DON'T LOSE YOUR HOLD

on your trade by making mistakes. You can't afford to do so. Don't make the mistake of sacrificing quality for price.

You may sell a man a bill of flour once because your price is low, but what if he is disappointed in the quality?

He'll quit you and he won't bother to to tell you why. Get and talk quality. It's the most satisfactory way of doing business.

Your customers will be pleased with the flour and they'll be pleased with you for selling it to them.

"TIDAL WAVE" on a sack means something. It stands for something definite and tangible. It is the standard by which often the value of other brands of flour are gauged.

THE HEART OF POLAND.

Cracow, Its Buried Patriots and the Hill of Kosciusko.

Cracow is the ancient capital of Poland, the city around which cluster most of the glorious memories of that lost but not forgotten kingdom. There for more than 400 years the kings of Poland were crowned and buried, and for more than 300 years it was their Peat of government.

There lie buried Jan Sobieski, who delivered Vienna-and thereby all Europe-from the Turks; Poniatowski, the famous general who became one of Napoleon's marshals; Mickiewicz, the poet of Poland, and Kosciusko, the patriot hero of the Poles. The tombs of all four are in the Stanislas cathedral, a beautiful Gothic church built in 1359, that crowns the Wavel, a rocky hill that rises on the edge of the town. There are other fine churches in the city, the Augustinian and Dominican among them, and there is also the great royal castle, which was long the residence of the kings of Poland, and fell to the uses of a barracks after the kingdom was divided and which has within the last fifty years been re

The city also contains a very famous old university, which dates from 1364 and in age is second only to Prague among the universities of Europe.

Cracow itself was founded about 700 A. D. More than once it was destroyed by the Tartars, rebuilt and recolonized by Polish, German and Bohemian settlers. 'rom 1305 to 1610 it was the capital e? Poland. Later it was part of the grand duchy of Warsaw, and from 1815 to 1846 it was, with its immediate neighborhood, a free and neutral state, a distinction it lost when internal disorders gave Austria an excuse to step in and take possession of the town.

One of the most interesting things in Cracow is Kosciusko hill, a mound of earth on the top of the Borislava hill. It is made up of handfuls of earth brought by Poles from every corner of the kingdom and thrown together to form a memorial to the Polish patriot, composed of the soil of the country he loved so well. Across the river Vistula on Krakus hill there is a similar mound, which is said to be almost 1,200 years old. It was, so tradition says, raised in the same way to the memory of Krakus, the Slavic prince who founded the city.

To the patriotic Pole Cracow is always the spiritual center of his fatherland-the "heart of Poland."-Youth's

DO IT NOW. Decision never becomes easier by postponement, while habit grows stronger every day. Common sense as well as conscience says, "Choose this day.'

The Human Face.

Rosa Bonheur, the great painter of animals, had a system of mnemonics which was exceedingly quaint. She could trace in the faces of those people who visited her a resemblance to some sort of animal. For instance, df some one reminded her of a certain lady she would probably hesitate for a moment and then say, "Oh, yes, the lady with the camel face!" or, "Oh, I remember-she had a cow face!" This memory system was not flattering to her friends, but it showed how saturated she was with a knowledge of animals and their characteristics. On every human face she found a likeness to some animal she had studied and de-

Assets and Liabilities.

An asset is something which you think belongs to you. A liability is something of yours which others think belongs to them. Neither one of you is quite right. An asset without a liability would not be called an asset. Neither would a liability without an asset be called a liability. It would then be debt, while an asset without liability would be wealth or capita' or property.

An asset is what you think you own. A liability is what others think you owe. What your liabilities are depend upon your assets. What your assets are depend upon your liabilities. Therefore an asset is a liability and a liability is an asset.-Life.
