HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday, February 7, 1855.

Circulation—the largest in the County.

Read Them.

The reader will find a number of new advertisements in to-day's Globe.

Tanyard for sale or rent.

Notice to Creditors of John Wakefield, dec'd.

Notice to Creditors of Huntingdon, Cambria and Indiana Turnpike Road Company.

Lots with improvements in McConnells-town for sale.

Valuable property at Mill Creek, estate of Wm. Buchanan, dec'd., for sale.

To all whom it may concern.

The idea has become general that letters must be pre-paid to insure their conveyance in the mails. There is no such law in existence and consequently letters are mailed as heretofore; unpaid or pre-paid as the senders may desire.

The Reform Party.

The tax-payers can form a pretty good idea of the reform movements of the present Know-Nothing Legislature from the fact that a bill has already been introduced to increase the pay of members from three to five dollars a day.

The Shirelysburg Herald.

The first number of a new paper with the above title, published by JOHN LUTZ, Esq., at Shirelysburg, this county, is before us. The Herald is a small sheet—in typographical appearance not quite equal to Gleason's Pictorial—in politics, neutral. The publisher has our best wishes for his success in his new undertaking, but that he will see the elephant long before 'the good times come,' the signs of the times plainly indicate.

Dedication.

The new M. E. Church at Moorsville, West township, will be dedicated on Sunday the 18th of Feb. inst. The Presiding Elder Rev. John Poissal, and other ministers are expected to be present on the occasion.

Our Poor House, through the kindness and attention of its excellent superintendent, Mr. Murphy, is becoming exceedingly popular.—Shirelysburg Herald.

Glad to hear it, as we expect to hear of at least two of our country brethren not schooled in the art knocking at the door for admission about the time they become convinced that to print a paper in the country is a mighty rough road to travel.

Railroad Bridge Burnt.

A bridge six hundred and twenty feet long on the Penna. Railroad near Lewistown, took fire from a spark from the locomotive on Saturday night last and was entirely consumed. The Company are already actively at work and will be able to pass the cars on trussel work within twenty days. There is but slight detention of passengers, and the only inconvenience is in a change of cars at that point.

Appointments by the Governor.

Gov. POLLOCK has made the following appointments:

Thos. J. Power, of Beaver, (an old office holder and hunter in the Democratic ranks, until he was kicked out of the party some three years since,) Adjutant General of the State.

CHRISTIAN MYERS, of Clarion, (late Whig Senator and candidate for Surveyor General,) Whiskey Inspector of Philadelphia.

C. L. MAGEE, of Pittsburg, (a full-blooded Anti-Mason opposed to all secret societies since the disappearance of Morgan up to within a few weeks of the late election when he accidentally became a member of the Know-Nothing Order,) Inspector of Weights and Measures for Allegheny county.

M. CURP, of Pittsburg, (for many years Deputy Inspector under a Democratic administration, at Pittsburg, but his services were dispensed with, when he became one of the most noisy new party men,) Flour Inspector, at Pittsburg.

Considering that the Know-Nothing reform party, with Jas. Pollock as their leader, set out with an intention to break down all the old political hacks, and institute a new order of things in the distribution of office, it would seem that the bunkers, and men who have made office-seeking a business for life, have fared pretty well in the final distribution.

It appears that the Adjutant General of the State is appointed for three years and is only removable within that time, for sufficient cause, as in the case of Auditor General, State Treasurer and Surveyor General, and as Gen. Bowman has more than a year yet to serve to fill out the term of three years, the appointment of Mr. Powers has been prematurely made.

We copy the following from the Bellefonte Centre Democrat:

About the 1st of November, 1854, Wm. who lived one mile west of Pine Forge township, Centre county, called home for the purpose of going to Allegheny to collect a small sum of money, which time he had not been heard of.

Wm. Erb was a member of the Danville Volunteer Company, during the Mexican War. We have not the means of knowing what battles he was in; but we do know that he was a brave soldier, and a good citizen. Papers copying the above two, or three times will confer a lasting favor upon this distressed and almost desolate wife and children.

THE POOR HOUSE AND FARM.

[The following Report of the Grand Jury made at January Term, has called forth two communications, one from "A Director of the Poor" which we copy from the Journal and the other from "A GRAND JUROR." Our readers have the Report and communications before them, and can sift the wheat from the chaff at their leisure.]

To the Honorable the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and Quarter Sessions of the peace for the county of Huntingdon at Jan. term A. D. 1855.

"The grand inquest for the said county of Huntingdon, Report, that agreeably to the directions and instructions of the Honorable Court aforesaid, they proceeded to the Poor House of said county, situate in Shirley township in said county, and viewed and examined the same with the farm attached thereto, and that said buildings in good order and condition, and the papers in the same appear to be well cared for, both in bedding, clothing and food, that the steward James Murphy deserves the thanks of the citizens of said county for his humane attention to the same—and that we do not approve of the plan of said building, but that said building is made and erected in a substantial manner, that we entirely disapprove of the plan of said building, particularly of the dining room and kitchen as being too small and inconvenient, that we recommend the following alterations to be made, to wit: that a dining-room and a kitchen be made in the basement story of said building, the said dining-room to be fifty feet long and proportioned in width, that said kitchen be a proper size for convenience. That the water in the Spring in the field near to a white oak tree (if found practicable and if said county has the right thereof) be brought in pipes to the proper and convenient place at said building and thus by proper fixtures be made to serve as a flowing stream. That they have seen a petition signed by sundry individuals, to be sent to the Legislature asking for a law authorizing the sale of a part of said tract of land, that they recommend that none of said tract of land be sold at this time.

JOHN OWENS, Foreman.

From the Journal.

SHIRELSBURG, January 29, 1855.

MR. EDITOR:—

In the Journal of the 17th inst. I saw a report of the Grand Inquest of the county, concerning the poor-house affairs; had they been satisfied in reporting to the county, this communication would not have made its appearance; but it seems they were unwilling that so much wisdom should be buried among the archives of the court, it must be published, and in so doing they thereby (indirectly) hit the directors across the knuckles, in reference to the plan of the poor-house. They had a right to express their opinion and publish it too; but gentlemen pardon us, if we differ from you on some things. Well, here was a grand inquest, Tom, Dick, and Harry, came on a flying visit, and, perhaps, three-fourths of them were never inside of a poor-house, get into caucus and condemn the plan. On the other hand, the directors who have made it their business to visit it and get all the information as to plans, in the neighboring counties, and in Philadelphia. Now which of these parties would be most competent to judge in the matter. The plan was taken from the Hollidaysburg poor-house, with some modifications, to save considerable expense; it being the most recently built, it is admitted that the kitchen might be better in the basement; especially in summer, by taking down one or two partitions. It was the intention of the directors, if the papers should increase, to build a back building for dining room and kitchen larger if thought necessary, or when we thought it expedient; but the present number of paupers would not justify it, and the expense for the present, is saved. Then again, the Inquest have seen a petition asking the Legislature for authority to sell a part of the farm of which they disapprove; here again the Inquest and the directors are at points. Before the Inquest came down there appeared a general disposition to dispose of a part of the farm, but when the Inquest was here, there appeared a strong prejudice to arise against the sale among them, (and even in our own vicinity,) and it was whispered about that the writer of this had some personal interest in the sale; he hereby disclaims any personal interest, other than that he is a tax payer, and would rather diminish than increase the taxes. I believe we are now paying interest annually on the most of the purchase money of said farm. All that the writer has done in the premises, was what he thought to be for the county's interest, and we must be to a heavy expense in buying horses, cattle, wagons, &c., and then set about bringing the farm which has depreciated into quality and repairs into good condition. Then again, look at the farmers in the shape of Merchants, Doctors, Tanners, and Shoemakers, going in and out yearly.—Should not a farmer look ahead for several years? About the time any of us get acquainted with the farm, we have to give place to a new hand, notwithstanding all that is said against making the county a farmer, it is able to carry it on, but will it pay? I believe store-keeping would be a better business for the county to follow than farming, although I would not advise to follow either of them. Bread and meat can be bought at cost of raising it, and often below cost in bad seasons. In a store they would get a great many necessities at cost, besides buying their bread and meat at cost, and pay them with goods at a profit. The farm, it is said, contain 160 acres. The project was to sell 120 acres including the hilly part, and retain 40 acres around the buildings; then divide the 40 acres into four fields; there would then be 10 acres for clover hay, 10 acres for cow pasture, 10 acres to have farmed on; the shares in order: to rotate the crops, and 10 acres for a kitchen garden, then make and keep the 40 acres good, get all the work we can out of the papers, on said garden and 40 acres. The work of the paupers does not amount to much; it takes one-half of them to take care of the other half, and hire help besides: it is all moonshine to say that papers can go out and maul ralls, cut cordwood, reap or mow, plow or sow all that kind of work has to be hired at the county's expense.

A DIRECTOR OF THE POOR.

For the Globe.

Mr. Lewis.—The writer of a communication in the Huntingdon Journal, of the 31st January ult., is much displeas'd because the Report of the Grand Inquest of the county in reference to the Poor House, has been published—and hence attempts to be very wise and indignant!—Have not the tax-payers of the county a right to know the united opinion of the Grand Inquest, respecting the condition of the Poor House property? What a pity that "A Director of the Poor" had not been consulted on the subject! The Inquest, without a dissenting voice, condemned the "plan" of the building and the manner in which the work had been executed.—And this opinion will be sustained by every disinterested common sense man who carefully examines the building referred to, and I care not from whence the plan had been procured. I wonder who induced a proposition that the Grand Inquest make a present of one thousand dollars of the tax-payers money to the Contractor, in addition to the price for which he had agreed to erect the Poor House? Did he, or his friend, the contractor, attempt to influence Grand Jurors to favour such a proposition? Or did he, or they endeavor to "caucus" with one or more having that end in view? If the Grand Jury had kindly considered the proposition and gave away a thousand dollars of the peoples money to the Contractor, for spoiling the Poor House building, I suppose no complaint would have been uttered from the lips of the leaved gentlemen who hail from Shirleyburg and ever went to his disappointed feelings over the cognomen of "A Director of the Poor." He also belabours the "Inquest" because it dissented from a proposition to sell, at the present time, any portion of the farm land attached to the Poor House. Notwithstanding that "A Director of the Poor" differs, in opinion, with the Grand Inquest, I have no doubt that its decision will be sustained by the unanimous voice of the people of the county. And from his own showing, I might suppose that he had a "personal interest in the sale" as the times are hard and if a sale of the Poor House farm was authorized by law, a chance for speculation would be afforded and I suspect that "A Director of the Poor" would embrace the opportunity to speculate.

A GRAND JUROR.

Shavers Creek, Feb. 5, 1855.

In an editorial correspondence of the Chambersburg Whig, dated Harrisburg, January 19, we find the following:

"An interesting ceremony transpired at Col. Coverly's Hotel on Thursday evening last. Rev. David Kirkpatrick, of Westmoreland, came on here to witness the inauguration of one of his school-boys as Governor of Pennsylvania, and he met ten of his early pupils, all now occupying prominent positions in life. His pupils referred to are Gov. Pollock, Secretary Curtin, Senator Taggart, Jno. M. Kirkpatrick of the House; Hon. Joshua W. Comly, of Danville; Jas. Pleasant, Esq., of Northumberland; L. A. Mackey, Esq., of Lock Haven; Dr. H. Pleasant, of Philadelphia; Mr. M. Reynolds, of Harrisburg, and Col. Wells Coverly, proprietor of Coverly's Hotel—all of whom met their venerable preceptor at a supper prepared for the occasion. No wine was there to inspire the eloquence of the party; but some of the addresses were of the most striking character. The venerable preceptor, borne down with the weight of years allotted to mortals, addressed his whilom pupils with all the simplicity and earnestness of a doting grandfather addressing children: It was perhaps the proudest day of his life, and he wept like a child as he recalled the happy memories of other days and pointed to the now mature and eminent minds he had shaped in boyhood. After the ceremonies were concluded, he grasped each by the hand in turn, saying Vale vale, longum vale, and doubtless feeling that he had met most, and perhaps all, of them the last time.

The "Sober Second Thought."

The Chambersburg Whig, in an article headed "Know-Nothing Defeats," holds the following language:

"It is utterly impossible in a country proverbial for freedom of thought and freedom of action and suffrage, as is ours, to give permanency to a political element that is to be controlled in secret, oathbound caucuses, and that imposes upon its members, under penalty of formal excommunication, the support of its men and measures. Such a system of political machinery may work to a charm while there is no disappointed ambition to appease, no personal preferences to sacrifice, no private griefs to heal; but let such an organization once become supreme over all parties, and the day of its power would be the date of its decay."

The Limestone Question.

Says Gov. Pollock in his late Message:—"A kind Providence has bestowed upon us, with a liberal hand, all elements of wealth and greatness. Our inexhaustible coal fields, our rich iron deposits, limestone everywhere, and just where most required; interminable ore, and our rushing streams, all invite the energy and enterprise of our citizens to the development of their treasures, and promise a rich reward to their labors. On the above, the Johnstown Echo makes the following observations, which we commend to the consideration of mineralogists:—How grateful we ought to be to Providence for being so kind as to furnish "limestone everywhere, and just where most required!" Had "a kind Providence," distributed "limestone everywhere," and left none "just where most required," the business would have been beautifully botched. The people of Pennsylvania owe a debt of gratitude to Providence and Gov. Pollock—especially to Pollock! What would it have profited if Providence did give "limestone everywhere, and just where most required," if Pollock had not been gifted with wisdom to make the secret known?"

STEPHEN PLEASANTON, Esq., Auditor of the Treasury, died in Washington on Tuesday night. He was one of the oldest officers of the Government, having been in the public service in Philadelphia, previous to the removal of the Government to Washington.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.

Monday, Feb. 5.—P. M.

The Flour market continues exceedingly dull, there being no export demand, and the only sales making are small lots for home consumption at $8.75 per barrel for mixed and good brands and $9.25 for extra. Rye Flour is dull at $6, and Corn Meal at $4.25 per barrel. Grain.—There is no Wheat arriving and the stock is about exhausted.—It is wanted at $2.19 per bushel for red, and $2.22 for white, with sales of a few hundred bushels. Rye commands $1.22. Corn is scarce, and good yellow is worth 93 cents in store. A cargo of Southern seed, 95 cents afloat, which is an advance. Oats sell slowly at our last quotations.

MARRIED.

On the 25th ult., by Rev N. S. Buckingham, Mr. James Livingston, and Miss Mary J. Myers, both of this county.

DIED.

At Mount Union, on the 28th ult., of consumption, SAMUEL GOON, aged about 35 years. At the same place on the 3d inst., DAVID MYERS, son of Jesse Myers, dec'd., aged 2 years.

At Fairmont, Va., on the 29th ult., of typhoid fever, Dr. BENJAMIN F. MILLER, formerly of this county, aged 25 years.

In Alexandria, on Monday the 15th ult., after a few hours illness, MARY ELLEN, only daughter of Rev. F. and Anna Rupley, aged 4 years, 1 month and 6 days.

Weep not for her! she is an angel now, And treads the sapphire floors of paradise; All darkness wiped from her refulgent brow, Sin, sorrow, suffering, banished from her eyes; Victorious over death, to her appear The vista'd joys of heaven's eternal year: Weep not for her.

Weep not for her! there is no cause for woe; But rather nerve the spirit that it walk Unshrinking o'er the thorny paths below, And from earth's low defilements keep thee back:

So, when a few feet severing years have flown, She'll meet thee at heaven's gate—and lead thee on! Weep not for her.
