IF YOU... POSITION HERE WHY DON'T YOU SEND HIM WEST — MY SON STARTED LAST WEEK TO LOOK FOR A JOB AND BEFORE HE WAS GONE TWO DAYS HE FELL INTO SOMETHING SOFT

BUT THIS IS HOW HE DID IT

Hadn't Got to That.

Philanthropic Person—"Have you never striven my friend, to attain a higher life?" Mundane Marmaduke—"Well, mister, we ain't got past corned beef an' beer yet, but whether we'll ever reach champagne and chicken I can't bloom'n' well say."—Sydney Bulletin.

Tea Testing.

To ascertain whether artificial coloring matter has been added to tea, place a quantity on white paper and rub with knife to a fine powder. Now brush the paper with a brush, and if any prussian blue has been used there will be little streaks on the paper.

Hired Man's Life Saved.

James was bowlegged and felt it his duty to whip every boy that reminded him of the fact. When he visited in the country the hired man laughed and told him he couldn't stop a pig if he tried. James told his mother what the man had said, then added: "He's pretty big, and I'm mighty glad he didn't say I was bowlegged."

Mendoza Is Old City.

Mendoza is the metropolis of western Argentina. It is a city of some size carefully planned and able to stand comparison with any town in the new world or the old one the point of municipal beauty. It looks distinctly new, but as a matter of fact it is one of the oldest towns in the western hemisphere. It was founded fifty years before the well-known settlement of Jamestown in Virginia, while the fathers and mothers of the Pilgrims were still living peacefully in England.

Invisible Airplane Wings.

Wings of cellulose acetate, being transparent, make an airplane invisible at the height of a few thousand feet, also increasing the operator's field of vision. Sheets one one-hundredth-inch thick are about as strong as the ordinary wing cover, and the weight of nine ounces to the square yard is but slightly greater. The rapid spread of a tear when started is a disadvantage that may be overcome with a re-enforcing of loosely woven silk.

Went Him One Better.

"I love you very much, papa," said Edna, as she climbed on her father's lap. "I love you, dear, but you are a good girl," replied her father. "But, papa," said Edna, "I love you even when you ain't no good."

What Is Genius?

Genius is a handsome name frequently given to hard-working men after they have finished a tough job.—The American Magazine.

Strongly for Education.

We have always believed in the high possibilities of the movies and more particularly since a charming girl told us she had found you could hold hands just as well at an educational film as any other.—Grand Rapids.

Free Board.

A restaurant in Yuma, Ariz., displays a sign that reads: "Free board every day the sun doesn't shine." At first sight the offer of free board every day the sun doesn't shine might seem a reckless one, but, as a matter of fact, a day without sunshine in that desert country is far rarer than blackberries in May. If it rains at all, it is only for a very short time, leaving most of the day for sunshine, so that the sign would only catch a tenderfoot.

Not as Interesting.

To know thyself is better than trying to find out all about the neighbors.—Toledo Blade.

Oldtime News Service.

In 1832 James Watson Webb, of the New York Courier and Enquirer, established an express-rider service between New York and Washington which gave his paper valuable prestige. In the following year the Journal of Commerce started a rival service, which enabled it to print Washington news in New York within 48 hours of its occurrence. The most notable express-mail service of all was the "pony express," which carried messages by relays of riders across mountains and deserts and through hostile Indian territory from St. Louis to San Francisco, covering 1,966 miles in 10 days.

On the Move.

We can say this for the somnambulist—he is no idle dreamer.—Boston Transcript.

Be Slow to Condemn.

Why condemn an individual or institution before you hear both sides? Does a jury convict or a judge sentence a prisoner before the evidence is heard?

POLITENESS.

Politeness is the lubricant which enables people to crowd past each other without friction. It was invented, when men were still savages, to cut down the death rate. People did not understand each other in those days and used to bash in the heads of strangers who jostled them, in an endeavor to find out what their intentions were. Later the apology, the amende honorable, the "After you, my dear sir," and many other useful forms of politeness were invented and warfare was cut down 75 per cent.

Politeness has now been developed into so fine an art that some people can get along entirely on politeness without the aid of any manners at all. But politeness still remains the language of strangers. The more intimately we become acquainted with a man the less polite we are to him. When two men salute each other as scoundrels and punch each other in the neck with fond smiles they are very close friends indeed and do not need to resort to politeness in their dealings at any time.

When people belong to the same family they understand each other very well and can not only lay aside all politeness but almost all consideration for each other. They may reveal their true selves without any patent leather conversation as disguise and can be as disagreeable as they please, knowing that the family tie can stand the strain and that there will probably be no murder in consequence. Whenever we hear two people talking to each other with comprehensive rudeness and no disorderly results, we may be sure that they are relatives and love each other so dearly that politeness would be as out of place with them as dress suits at breakfast. Nations are ten times as polite as individuals because they only have one-tenth as much faith in each other. No mere man could use the kind words and gentle conversation with which the powers of Europe conducted the preliminaries of the big massacre last summer. Because of this fact we should not put too much faith in politeness. It is pleasant to the ear, but a rough tongued friend with a loving heart is worth a thousand well-bred conversationalists with beautiful manners and prospectuses for get-rich-quick companies in their pockets.
