Woman Escapes from Home With Babe But Is Caught

GREENSBURG, May 20.—Separated from her 2-month-old babe and confined in seclusion in the insane department of the Westmoreland County Home, Mrs. Camelia Marrazzio, aged 30, of East Vandergrift, literally tore her way through screened windows, dropped two stories to the ground, went up the fire escape three floors, stole her baby from his bed and escaped over the hills to Carbon, several miles distant. She was captured early this morning.

On reaching the home, the babe was again taken from its mother and placed with a nurse. Mrs. Marrazzio raving in her grief, fought every person who went near her and efforts of guards and other attendants to pacify her were futile.

The dead man is:
John Fedorick, aged 21, single.

Mrs. Carmella Brivo, aged 30, shot through the arm. Condition not serious.

At six o'clock Saturday evening, John Maradik and Susie Rasconick were married. The wedding celebration began immediately with much feasting and drinking and about 11 o'clock a fight started. Buhiski pulled his gun and fired three shots. Fedorick fell with the first report with a bullet through his abdomen. The second shot struck Dropka in the right hip and the third hit Mrs. Brivo.

His revolver contained but three shells and upon the discharge of the last one, Buhiski threw his gun to the floor. At once he was the center of a heaving mass of humanity. His coat and shirt were torn from his body and he was badly beaten and kicked but despite the fact that a dozen men piled on him he managed to make his escape and is still at liberty.

Fedorick and Dropka were taken to the Indiana hospital where Fedorick died Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Buhiski is a Russian. 21 years of age, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weight 175 or 180 pounds. He has light hair, a round face with a rough complexion and wears a small, light mustache. ITALIAN PARLIAMENT VOTES TO DECLARE WAR ON AUSTRIA

Grants Cabinet Power to Start Conflict—Austrian Fleet Reported Ready For Dash On Venice, While Italy's 1,700,000 Troops Are Massed For Rush Across The Austrian Frontier

ROME, May 20.—Italy took today her first definite step toward her entry into the European war with the allies when by a vote of more than 6 to 1 of the 508 deputies present at the reopening of Parliament full powers were granted to the government to deal with all public matters after the declaration of war against Austria, and authorizing the necessary extraordinary expenditure. The decision as to the form which the open break with Austria will take and its exact date now rests with the cabinet. It is believed that an ultimatum will be sent to Vienna at once.

It is reported from Milan that the Austrian fleet at Pola, the Austrian naval base in the Adriatic, is under steam and waiting only the actual outbreak of hostilities to proceed to Venice and bombard the ancient city. In anticipation of such an action the authorities for several weeks have been engaged in removing the art treasures from the galleries and churches in Venice.

The movement of Italian troops toward northern and eastern frontiers proceeds apace. Gen. Cadorna, the chief of staff, is at Vicenza to take full command of the 1,700,000 soldiers now in the northern zone. Passenger traffic on the railroads leading to the frontiers has been reduced to a minimum. Fifty trains have been surprised in the south, while in Central and Northern Italy not even freight trains are running, the lines being devoted exclusively to military transport.

All the galleries of the Chamber of Deputies were crowded at 1 o'clock some time before Parliament reassembled. Only one incident marked the opening of the session; that was when Gabriele D'Annunzio entered the gallery. All the deputies stood up and shouted: "Viva D'Annunzio! Viva Italia!" D'Annunzio is known for his very radical stand in favor of war.

Two or three Socialist deputies protested against this ovation to D'Annunzio, but their voices were lost in the cheering.
