GEN. CASS AT HOME.—Gen. Cass on his arrival at Detroit, Michigan, on the 7th inst. was received with a salute of thirty-two guns.

KNOW-NOTHINGISM IN COURT.—On Saturday the 3d inst. Arthur McMahon, an Irish Catholic, was put upon trial for murder at Troy. When the jurors were examined, they were distinctly asked if they were Know-Nothing. Several answered that they belonged to the Order, and some of them said they had not friendly feelings towards an Irishman; and one said he would not do such a person a kindness. All Know-Nothing were excluded from the panel by the defence, and the presenting counsel conceded that such persons were unfit to sit upon a jury in such a case. From the report of the Budget it would appear that, without a formal decision, persons belonging to the oath bound secret organization are, from that connection merely, incompetent to act as jurors in a case between the people and a Catholic foreigner; the course pursued by the Court, counsel, and triers in the making up of this panel appeared to be in effect equivalent to a recognition of that principle.

Obituary. The editor of the Chambersburg Whig, one of Gov. POLLOCK's office holders, on referring to the retirement of Hon. JOSEPH R. CHANDLER from Congress, speaks as follows:

He has served through six consecutive sessions, and with what ability and credit to himself and to his constituents is well known to all. His career embraces all the great sectional struggles through which the country has recently passed, and while ever true to the North and to freedom, his course was eminently conciliatory, national and just; and we doubt not that thousands of his once confiding friends who by the new order of political affairs were compelled to sacrifice him, paused long before they laid him low. He has served the Whig party for a quarter of a century in prosperity and adversity with peculiar fidelity, and we must regard it as an unfortunate era to our political history, when the exercise of his guaranteed religious liberty made him a stranger in the house of his friends. Such men are always spared from our national councils at the cost of the country.

Reader, what better evidence can you have of the truth of the charge that Know-Nothingism is the mother of religious intolerance. Mark the language: "the exercise of his guaranteed religious liberty made him a stranger in the house of his friends. And again: "his once confiding friends who by the new order of political affairs were compelled to sacrifice him, paused long before they laid him low." Oh, Know-Nothingism, what a halot thou must be! —Dem. Union.

KNOW-NOTHINGISM DEFUNCT!!

The Good Work goes bravely on! Detroit, March 6.—The returns of the election held yesterday in this city, show that Mr. LeMay, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, has been elected by a majority of about 600.

Oswego, March 6.—The municipal election yesterday was very exciting. Know-Nothing candidate for Mayor was defeated by 500 majority.

Troy, March 6.—Griswold, Democrat and anti-Know-Nothing, has been elected Mayor by 200 majority.

Syracuse, March 6.—Liman Stevens, Democrat and fusionist, has been elected Mayor by 400 majority. The whole fusion ticket has been carried triumphantly. Six fusionist aldermen and supervisors out of eight are elected. There is great rejoicing here this evening, bonfires are blazing, and processions with bands of music are parading through the streets. The town of Cazenovia has gone Whig.

Utica, March 6.—Henry H. Fish, anti-Know-Nothing Whig, has been elected Mayor of Hamilton by about 400 majority.—Three Whig and three Democratic aldermen have been elected.

Cincinnati, March 6.—The municipal election yesterday, in Newport, Kentucky, resulted in the defeat of the American ticket.

Lockport, March 7.—The entire anti-Know-Nothing charter ticket, excepting one trustee, has been elected by an average majority of 40. Abijah H. Moss, anti-Know-Nothing president, received 45 majority over Van Valkenburgh, Know-Nothing.

THE EXCITEMENT IN CUBA.—Advices from Havana to the 17th inst. have reached Savannah. The papers are filled with military movements. The Spanish and negro troops are exercised every day; and the white and black fire companies had been organized and armed as regular troops. The Savannah Republican says:

"Another singular report is now circulating in the island, that 6,000 or 8,000 men have organized at St. Domingo for a decent and attack upon the island. Whether the American filibusters are supposed to be connected with them, we are not informed; but certain it is that the Captain General has his eyes upon their movements. We are likewise informed that a French steamer, taken for the Pampero had been fired into by the Spaniards."

From the Democratic Union. The Election of United States Senator. HARRISBURG, March 1, 1855.

Mr. ZIEGLER.—Dear Sir:—I desire the favor of occupying a small space in your paper, for the purpose of noticing the unexpected and ungentlemanly attack made upon my character, in the Pennsylvaniaian of the 28th ult., relative to the election of United States Senator. I have never seen the editor of that paper. I do not wish to see him. I know him only through the medium of the vile slanders and rakish billingsgate which, for the last two years, have blackened the columns of the Pennsylvaniaian, and depraved and gaudered the public mind. I desire to know by what authority the Pennsylvaniaian arrogates to itself the prerogative of controlling my vote, or deciding for whom it shall be cast? By what power does it decide who are, and who are not to be voted for? From what source does it derive omnipotence? At what period did it become religious? What extraordinary religion does it profess, and what holier creed than the Bible has it adopted as its rule of faith?

But, Mr. Editor, I desire for one moment to call the attention of the public to my vote for United States Senator and to the course of the Pennsylvaniaian. I will very briefly relate the facts. Before I left home to attend the present session of the Legislature, my constituents requested me, under the circumstances, to cast my vote for SIMON CAMERON, in case there was a chance for his success. If I thought at any time that circumstances would justify me in casting my vote in any particular direction, I was instructed to follow the dictates of my own judgment. I came here, and after looking over the whole ground, became satisfied that the party with which I acted could accomplish no positive victory. I did not vote in caucus for CHARLES R. BUCKALEW, but after receiving the nomination, I sustained him at the first meeting of the Convention. Before the day arrived for the second meeting, the editor of the only Democratic paper in my district came to Harrisburg, with a request from a large and most respectable number of my constituents, "that when I became satisfied that the election of the caucus nominee of the Democratic party was not within the range of probability, I should cast my vote, under the circumstances, for SIMON CAMERON." The editor to whom I have alluded accompanied me to the Hall of the House, and sat by my side at the last meeting of the Convention. When my name was called, I rose and stated the above instructions of the Convention, and voted accordingly.—Now, Sir, this is precisely what did, and this fair and proper transaction, after being buried a single night in the miasma and putridity of 46 North Third street, Philadelphia is exhumed by the Pennsylvaniaian and discovered to be "treason," the crime of which should become familiar to every mind. Now, I ask the editor of the Pennsylvaniaian if he does not feel rather silly when he looks at that expression. I wonder if I was bound to start off to Philadelphia to hunt up BILL RICE, or somebody in his employ, and ask them how I might vote.

I am clearly of opinion to-day, that the true policy of the "old line" Whigs and Democrats is to elect SIMON CAMERON. It may be said that by so doing we gain nothing. It is no victory for us. But in the language of my instructions, "we inflict defeat, scism and confusion upon the opposition." And I here assert that this is the deliberate opinion of one half the Democrats who voted for BUCKALEW, and that they have so expressed themselves. But suppose this opinion to be an error, does it follow that every one entertaining it is corrupt and traitorous? This is the old tactics of the Pennsylvaniaian. Every man who refuses not only to cry, at every breath, BUCHANAN, FORNEY & Co., but also to oppose or support every one whom they indicate, must be branded a traitor and apostate. I have been an unwavering friend of BUCHANAN's all my life, but I will not submit to be goaded into the support of any man because he belongs to a certain faction. This tyrannical and jesuitical mode of endeavoring to force men to vote at all times, and under all circumstances, as they may be told to do, has done more to destroy the Democratic party than the efforts of its open foes. I would suggest to the Pennsylvaniaian, that should it continue a little longer "reading Democrats out of the party," there will be none left. It would be a much easier task for it to name who may stay in the party.

I will turn the attention of the reader to the public position of the Pennsylvaniaian.—I will make two charges against its character. The one involving its political and moral honesty, the other is explained in the civil and criminal laws of the Commonwealth. The first is—"that the Pennsylvaniaian, while it makes loud professions of democracy, is secretly allied with the opposition, and endeavoring to create disaffection in the party to which it purports to belong." This is a clear, distinct, and serious allegation. I am prepared, at the present time, to prove its truth. I am in possession of the testimony. I know the Pennsylvaniaian may affect to sneer at the charge and answer it by vituperation and asseverations. But I propose to agree upon a committee of three Democrats, and if I do not prove to their entire satisfaction that this charge is well founded, I will acknowledge myself a public defamer of character. I am satisfied that this state of things has not been long in existence, because it could not, without having been exposed to the scorn and contempt of an indignant and outraged public opinion. I assert that, at this moment, the press is owned and controlled by the opponents of the Democratic party, and that its whole tendency and aim is to demoralize it, and finally destroy its identity. Whenever, for some time past, an opportunity offered, it has struck at the National administration, at Washington, under the specious pretence of "disinterested duty."

Immediately after the Democratic caucus met and nominated CHARLES R. BUCKALEW, as their candidate for United States Senator, the Pennsylvaniaian attacked the majority of the caucus in the most violent and disgraceful manner. It charged them with having "betrayed" the party and the interests of the State, and with having blackened their own memories, and covered them with eternal infamy. It was even stated that the faces of the "honest" portion of the caucus were suffused with shame and mortification. And then, to endeavor to convince its readers that these charges were correct, it vomited forth a column of declarations of "facts," every line of which contained a base, intentional misrepresentation, a bold, unmitigated lie. The whole scope of the article proves the editor either an arrant knave or stupid fool. He may choose the alternative. I have received a number of letters enquiring why we "refused" to elect Geo. W. QUINCY to the United States Senate, when the Pennsylvaniaian said we had the offer, and my answer has invariably been, "the Pennsylvaniaian is either a fool or a falsifier." The next thing we see of the Pennsylvaniaian, it commences to abuse, by name, certain members of the Democratic party, and to "puff" the appointees of Gov. POLLOCK.—They are all right. It then flatters, and cries "all honor to the know-nothings" who voted to please its views; notwithstanding it said less than two months previous that these same men had committed vile and deliberate perjury when they swore fidelity to the Constitution. Mirabile dictu! No matter, the Pennsylvaniaian will pardon them for the small crime of perjury, and cry "all honor to you, my brothers." I have not time to follow the details further, but I have shown enough for my purpose.

A want of time will also preclude the possibility of my giving at present, testimony upon which I rest the second charge. I will barely state the proposition, "that the Pennsylvaniaian was peculiarly interested in the passage of a bill, which was before the last Congress, and that its position was governed by that interest." Now, I suppose, that in any body else this would have been considered and characterized bribery.—Prove the same thing upon a member of the Legislature, and he would be expelled for bribery. I ask the Pennsylvaniaian not to answer these charges by spitting forth columns of wordy, base, insipid trash, which chagrin and excitement may extort from its perfidious and barren brain, but to be a man.—Agree to the appointment of an investigating committee, and I will substantiate all that I have alleged. But if you refuse, confess to the world the magnitude of your guilt and the treachery of your heart—that for months, your moral crimes have been etching away your conscience and devouring your soul.—Such conduct as yours, when held up to the cold and formal gaze of American patriotism and democracy, must subject the culprit to the execrations and maledictions of all.

JNO. M. STOCKDALE. From the Boston Post.

Lieut. Gen. Scott Bombardees a Whig and Know-Nothing Falsehood. Hon. William S. Durnell, the anti-slavery Know-Nothing member of Congress from Massachusetts, having asserted, in his lectures in Cheshire county, that the Catholic vote was offered to Gen. Scott at the late Presidential election, several persons who heard him determined to get at the truth of the matter, and therefore addressed a letter to the distinguished veteran, who returned the following reply. It is a clincher:

New York, March 1, 1855. GENTLEMEN: I have just received, through the Hon. Mr. Hibbard, M. C., at Washington, your joint letter, dated the 24th ult., in which you say to me that, in some political addresses, recently delivered in your neighborhood and in your presence, the speaker declared substantially, that in the last Presidential canvass.

"Bishop Hughes, of New York, proposed to Gen. Scott to sell the Catholic vote, who hesitated to reply; when the proposition was made to Gen. Pierce, and accepted, and a Jesuit was placed at the head of the Post Office Department. That Bishop Hughes' demands were assented to by the party to whom he first proposed, except that it demanded a cabinet officer, upon which you hesitated, and the proposition was made to Gen. Pierce, and he assented. And your letter to me is thus concluded: "Believing the statement to be false and basely calumnious of the fair fame of yourself and the other distinguished gentlemen implicated thereby, we would respectfully request of you to inform us at your earliest convenience whether the statement of Mr. —, so far as it relates to you, is true."

I hasten to say that the statement or statements I have quoted from your letter, as above, are in respect to myself, ABSOLUTELY FALSE, and I have no doubt they are equally so in respect to my political friends and opponents in the canvass alluded to.

I remain, gentlemen, with great respect, your obedient servant, WINFIELD SCOTT.

Unwise and Unjust. We have heretofore said nothing upon the subject of the late excitement relative to the election of United States Senator, but the bitter and scurrilous attacks in the Pennsylvaniaian on a number of gentlemen whom we know to be worthy of the esteem and confidence of the citizens of the entire Commonwealth, impels us to vindicate their characters against the foul aspersions that have been heaped upon them through the columns of that paper. The charge that Mr. Hoge is a drunkard, is a gross and wicked calumny. We have the pleasure of Mr. Hoge's acquaintance, and regard him as an honorable and exemplary gentleman, whose private character is above reproach. We have also the pleasure of being acquainted with several other gentlemen whom the Pennsylvaniaian has denounced in a most unjust manner.—Mr. Piatt of the Senate, Mr. Stockdale of the House, who have also been villainously assailed, are both gentlemen of honor, and their Democracy as orthodox as their defamers.

We had supposed that the Pennsylvaniaian, after emptying its vials of wrath upon the head of Gen. Cameron, would be contented, and withhold any unjust imputations respecting his friends. What better could either of the gentlemen so scurrilously spoken of have done? Gen. Cameron done as much for the interests of Pennsylvania while in the United States Senate as any Pennsylvaniaian who ever filled that honorable position. There was no possible chance for the election of any other Democrat than Gen. Cameron.—Then what better we ask could they have done? We regard the democracy of the Democrats who supported Gen. Cameron as pure as those who stood out against him, and their conduct much more politic. Messrs. Hoge, Piatt, Cresswell, Stockdale, and others who supported Gen. Cameron, are responsible only to their constituents for their course, which we believe is fully endorsed by their constituency. We know that our Senator, Mr. Creswell, and also that of our Member, Mr. King, have the almost unanimous approbation of their districts.—Johnston &c.

From Mexico—Santa Anna Preparing to Leave—Washington, March 10.—Advices received here from the city of Mexico, dated February 19th, represent Santa Anna as daily losing and Alvarez as gaining ground. It is said that Santa Anna has several steamers in readiness to receive him on the approach of Alvarez, and has sent all that he could of the seven millions received from the United States, and other valuables, out of the country. He is also said to have sold the three millions yet to be paid to Mexico by the United States.

We have now a full and competent board of instruction consisting of four gentlemen and three ladies prepared to impart instruction in all the Literary, Scientific and Ornamental branches usually taught in the best Seminaries.
