

CARNEY HELD FOR SHOOTING

He Was Discovered While in Act of Ransacking House

Mrs. David Shilling, of Wheatfield, Buffington township, came to Indiana Wednesday morning and identified Clyde Carney of Centerville, West Wheatfield township, a prisoner in the county jail, as the person who shot her the morning of January 15, when she surprised him in the act of robbing the Shilling home. Mrs. Shilling was wounded in the arm and was a patient in the Memorial hospital at Johnstown until a few days ago.

She arrived in Indiana on the morning train and was taken directly to the county jail. On entering the jail she became confused as the corridors were dark, and at first she did not recognize Carney as the alleged thief. He was taken back to the jail later in the day and when brought face to face with Carney she declared repeatedly, "That is the man." Mrs. Shilling returned to her home that afternoon. Carney had little to say following the woman's visit, but declared he could not understand why Mrs. Shilling did not recognize him on her first visit to the jail that morning when she was so confident that he was the guilty man on the second visit.

The robbery and shooting occurred during the absence of Mr. Shilling on the morning of Jan. 15. The husband is employed as a blacksmith at Vintondale and leaves home early for his work. Shortly after he left the house on the morning of the crime, Mrs. Shilling went to the barn to do the milking. On her return to the house she noticed that the door was fastened, but did not think anything of it, as there is a spring lock on the door and she supposed that it had slipped as she closed the door to go to the barn.

Entering the house through the cellar she heard a noise upstairs. Just as she got to the head of the stairway she discovered a man ransacking one of the rooms. As soon as the burglar saw Mrs. Shilling he opened fire with a revolver, the bullet striking the woman on the arm. Mrs. Shilling fell and it is alleged that the intruder shot at her as she lay injured upon the floor.

The thief secured $30 and a gold watch, but during the excitement following the shooting he overlooked $80 which was in a pay envelope.

Carney was arrested at his home in Centerville Jan. 18 by Constable John E. Blackley, of Buffington township, and was brought to the county jail the following day on a charge of being implicated in the robbery. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace James A. Crossman and was held for trial at the March term.

RUSSIANS REPULSED IN THE CARPATHIANS

Petrograd, Feb. 5—One hundred thousand Germans are hurling themselves in headlong rushes against the Russian earth works, west of Warsaw, it was officially announced today.

One of the greatest battles of the war is developing. Seven divisions of Germans, comprising the flower of Von Hindenburg's armies, are making impetuous frontal attacks upon the Russians between the Bzura and Rawka.

Behind them 100 German batteries are playing shells upon the czar's trenches. The snowy fields west of the Polish capital are crimson with blood.

50,000 Fresh Troops

Fifty thousand fresh German troops were rushed into the firing line early yesterday as reinforcements. They filled huge gaps in the German lines, torn by Russian shells and Russian infantry charges. Their arrival was a signal for the renewal of the onslaught.

For 24 hours Mackensen's divisions have surged toward the Russian lines. The battle has become a gigantic death grapple with thousands of men stabbing with their bayonets, fighting with clubbed rifles and dealing death on the frozen fields.

In the Carpathians the Russians have been forced to withdraw from the Beskid passes where a superior force of Germans and Austrians were encountered it was officially admitted. In this region however the Russians have taken 2,000 prisoners.

Slavs Act Brilliantly.

The Russians are performing brilliantly in Poland, official dispatches reported today. Between Bollnow and the Bzura they have crushed German frontal attacks upon the center of the Russian army by blocking the road to Warsaw. Following their successes at Wola Szydlowska announced last night, the czar's armies have forced the Germans out of the village of Humin, captured by the enemy on Tuesday.

But the German onslaughts continue, it was officially admitted, in the face of enormous losses. Mackensen has returned to the massed attack. Advancing in 2 compact formations the Germans are attempting to break through to Warsaw by sheer force of numbers.

The nomination settles one of the most interesting postoffice contests in the state, that is Punxsutawney. There were ten candidates for the place, among them being Col. "Bill" Fairman, and several had strong backing. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer and the state organization were obliged to choose among them and settled upon Simpson. Colonel Fairman was favorably considered, but it is said his age was against him.

Desperate Charge Fails

In one of the desperate charges reported to the war office today, several entire German divisions advanced to the attack, deploying over a front of less than two-thirds of a mile. Into this human target the Russian gunners and riflemen poured a terrible fire. The Germans wavered, came on with a rush, wavered again and then broke into a retreat, leaving hundreds of dead and wounded in the front of the Russian trenches.

A distillery near Wola Szydlowska is the center of the most violent fighting. The Russians who occupied Wola Szydlowska are endeavoring to dislodge the Germans from their positions behind stone walls. The Germans still hold this position, according to the latest dispatches from the front but the battle continues with unabated fury.

Russian Cavalry Wins

In East Prussian Russian cavalry near Lasdehen drove off a German force that attacked near the Scheskonpa river.

In the Carpathians the heaviest fighting is now in the Dukla pass region. German forces concentrated near Svidnik, just south of the pass, are endeavoring to halt the Russian flanking movement from the west by energetic counter attacks.

The Russians advanced at some points and captured 2,000 prisoners. Ten German bayonet charges were repulsed, but the strong German army finally forced a retirement of the Russians to entrenchments they had previously prepared.

To the east the Austrians are attacking in heavy force in an attempt to force a passage of the mountains at Vyshkow. Their onslaughts are being repulsed with heavy losses.
