Other Works of the Westinghouse Company Now Practically Idle, the Shadyside and Twenty-Eighth Street Mills Being Shut Down.

The Westinghouse strikers today had succeeded in closing all the plants of the Westinghouse company.

Inability to operate its plants was admitted by the company today when it closed the Shadyside plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, employing 1,500 mechanics. There was no disorder, the men finding notices posted that the plant had been closed and returning to their homes.

The company also closed the plant at Twenty-eighth street and the Allegheny Valley railroad. Superintendent J. E. Barkell said nearly 450 men were employed there.

James O'Connell, president of the metal trades department of Mrs. Florence Hasinger, Shea, the American Federation of Labor, left Washington, D. C., for the scene of the big Westingin Pittsburgh some time this afternoon.

Mr. O'Connell is coming here to look over the strike situation and make a report on it to William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in President Wilson's cabinet. Patrick Gilday, state mediator for Pennsylvania, today is endeavoring to arrange a conference between the employers and the employes, and come to some sort of understanding between them. Big mass meetings were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Swissvale, Turtle Creek, Wilmerding and East Pittsburgh, when men were selected to make up the general strike committee. Peace reigned in the Turtle Creek valley strike zone today, and the streets practically were deserted. Pickets were stationed at the various plants, but they had little or nothing to do. Only at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacuring plant in East Pittsburgh did any employes show up for work, but the strikers declared most of them were office employes. Ten pickets were on duty at the bridge, but they did not stop any of the men entering the plant. At the airbrake plant in Wilnal plant at Swissvale, the plants were closed, and no workmen entered save enginers for the boildale mine. Eight men lost their er houses and trains. It is nelives. The miners employed in the Adrian operation of the R. & P. Coal and Iron Company returned to work yesterday. Three of the mines of this company that have been idle for several days have now resumed operation and it is expected that the differences existing at the other plants will shortly be adjusted.

Vice President Charles O'Neil of the United Mine Workers, district No. 2, states that every miners' local in the central Pennsylvania field has received the official endorsement of the recently signed scale agreement.

Scale Meets With Approval

"I have heard from a number of districts," said Mr. O'neil, "and it sems to meet with general apporval.

"In March, instructions were given the men to continue at work until April 20 at least. In be pleased to learn that he is some localities, we understand, the men have discontinued when the weather gets balmy to work."

"Was it the idea that they should cease their labors April 20?" Mr. O'Neil was asked.

"Here and there," said Mr. O'-Neil, "miners are out because of local conditions, but the great majority of men are at work and will continue at work. The March notice instructed them to remain at their posts until ordered out by the union heads. Needless to say, we have not ordered them out. I expect to see the recently signed agreemnt ratified by a large vote, as letters received by the locals contained our endorsement of the agreement."
