Matter of Course.
Poet—Did you send back my last six batches of poems? Editor—Of course—if I received them.—New York Globe.

A Hurricane.
When wind travels a hundred miles an hour or over it is called a hurricane.

A Sure Proof.
"The new family who have just moved in have something in their lives they want to hide."
"Why do you think so?"
"Because their hired girl is deaf and dumb."—Baltimore American.

Seeking and Finding.
Two Scots with all the thrift of their race met on the way home from market.

"Why are ye lukin' sae pleased wi' yersel'?" asked Sandy.

"Weel, mon," replied MacPherson, "I dropped a saxpence in the market place, an' hunt as I might, I couldna find it."

"That's naught to be lukin' sae gay about," said Sandy.

"Aye, but ye dinna ken," explained MacPherson. "I found a shilling."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Check Went Back.
Not long ago a woman wrote her first story and sent it to a magazine. To her surprise and delight it was accepted. The story was duly published and a check for payment forwarded. With the check was a printed slip reading: "No more checks will be sent until this one has been returned." Back by return mail went the check, with a note from the lady to the effect that she was very sorry the magazine had had the trouble of sending it, and please to send the others immediately.—New York Sun.

INVISIBLE ICEBERGS.

Conditions Under Which They Cannot Be Seen on Clear Nights.

In a recent communication to the New York Tribune Abbott H. Thayer, the artist, asserts that many vessels have been lost by collisions with icebergs because under certain conditions of sky and light they are invisible. He cites the fact that on the occasion of the Titanic disaster, although the black ship was clearly visible to survivors at a distance of several miles, they could not see the white bergs against which they actually heard the wash of the sea.

Mr. Thayer claims that on a clear, starry night the bergs are so nearly the same color as the sky that they are totally invisible and that the same is the case under many conditions of cloudiness, the only exception being when the side of the berg viewed is in such shadow that it shows black against the sky. In other words, it is impossible to see white against white.

In answer to the criticism of those who say they never saw a berg at night that was the color of the sky the answer is that this is very natural, because this is the very condition under which the berg is invisible. Mr. Thayer makes the suggestion that a very simple way to avoid the danger of colliding with an invisible berg would be to use a searchlight. The reflection would show up the berg very plainly.

ROMANCE IN GEOGRAPHY.

Names That Speak of Achievement and of Desperate Need.

Geography is a fascinating study. The history of the human race is written in large characters on the earth's surface for the seeing eye.

Most people know that Pike's peak commemorates the explorations of a daring young officer early in the last century. But how many know that in the name of the Bill Williams river lingers the only memorial to a famous trapper and Indian fighter of Kit Carson's time, to whom the Rocky mountain country was an open book before even Fremont "blazed the trail" to the Pacific.

Pure Bred Arab Horses.

In Cairo there is a society for preserving the pure bred Arab horse. It is said that recent changes in the lives and habits of the Bedouins have resulted in the deterioration of these horses. A practical horseman of wide experience says that as a rule the Arab horse is now no better treated than our own horses, whatever may have been true of the old days when such poems as "The Arab to His Steed" were written.

"NO WAR WHILE I AM SECRETARY," MR. BRYAN DECLARED IN 1913.

In a speech on May 12, 1913, to visiting British, Canadian and Australian delegates on the treaty of Ghent celebration Mr. Bryan told the diners that there would be no war while he was secretary of state and that he would never have accepted the portfolio of the premiership if he had thought for one moment that there would be war during his incumbency of the office.

In his speech Mr. Bryan said: "I made up my mind before I accepted the offer of the secretaryship of state that I would not take the office if I thought there was to be a war during my tenure."

"When I say this I am confident that I shall have no cause to change my view, for we know no cause today that cannot be settled better by reason than by war."

"I believe there will be no war while I am secretary of state, and I believe there will be no war so long as I live. I hope we have seen the last great war."

The Simple Life.

Many persons trying to live the simple life find a lot of fault with the bill of fare.—Judge.

FLAG FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

American Eagle on a White Square. Exposition Trip the Cause.

The vice president of the United States is to have an official flag. Whenever he visits an American warship his flag will flutter from the masthead. The flag will be a snow white square of bunting, on the field of which will be a blue bird representing the eagle in the coat of arms of the United States. The president's flag consists of the coat of arms of the nation on a blue field.

This is the first time that there has been prescribed for the vice president a distinctive flag to be displayed on naval vessels while he is on board. The president, the secretaries of the department of war and the navy all have distinctive flags. The admirals, vice admirals and rear admirals have distinctive flags.

It remained for Secretary Daniels to provide the vice president with a flag. His action grew out of the fact that Mr. Marshall is going to San Francisco to represent President Wilson at the exposition. He is to be received on board the cruiser Colorado, the flagship of Admiral Howard, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet; hence the new flag, which will be a permanent institution of honor to the vice president.

Trademarks.

A trademark is a registration of a word or design attached to goods of a certain trader making it clear to the public that they are his manufacture and that nobody but he can use that same trademark. Its use is almost indispensable in the commercial world, and this can be realized better when one knows what its functions are in respect to the trader and his customers. In the first place, being a certificate of genuineness, it protects the public. Secondly, being an identifying mark, the trader is protected by the law against any competitor who endeavors to trade on another's name or goods. Trademarks were issued as far back as the time of James I.—London Mail.

Child of His Own Brain.

"Johnson needn't be mad because the teacher criticised his boy's composition. The boy will improve."
"You don't appear to understand. Johnson wrote the composition himself."—Kansas City Star.

Popular Poverty.

Katie, aged seven, was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jones. One day, when the new minister called, Katie, upon her own invitation, went into the parlor to entertain him until her mother came down stairs. As she approached the parlor door, Mrs. Jones heard the minister ask Katie how many children her mother had, and was very much surprised to hear her little daughter reply "six."

Her mother wisely made no comment upon the startling reply of the child, but sent her out to play, and when the minister's visit was over she asked Katie why she had told him that her mother had six children, and was more dumfounded than ever when Katie said, "Because, I did not want the strange gentleman to know that you were so poor that you didn't have but one child."—National Monthly.

An Efficiency Recipe.

Be earnest, but be calm, no matter what happens. A man may learn to treble his day's work by systematically shutting out all feeling during office hours. What fatigues and annoys us is not our work, but the mental friction, nervous strain, muscular tension, emotional wear and tear which we allow to accompany our work. A real man is always a machine while on the job, never a machine at any other time. Recipe for efficiency: Be a plodder by day and a poet by night. Do your planning, your dreaming, your resolving, when silence and solitude open the mind for great thoughts and purposes; then appear to the world just as an ordinary business man, with nothing unique about you to rouse the neighbors' suspicions.—New York Independent.
