UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Learn new ways to protect against the world's greatest threats.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN SECURITY TECHNOLOGIES

Threats to business and national security are constantly evolving. The University of Minnesota's Master of Science in Security Technologies degree (MSST) prepares students to anticipate ever-evolving threats, manage risk and discover new methods of protection.

If you're seeking a challenging, lucrative, high-demand career, consider this exciting 14-month graduate degree program. It meets two evenings per week and occasional Fridays.

Become a quiet hero by learning and inventing new ways to protect the things that matter most...the lives of others and the critical assets of society.
