The society invites the exhibition of any and everything that may be useful and convenient in the practice of agriculture or horticulture or in the production of either; all articles or implements of convenience or use in domestic or social life, or of all the products of art or skill, and for such things of merit, although not enumerated in the foregoing list, premiums or diplomas may be awarded by the managers.

Ladies' Biding Race.
The date and prize for this interesting feature will be announced in the county papers later.

Dark Ages.
The term is applied to a portion of the Middle Ages, including the period of about 1,000 years from the fall of Rome to revival of letters in the fifteenth century. It is generally regarded as beginning with invasion of France by Clovis, 486 A. D., and closing with invasion of Naples by Charles VIII in 1495. Learning was at a low ebb during this period.

Mineral Lake.
A lake near Biggar, Saskatchewan, has been found to be saturated with sodium sulphate, and the deposits under the lake and alongside the edge to be nearly 97 per cent pure sulphate. The mineral is used extensively in the manufacture of sulphuric acid, in photography and other industrial purposes.

Important Rivers.
Just as Egypt has been made by the Nile, so Mesopotamia has been made by the Tigris and the Euphrates. The view put forward with some authority that the rivers should be kept exclusively for irrigation and not be depended upon for transport is challenged on many grounds, one of which is that irrigation and navigation can be effectively combined, and indeed made mutually advantageous for many years to come.

The First Gas Respirator.
The first apparatus to enable persons to enter a noxious inflammable atmosphere was called an "apophore" and was the invention of M. Denayrouse, a French inventor and scientist. It was first tested at Chatham, England, 44 years ago, and was reported successful. Great improvements on this device, which comprised an air-pump, lamp and flexible tubing, have since been made and these have saved the lives of hundreds in mine accidents and other disasters where rescue work would be impossible without their use.

A Glass Horn.
An innovation in phonographs is an instrument equipped with a horn of beveled mirror glass. The claim of the makers is that the horn of a talking machine best amplifies the tone when its surface is smooth and rigid, hence one of heavy glass is preferable to one of wood or metal.

Ordering One's Life.
Take time to scrutinize your life. Try to define just why you are "run" and decide for yourself that if you are going to be ruled, as most of us are, it must be by something or somebody well worth the arduous sprinting we are all indulging in. If the goal toward which we are being steered is worth while, only then can we look back and feel that the race has been well run.

Time Is Money.
In Korea, both among prosperous Christians and among those to whom money is a hasty and infrequent visitor, a favorite subscription blank is one which says: "I promise to give — days to church work this year." The days thus given are devoted to evangelistic services or to the building of churches and schools.—World Outlook.

The Village Stocks.
The curious old habit of punishing offenders by placing them in the public stocks seems very far in the shadowy past, yet a number of these old wooden machines may still be seen in England. Usually they stand, or they stood, on the village green, near the church; and it is not such a long while since stocks ceased to be used in the land.

The World Is Cheerful.
Doctor Johnson's old schoolmate said that he could not be a philosopher because "cheerfulness was always breaking in." Our world of mankind cannot be that kind of a philosopher, either for the same reason. It may have its moods and depressions, or prove to the utmost the reasonableness of despair; but there is an inexhaustible well-spring of vigor within it, and vigor is another word for joy.—From the Unpopular Review.

The Lee Family.
The Lee family of which Gen. Robert E. Lee, commander of the Confederate army during the Civil war, was a member, was of English origin. One of his ancestors emigrated to Virginia in the reign of Charles I, and the family was prominent then, during and after the Revolutionary war.—Columbus Dispatch.

His Surprising Way.
"It was never more disappointed in anybody in my life than I was in my cousins up to Kay See," admitted Gabe Gossnell of Grudge, who was just back from a visit to the Big Burg. "Why, with everything on earth going on and anything you could think of liable to happen at any moment, I'll be switched if they don't poke off to bed at between nine and ten o'clock every night of the world!"—Kansas City Star.

FINISHING SCHOOLS

When a girl is too refined or too exclusive or too stupid to be sent to a public school any longer, her fond parents send her to a finishing school. These schools are so named because of what they do to father.

Finishing schools are conducted by eminent financiers. Their object is to get $800 a year and extras per head from their students. The finishing school can take a raw, timid girl with a fair-sized bundle of money and by judiciously separating the two can produce in time a beautiful young lady who can read French, play "The Rosary," talk about the drama, get in and out of a room like a princess and snub a poor relation so tactfully that the latter will thank her with tears in his eyes for the favor. It costs from $800 to $5,000 a year to varnish a young lady in this style, and after she is properly finished it costs $5,000 a year for upkeep and decorations until some brave young man comes around for her. The education part comes cheap in these schools, but the extras are better than they are in the contracting business. There was once a private school proprietor who radiated a wonderful atmosphere of repose, and he used to make $10,000 a year charging up extras for the wear and tear on his atmosphere.

Private schools are very strict in discipline, and it really seems a pity that so many efficient guards are wasted on nice young ladies all over our land while desperate criminals are leaking from their prisons on every hand. In the best private schools parents are only allowed to see their daughters once a year, and then only if their influence is deemed desirable by the head jailer.

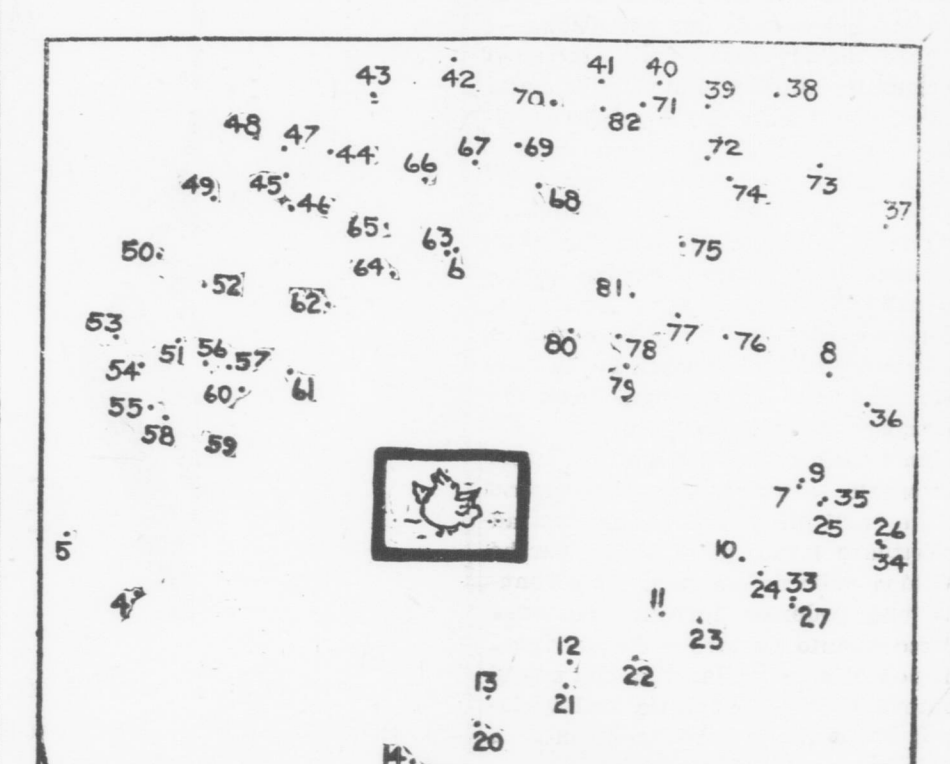

where her father is fined for everything she drops. After breakfast she must study dancing, drawing, sitting down in a fluent and graceful manner, the names of the apostles, dramatic criticism, French for both hands and face, piano playing, shoulder shrugging, small talking, eyebrow elevating, gown wearing, father taming, housework dodging, and many other useful sciences. She is also allowed half an hour a day in which to think, though in the best schools this is considered ill-bred.

The trouble with private schools in this country is that they are too easy to find.

Parents are only allowed to see their daughters once a year.

THE TANGLED DOTS.
By Clifford Leon Sherman.

"Maybe they didn't have any I. W. W. in the olden times," said Pearl, "but I'll draw something that struck regularly." "Yes," said Harris, "and if that is the Hickory-Dirkory-Doek Clock, just remember that a mouse ran up instead of a —"

Burning Truth.
Said the facetious feller: "These golf fanatics get a lot of satisfaction out of reduc'g their strokes from last season, but the real joy of life comes from bein' able to reduce the number of tons of coal from the winter before."

Beans.
The common bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe during the sixteenth century. Now it is represented by over 150 varieties. The big broad bean is probably a native of southwest Asia and northeastern Europe. The broad, but not thick, lime bean, called by some "butter bean," is a pole variety that comes from South America.

Fats in the Body.
Fats in the body occur under the skin in the muscles and around certain organs. They act as a protection for the body against injury and serve as a stored supply of fuel, in case food cannot be taken. Fats are liquid in the body and are stored in albuminous cells.

Invisible Airplane Wings.
Wings of cellulose acetate, being transparent, make an airplane invisible at the height of a few thousand feet, also increasing the operator's field of vision. Sheets one one-hundredth inch thick are about as strong as the ordinary wing cover, and the weight of nine ounces to the square yard is but slightly greater. The rapid spread of a tear when started is a disadvantage that may be overcome with a re-enforcing of loosely woven silk.

Thinking of Strenuous Days.
Barber (carried away by his reminiscences)—"And when he'd looped the loop he did a nose dive that fairly took your breath away."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Just a Little One, Maybe.
While to be sure we believe George Washington never told a lie we always will wonder how he got around it if Mrs. Washington ever asked him if he didn't think her new way of serving parsnips made them perfectly delicious.—Macon Telegraph.
