

IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Milo Wanawich Declared to Have Killed Man Near Seward

The net that has been closing about Milo Wanawich, who has been held in the Johnstown police station for more than a week on a variety of charges, drew tighter Tuesday afternoon when he was identified by a witness as the man who killed Mike Scholler near Seward last June. The alleged murder was committed in this county and Wanawich probably will be brought here today.

The name of the witness to the murder was not divulged, but the police say he claims to have seen Wanawich deliver the blow that crushed out the life of the Seward man.

According to the version of the killing given out by the police, Wanawich murdered Scholler as the result of a long standing grudge. His weapon, they say, was an iron bar, with which he crushed the skull of his alleged victim. The man who is said to have identified Wanawich Tuesday is declared to have taken the iron bar from his hands just after the blow was struck.

New Invention Will Hold Object Motionless in Space

PARIS, Sept. 15.—An Italian engineer, Louis Rota, has solved the problem of holding an object motionless in space, according to the Marseilles correspondent of "Petit Parisien." Rota is credited with having constructed an apparatus which, by the action of electric current, can be elevated to a height of from 2,000 to 3,000 feet and kept motionless, or propelled in any direction at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

Rota's apparatus is spindle-shaped, 12 feet long and two feet in diameter and can carry a weight of 90 pounds. It is said to remain motionless in a wind of considerable velocity, but if the wind becomes very strong it rises automatically until it reaches a calmer region of the air. The invention is based upon reactions obtained from the electro-magnetic forces of the atmosphere.

Fire Threatened to Wipe Out Locust

The citizens of Locust, near here, are discussing the advisability of organizing a fire company since the village was threatened by fire the other night. The large flour mill owned by the Rishels was destroyed and for a time it was feared the entire town would be wiped out. The citizens fought the blaze bravely, but were handicapped by the lack of proper equipment.

LANGHAM'S OPPONENTS ACCUSED OF UNFAIRNESS

Friends of Indiana County Judicial Candidate Make Statement in His Defense

NOT WITH RUM LEAGUE

The special correspondent of the Philadelphia North American, sizes up the situation in Indiana county as follows:

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 11.

Friends of Congressman Jonathan M. Langham, who is opposing Judge S. J. Telford in the judgeship contest in Indiana county, allege unfair tactics on the part of Langham's opponents in the following statement:

"The friends of Congressman Langham very strenuously object to the tactics of the opposition, who are attempting to make it appear that he is backed by the liquor interests. This is not true, in fact, and is only intended to mislead the voters. Mr. Langham has served notice on all the liquor interests that he did not desire their support, and would not receive any assistance from them. He is making his own campaign on his merits as a candidate."

"On the temperance question, his record has always been satisfactory to those interested in the cause. He stumped the county for the prohibition amendment when that issue was before our people several years ago. He was outspoken in favor of local option at the last session of the legislature, and the member from Indiana county voted in favor of that measure. During his three terms in congress he consistently voted for all temperance legislation introduced in the national law-making body. He voted for the Hobson amendment and all other measures of a temperance character. His record on the temperance question is especially good, and the people are familiar with it."

"Judge Telford has granted licenses every year since he went on the bench, and at the last license court wrote an opinion, expressing his views of the law when he granted a license to Grant Snider, at Glen Campbell. He held it to be his duty to grant that license, and, of course, it necessarily follows that other licenses must be granted when the conditions are the same and the applicant had complied with the law. Under the views expressed in that opinion, it would be necessary for Judge Telford to grant as many licenses in the future as in the past, if he abides by the law as he himself has laid it down. The friends of Langham insist that the temperance people will gain nothing by the election of Telford, and that they will fare as well, if not better, in Langham's hands as they did during the Telford administration. On the temperance question it is a toss-up between them."

"The report that the members of the bar are largely for Telford is not true. The fact is, that the bar is about equally divided between the two leading candidates. Many of the most influential members are supporting Langham, and a majority have pledged him their support."—Philadelphia North American.

Colonel Goethals to Resign Governorship for Active Army Service.

COPYRIGHT UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

Major-General George W. Goethals, Governor of the Canal Zone, arrived in New York, August 9th. He said he would offer his resignation next month to take effect in November. Colonel Goethals is accompanied by his wife and son, Thomas, and is here on a leave of absence to visit the Panama-American Exposition. The Colonel expects to be put on the active army list and if this is not possible, he will ask for his retirement with the rank of brigadier general. He told newspaper men that he intended to visit the Exposition as a private individual and desired that no fuss be made about him by any of the officials. That Mrs. Goethals is anxious to leave the Canal Zone permanently was shown by a remark she made shortly after the ship left Quarantine and started for the pier. "I hope we never go back," she said.

On in Washington, D. C.

The excursion party to the National Encampment of the G. A. R. at Washington, D. C., will leave Indiana on Saturday morning, Sept. 25, on the 6:05 a. m. train and all who wish to go should at once notify J. M. Marshall, by postal card of their intention to accompany the party, in order that proper arrangements may be made. If forty or more go the coach from here will be run through without change of cars. But the party will go at all events at the time given and will arrive at destination at 4:40 p. m. same day.
