"Crises" With Germany

Following the sinking of the channel passenger steamer Sussex, with many American passengers aboard, Washington dispatches raise once more the old, old cry of a "crisis" in our relations with Germany. The faithful press agents of the administration renew the prediction, now almost worn to a frazzle, that Ambassador von Bernstorff is to be ordered home. Tomorrow, since no Americans appear to have been killed on the Sussex, the prediction will probably be hauled in again for repairs. It was not Germany's fault that any Americans escaped. The intention to murder them was there, even if Providence stepped in and ordered an exception for the benefit of Mr. Wilson's long-suffering diplomacy. If we are to break off relations with Germany let us at least break them off on the case which stands out boldest in the record on which our shame has been most flagrant and our national feeling has been most aroused.

TOPICS IN BRIEF

The man who tells you he is no fool may be mistaken.

Don't make yourself unhappy trying to be happy.

"Jane Adams raps T. R." Ph! What is a rap to a feller like that ?

"Bottle Concerns May Merge." There's a trust that ought not to be difficult to bust.

It isn't as easy to palm oneself off as a Ford son as it is to impersonrte that make of car.

With many congressmen the idea of preparedness takes the form of a strongly supported political fence.

However, Baron Astor, will continue to receive much of his income from the land of his nativity.

There are three ways of enjoying one's self in Springtime—being a plutocrat, a baseball player or a tramp.

Women now have a "shrapnel bonnet," thus showing that peace has its horrors scarcely less expensive than war.

Europe is paying too heavy a price for its wide practical knowledge of modern war.

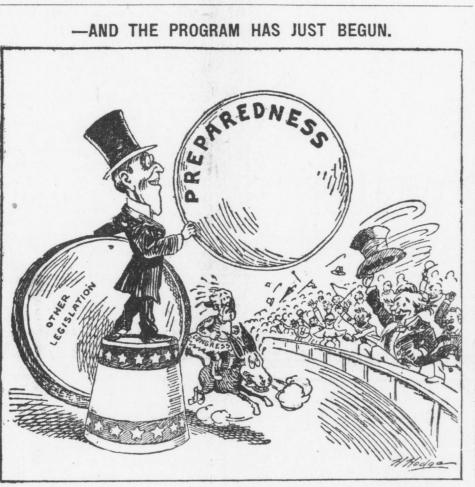

Senator Gore is evidently a typographical error. He should be spelled with the scond letter of the alphabet.

The safety of little nations in war time seems to depend on inaccessable mountains than irrefutable arguments.

As we figure it out, the twilight zone is that brief period lying between the last note of protest and the next atrocity.

"Ford Trip Reporters Rest in Sanatorium", says headline. Poor fellows.

President Wilson is going to leave his renomination to the people. That'll be all that is necessary.

FROM NEW YORK TRIBUNE

Case of Costa Rica to Canal Rights

The case of Costa Rica to be consulted in any arrangement between United States and Nicaragua concerning canal rights from the Caribenn to the Pacific rests primarily on the geographic fact that the San Juan river is for many miles the boundary line between these two South Amer ican republics. For perhaps 25 miles, from near Castillo to Ochoa, this boundary river was to have been canalized, ac cording to the old Nicaragua route plans, and the boundary river thus to be navigated belongs jointly to Nicaragua and Costa Rica.
