Crimea: "Yesterday, being Sunday, the routine was broken by the impressive ceremony of an open-air church parade. Each division, on these occasions, has divine service performed on the rising ground, just beyond the tents, in a dense hollow square. The clergyman and officers occupied the centre. Every one was covered. Some of the men wore foragecaps, for lack of shakes; and on dit that the loss of these stiff and ugly varieties of head gear is submitted to with great resignation by the line generally. The chaplain, with his dark velvet skull-cap and black moustache and beard, reminded me of a foreign padre in cannonicals.

We were scarcely placed in position, before the loud rush of round-shot from the fort was heard, again and again in our cars, causing sundry dislocations of the square—the men grinning and swaying about at each whirr in a kind of jocular disorder. Nothing Adolphus Patterson vs Jno. Doughabough was left for it but to move off. So we took up ground a few hundred yards lower down; and here-though a fleecy little cloud let, which announced its birth in a thunderclap, showed that a shell had burst above us, not very far off to our rear-the service was conducted to a close. Everybody of course, stands on these accasions throughout the ceremony. To obviate fatigue, therefore the Litany and Communion are omitted. The chaplain preached extemporaneously and with so excellent a voice, that though the wind was blowing his surplice about, it did not drown his tones. I was amused by his British sang froid. Half his congregation might perish round the walls of Sebastopol before next church parade-a theme which the threatening missiles exploding obout him would have served sufficiently well to enforce—but he utterly disdained such obvious rhetoric. Perhaps, indeed, it is considered undesirable to make allusions of the kind, and certainly they are too potent to need much insisting on. At any rate, the reverend gentleman neither noticed the pyrotechnics in his sound practical sermon, nor in his own person; but stood with his back to the fort, and preached on some every-day text, and never changed his voice or turned his head in compliment to shot or shell.

From the Cermantown Telegraph Treatment of Fruit Trees.

Mr. Editor: -I herein propose giving you the manner of treating fruit trees, particularly the peach and plum, so as to make them bear, and if suitable to appear in your wellprepared columns, you are at liberty to use it.

The following treatment of fruit trees was communicated to me, by a lover of good fruit, who has taken great pains to have plenty of fruit, and that which is good. In the beginning of the month of April, take a handfull of rock salt, and put around the roots, close to the trunk of the trees. Then leave the trees until the first of May, when a good coat of lime should be applied to the bodies of the trees. At the same time, make a hand a full and general assortment of strong decoction of hickory wood ashes and water, by boiling them together, and apply this plentifully to the roots of the trees, by pouring it around them while in a boiling state. This will kill the worms and insects, or prevent them from injuring the trees. At the same time, make a strong decoction of hickory wood ashes and water, by boiling them together, and apply this plentifully to the roots of the trees, by pouring it around them while in a boiling state. This will kill the worms and insects, or prevent them from injuring the trees. After trees have been acted on a few times in this manner, the bark becomes smoother, and the knots of young trees which are found particularly on the plum, will disappear. The trees grow more thriftily, and bear double the quantity of fruit they would without the application.

It is often a complaint among many farmers, that their peach and plum trees will not do any good, but if they will try this simple application, their complaints will cease.-One of my neighbors who had several plum and peach trees and who had tried various ways to make them bear, without effect, determined on cutting them down; but after some persuasion last spring, he was induced to give this mode a fair trial. The result was that his trees were loaded with good fruit, and instead of having to buy, he had considerable to sell.

Let each of your readers try it, and see if it does not produce the desired effect. Arborist-23 Ward, Philadelphia.

Good Advice.-In commencing a new year, you should so arrange your system of farming, as never to be at a loss throughout the season for what next you are to do .-Make it a point of duty not to cultivate more land than you can cultivate well. Let not the ambition of being considered a large cultivator induce you to overcrop yourself. One acre well plowed, harrowed and rolled, if well tended afterwards, will produce more than three where these things may have been emitted. The more noble ambition for agriculturists, is that which excites the desire not only of being considered, but of being in reality a good culturist, of so cultivating his land as that, while it yields abundant harvests, it may be gradually improving in its productive capacities .- American Far-

FTER many years' close investigation A FIER many years close investigation and numerous experiments, the Pattentce sakes pleasure in informing the public that he has arrived at the true principles of protecting families, dwellings and property frem the destructive influence of Lightning. The calamities that every City, Town, Village and Country falls victim to annually, through the gross negligence of its inhabitants, is beyond an adaptation. calculation, especially when the remedy is so easy to obtain—this is found in Armitage's Patent Magnetic Lightning Rods, and in this alone. This Rod has been examined by his friends and patrons, and to the most scientific gentlemen in the world-Professors M'Murtrie, Johnson, Wallor and many others that have examined them, recommend and speak of them in the highest terms of approbation, and have pronounced them the only safe rods in use in this or any other country, for the protection of Lives and Property.-One advantage is to divide and throw back a part of the electric fluid harmless to the clouds; in time of a stroke this enables the rod to conduct that portion of fluid that belongs to the earth without the slightest danger of leaving the conductor. This rod has many other advantages over the old one.
