

ITALIAN GIANTS, IN BAYONET RUSH, CARRY TRENCHES

Cheered Men with Cry, "Remember, the Sardinian Brigade Never Withdrew!"

MILAN, June 29.—The Corriere della Sera prints an account of a charge by an Italian force, a brigade of grenadiers, comprising the tallest men in the army, at the time of the occupation of the Corso Heights northeast of Monfalcone. The grenadiers, says the newspaper, approached to within fifty yards of the entrenched enemy, when with the cry of "Savoy" they sprang with fixed bayonets on the Austrians, who broke and fled.

A shower of artillery obliged the grenadiers to change their position to protect themselves. The Austrians, evidently believing the Italians had retired, advanced to reoccupy the lost intrenchment, whereupon the colossal Major Manfredi, taking the colors in hand, cried: "Grenadiers, remember, the Sardinian brigade never withdrew."

The grenadiers, the newspaper adds, flung themselves upon the advancing troops, driving them back, but shrapnel carried away the left leg of Major Manfredi, who shortly afterward died from loss of blood, his last words being, "Goodby, my brave boys; long live Italy."

In seventy communes organized by the Supreme Commandant of Austrian territory occupied by the Italians life has again become normal. Business is being resumed, the markets are going on regularly and physicians are proceeding with the work of disinfection. The authorities make daily distribution of food to the population.

The Italian Government has granted the families of those mobilized into the Austrian ranks a continuation of the subsidies the Austrian Government had paid.

Field Held For Court.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, June 27.—When Henry Field was taken before Squire Rowan yesterday afternoon the charge of attempting to elope with Sylvia Walker was withdrawn. He was, however, taken to Marchand, this county, where charges of f. and b. and statutory rape were made. He was given a hearing there and was held for court. He was taken to the Indiana County jail this morning.

SELLS HIS AUTO

FOR A QUARTER

James Duncan, of Portage, was in Ramey, Clearfield county, this week. His auto became "balky." The machine refused to respond to treatment and Mr. Duncan exclaimed angrily that he would sell the gosh hanged thing for a quarter. A small boy in the crowd that had gathered shouted, "Hey, mister, I got a quarter, gimme th' car."

Mr. Duncan removed his personal belongings from the car, took the boy's quarter and said, "Take her son, she's yours."

It is said the boy has learned to run the car and is having a great time on the streets of Ramey.

Paddles Boy With Powder

Caps in Hip Pocket; Truce

Altoona, Pa., July 1.—Told to weed the garden, Sebart Hetrick, 13 years old, son of Frank Hetrick of Bellwood, began pulling up everything in sight. Mrs. Hetrick happened into the yard and saw some of her prize beets had been uprooted. She suspected that Sebart knew the difference between weeds and vegetables and concluded to paddle him.

The lad had previously laid in a supply of powder caps for his toy pistol on the the Fourth which he tucked in his hip pocket. When the paddle descended explosion followed explosion until it seemed as if a machine gun had gotten into action. Both the attacking party and the besieged were equally surprised. An armistice was declared, but not before Sebart was painfully burned on the hip.

Fort Ligonier Monument.

Ligonier is to be highly honored to-day by the placing of a marker on the Diamond park to indicate the location of old Fort Ligonier which was built under the direction of General Forbee in 1758, just 157 years ago. This tablet is being placed under the direction of the Sons of the Revolution and under the personal supervision of Hon. E. E. Robbins, of Greensburg. The marker is of Vermont granite and on this occasion addresses, music, etc., will constitute an interesting program.

Some Banana Eater!!

Joe Riggi, a well known foreign resident of Homer City has just been declared champion of eating and that statement is not to be taken as a joke. One day this week there were just 57 bananas on a bunch at which Mr. Riggi was looking. Some one wagered $3 that he could not eat the said 57 at one sitting. Riggi took the bet. He won the wager and declares that he was always fond of that kind of fruit anyway.
