robinson's rare combination of athleticism reminded him of former Indiana quarterback and current Pittsburgh Steelers wide receiver Antwaan Randle El.

Robinson's ability to throw some "pop passes," which Bradley described as plays where it looked like Robinson would run a quarterback draw · Paterno said the film didn't pass, tested the linebacker's place with a full year of football

Now, Royster is atop those stairs at a school that has hosted a Heisman-winning tailback in John Cappelletti, and the likes of Warner, Ki-Jana Carter,

D.J. Dozier, Lydell Mitchell and credit for the record, saying,

"running is running," regard less of the era or the team.

gonna be broken eventually.

Warner gave Royster full

"It's a nice thing to have individual records," Warner said of his own mark. "But they're

Penn State football historian

State Football Encyclopedia

said regardless of where Royster's talents rank among the school's greats, the record

Warner specifically are in a class of their own, Prato said.

adding in 10 years, he wouldn't be putting Royster near the "greatest" conversation. But he added those three ran behind three of the greatest offensive lines in Penn State history, a lux-performance was a big reason for Royster's breakout game

"He's a good back." Paterno said. "A good solid back. But he's like all of them, he needs

The spectrum of history was Joe Paterno agreed with that ury Royster never had.

some running room.

Cappelletti

and remains significant.

Carter,

Saturday

Sinking in Finding perspective

awaiting him.

Blair Thomas.

natural instincts to swarm the

"He can pass the ball and he's probably the best runner we'll play all year." cornerback D'Anton Lynn said.

The defense was able to come up with a stop with less than five minutes left in the game when back-to-back incompletions ended the Wolverines' hopes of a comeback.

Still said the defense's ability to come up with a stop when needed most gives the unit hope moving forward.

"He was getting us tired out there and we was out there breathing hard but we knew we had to play through it," Still said.

To e-mail reporter: aas5220@psu.edu each step to the second floor is a never something that contop-10 Penn State rusher, in cerned Royster until this seaorder. Royster sat in eighth Son

> "With all this record talk, I couldn't help but hear about things," Royster said.

But he added he doesn't care where he sits individually in Penn State's history. He'd rather win games. Both Royster and Warner were adamant at their indifference to the record.

But Royster spent some time in Joe Paterno's doghouse this offseason. Paterno called for Royster to lose weight --- which he did --- and the coach hasn't offered much praise for his top tailback. Coupled with Royster's early season struggles, it caused fans and media to doubt Royster's abilities.

"I hear about those things, Lou Prato, author of the Penn and it does kind of tick me off and make me want to prove people wrong," Royster said. "It's not a huge thing. I always want to come out and play hard, but I don't really do this for other people.

The phrase "all-time leading rusher" is one Royster said won't sink in until at least after the season and possibly not for a tes years

Yeah, but by that time, Silas might have broken it," Royster laughed, offering high praise of Siltes Redd, a true freshman who has shown signs of brilliance this season.

If Redd does come close, as Royster predicted, he expects to respond to more questions. Those are questions Royster will be more than happy to answer

"The monkey's off my back,"

To a unad reporter: ajc5238@psu.edu

Last word

From Page 14.

'nother step," Zug said. "It shows how much of a legend he is and how much of a great coach he is, so we want to get that for him.'

Day to remember

Offense: Quarterback Matt McGloin and tailback Evan Royster

Royster not only broke Curt Warner's rushing record, but he surpassed it with a bang. He rushed for 150 yards with two touchdowns and achieved the milestone on a 20-yard first quarter run. McGloin, a former walkon in his first collegiate start, threw for 250 yards and a touchdown and efficiently ran the offense with a 60-percent completion rate.

Defense: Linebacker Mike Mauti.

The Penn State defense couldn't stop Michigan quarterback Denard Robinson, who accumulated 381 yards of total offense, but Mauti stood out on defense with 10 tackles, which led the Lions.

Day to forget

Mink

From Page 14.

McGloin said.

go vertical.

at the bud.

but did his job.

Offense: Tailback Stephfon

when Northwestern rolls in for perhaps Joe Paterno's 400th be prepared for it and I was."

tailor-made gameplan for career win and bowl eligibility.

or not, deep down inside I knew and my family knew that one day this would come, and I just had to Penn State sewed together a

McGloin, calling for a heavy diet underneath, picking its spots to of runs, screens, and short passes

Joe Paterno gave no indication the quarterback position may be up for grabs. Quarterbacks coach

Jay Paterno nipped the question has to be discussed amongst the appearances as Bolden has been in half of season's work. Granted,

McGloin's gone up against two of the worst defenses in the Big Ten staff. Mac's been equally as impressive in his two cameo

This goes beyond arm strength, passing efficiency.

measurements. Penn State's Conventional thinking says this

"Whether people believe in me offense is following its leader and playing loose in a way the militant Bolden couldn't fake.

"Rob is kind of a quiet confident and McGloin is a loud confident." candid senior right guard Stefen Wisniewski said. "As a huddle, you feel the loud confidence more than the quiet kind."

McGloin is being tarred-andfeathered for being a walk-on, even though he's on scholarship. Except none of it's sticking.

"I've been a backup for the past six weeks," said McGloin. "If they say. 'Matt. we're gonna start Rob again,' like I did in Minnesota, I'll be ready to go if called upon."

Penn State is fortunate Matt is being a good sport because Mac has got to be wondering if this is enough. if the success he's tasted the last two weeks isn't just a dry well.

"I got a lot of e-mails and suggestions this week as to what we should do." Jav Paterno said after the game.

"I didn't answer them because I knew what we had.' Now, everyone does.

Nate Mink is a senior majoring in journalism and is the football editor for The Daily Collegian. His e-mail address is npm5025@psu.edu.

See Results. e Wi

Royster

From Page 14.

"I just came here hoping to get a chance to play," Royster said. "And to be in this situation, it's a blessing, and I couldn't have asked for a better furnout.

It's almost fitting Royster's cord came against Michigan, we team he's carved up for the st two seasons, going for 174 ad 100 yards in those games.

But Royster simply laughed when asked why he had such an easy time finding holes in the Wolverines defense.

"It's never easy," he said.

Getting to the mark

Nor was the decision to pass up the NFL for another year at Penn State

Ultimately, according to Ted Royster, Evan's father, Royster felt as if he had something left to prove. He wanted NFL scouts to know he could be a consistent every-down back, and additionally, he wanted another year with his friends in Happy Valley.

He never talked about the meord at all," Ted Royster said. even after getting it last night Gene was no conversation. We would bring it to his attention. but he would never say anything. He knew it was there, he knew it was on the horizon, but assessment, saying the line's that certainly wasn't the driving force behind Evan.

Until Royster made his final decision to remain in school. ed said no one in the family had started thinking about the record.

Then, one day over the summen the Roysters were in the Student Book Store, where on Royster said. "I feel great.

sucollegian.com a daily collegian Transis off Company

n mas

"We routinely ask customers and students how they heard about us, and The Daily Collegian is a very popular answer. The Daily Collegian was not only a fantastic outlet to promote our Grand Opening party, but is an ongoing resource we utilize to promote upcoming releases and video game tournaments."

> Jeremy Gibson, Gamers Arena 421 E. Calder Way www.thegamersarena.com

> > nlan

egian

arge

AT THE DAILY COLLEGIAN, WE PRIDE OURSELVES ON PROFESSIONAL, CONSISTENT SERVICE.

Call 814-865-2531 to get started and speak with an Account Executive today.

123 S. BURROWES ST. WWW.COLLEGIAN.PSU.EDU

Main Gyn Get there early while supplies laş 2

www.GoPSUsports.com

ŧ