fortitude to advance. For the enlightment of the friends of the Patriot, who have never had the opportunity to visit us, we are today publishing photographs of the exterior of the office, an interior view of the mechanical department, and one of the office and editorial rooms. These are recent photographs and are accurate, being taken by Mr. Ebev only last month.

The editor of the English department is the writer of this article, who makes no boast as an editor and who has filled this least important part on the paper but a short time, when not busy with the duties of the mechanical department.

And so the little paper is turning its face toward the rising sun of a new year. We realize the way is not cleared, but the trail is blazed, the stakes are driven and as the second year advances we hope we will be able to profit
