Lime! Lime! Lime! Mail Line of Stages between Mt. Union and Chambersburg.

Anti-Know-Nothing Ticket.

The Committees of Conference appointed by the Democratic and Whig Conventions will meet to-day-and we hope a good ticket will be agreed upon. Give us a good ticket or none.

Broad Top Road and its Business.

This road has opened under the most favorable auspices. We noticed yesterday the cars arriving freighted with pig iron from Rough and Ready Furnace. The passenger car attached to the train which is carrying out the iron, goes out and comes in twice a day well filled with passengers. From the manner in which it opens, it bids fair to be a first rate passenger and local freight road, in addition to the immense coal business that will be done upon it.

Fourteen miles of the track are now laid and in use and passengers pronounce it an admirably constructed, solid road. It is the straightest road in Pennsylvania, laid with best quality of T rail, and American iron. Track layers are busily at work stretching out the iron link that in a few weeks, will bring one of the richest semi-bituminous coal and mineral regions of the State, within an hour's ride of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Canal at this place. Boats are building in preparation for the trade; the enterprise speedily approaches its completion, under the vigorous action of its energetic President, and the most sanguine anticipations of its friends will soon be realized.

Gabe still believes that the editorials of the Globe are prepared by several of our most talented, as well as most respectable citizens. Pile them up, Gabe, you will soon make us believe we are something more than a natural know nothing. Just think of itthe most talented gentlemen in town suspected of writing our editorials. Thank you, your brain should hatch any thing above a swamped idea, or a bible "record."

Jamison's Line of Stages.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. John Jamison. The public on the route between Mount Union and Chambersburg, and travellers generally, will find this line offering every accommodation necessary for the speedy and comfortable conveyance of passengers.

Open Organization.

One of the speakers at the Know-Nothing fizzle attempted to convince those of his hearers who had no opportunity of knowing better, that the dark lantern party had abandoned their secret gatherings, and would henceforth act openly and in the sight of all mankind. The speaker knew that what he was asserting was false-known to be false by a large majority of his hearers-for the Order here date not deny that they have held at least four secret council meetings in this place since the 9th inst., and a Convention of delegates from the councils of the county on Wednesday last. What was done at their County Convention, of course, will not be made public through their organs, neither will the little arrangements entered into in their council gatherings at midnight, to deceive and persecute their neighbors, be made known to any but the faithful.

As the Professor was President of the County Convention, perhaps he has learned by this time that there are at least a few applicants for office in his, the dark lantern party. Quite a large number were named in the Convention for the Legislature-Col. S. S. Wharton and J. Sewel Stewart, appeared to stand No. 1 on the list of applicants-and every body knows they are not old office hunters. Those recommended by the Convention will be voted for in the councils of the county, and those receiving the highest number of votes will be the candidates of the party. We shall announce the ticket as soon as the return judges from the councils Court.—Court lasted but one week—all the jurors were discharged on Saturday morning last. But few cases, and none of general interest were tried.

The Grand Fizzle of the Dark Lantern

The first and only public demonstration made in this county by the dark lantern C. Couts' Hotel, in this borough, on Wednesday evening last. Early in the evening the drum and file were heard approaching the town from the swamps below, and every Democrat and old line Whig expected soon to see the streets crowded with an army of the faithful. The dogs began to bark, our Shanghai crowed, and bantam flapped his wings-we ventured out-the procession was approaching head quarters—and such a procession—bantam began to crow lustily—all told, the procession numbered, without counting the drummer and fifer, twenty-seven boys and three natural know nothings,-the whole marshalled by Gen. Wm. Dunn. Arriving at head quarters, officers for the first grand open Know Nothing demonstration were selected. Who they were we could not learn. The speakers were from the ranks of the people, not old office hunters, not they—they are opposed to the office hunters dictating to the people—they are the Americans now-advocating American principles such as dictated the action of the dark lantern party in Louisville at the late election. The speakers-who were they? We want those of the Order who were Democrats to ask themselves the question. It is as we predicted-the most corrupt of the old Whig party are now managing the affairs of the new party-and Democrats find themselves liamson, John N. Prowel, J. Sewel Stewart, A. W. Benedict, Dr. Wintrode, (and we have been told that Prof. Barr also made a speech, office hunters in the Whig party. Not a speaker present who had been a Democrat, do the dirty work that such Americans as we

The speaking commenced—and Prof. Barr was seen scattering the faithful through and around the crowd who were instructed to hurra whenever he should give command so o do. Several attempts were made to raise a hurra, but it was no go, until one of the speakers called for the Sag Nichts, when there was a tremendous hurra, but it was discovfrom the out-siders who supposed the speaker had insinuated that the Professor and his "friend" had deserted their posts, and were again in Washington street hunting a Sag Nicht meeting. Mr. Williamson quoted largely from the scriptures to show that a Catholic could not be a good American citizen, and that an Irishman could live longer on raw potatoes than he could on the remedies prescribed by Dr. Jayne last winter. Mr. Stew-Gabe; we'll return the compliment if ever art endorsed the Know Nothing principles won. It was not inherited, it was achieved. with all his heart, and hoped all true Americans, friends of his, would work late and early until it should be decided whether he was to be their nominee for the Legislature or not. Mr. Benedict would have no objections to serving the American party another winter at Harrisburg, either as Clerk or Representative,—if nominated for the Legislature he would have two chances, and he thought his services for years and peculiar cunningness gave him claims over all others. Mr. Prowel was right on the goose or any other question, and could be found at all times batling for the "dingbatts" and the Constitution. Dr. Wintrode would accept a nomination for the Legislature, and if elected would serve—but urged his friends not to labor and every factory of toil, is heard the press his claims too vigorously, as he could same tongue. We owe it to Webster. He has done for us more than Alfred did for England, afford to wait a little longer!

They Could'nt Come In.

At the Democratic Delegate election held in this place on Saturday evening the 11th make our trinity of fame." inst., the Know Nothings, (those who have no political or moral character to lose,) attended at an early hour, and but for the decided stand the Democrats took, would have made an effort to control the election. Gabe and the Professor were there, who with the five Catholic congregations. In Florida the assistance of the lapdog and its master, were able only to make a little 'noise and confusion.' Failing completely in bringing about a fusion with the pure and unsuspected Deniocracy, they sneaked back the same night to their council room in the Court House and reported progress, which, judging from the apnearance of their elongated countenances the next morning, did not come up to what was expected of them by their honorable leaders.

Know Nothings' Outside Influence. The dark lantern gentry count largely upon the strength they expect to have at the next | that of the Presbyterians. election outside of their Order. They expect to have a few such as travelled the county last fall, previous and on the day of election who represented to Democrats that LEAS was an independent Democratic candidate, when they knew that he was the Know Nothing

The Dictionary again.

We now proceed to show why we prefer Webster's Dictionary to any other. The main principle is, that the tendency of our language party took place in the Diamond, in front of to greater simplicity and broader analogies, ought to be watched and cherished with the utmost care, With this view Webster spells. words, so far as consistent, according to a correct pronunciation; and whenever general rules and analogies have advanced so far as to leave but few exceptions to impede its progress, those exceptions are set aside at once, and the analogy rendered complete. On this ground the termination our is changed to or, omitting the u in such words as favor, labor, &c. In preparing this article I observe the significant fact that a large number of these words came from latin terminations in or, but in their transmission through the Norman-French, they are incumbered with the silent u as in emperour, authour, &c. The termination ck is changed into cas in music, maniac. The termination re is changed into er as in center meter, instead of the French center, meter. The pronunciation requires this change. Dr. Webster carries out another reform required by convenience and consistency-ense in place of ence, as in the words expense, defense, pretense, &c. These with other modifications are calculated to give uniformity stability, and permanency of usage, and add to the variety and harmony of the lan-

It is acknowledged on all hands, that Webster as a definer stands preeminent. He possesses in an extraordinary degree, the faculty of defining in the happiest manner, not only giving the word and its synonyms, but he traces it to its led by the nose by politicians for whom as origin, describes it, and gives the varied mansuch they never had and never can have the ner in which it is used. This is a feint idea of least respect. The speakers were John Wil- Webster's merits. The following beautiful extract will present the rest.

"It seems to be one of the laws of Providence, that the founders of States shall never divide their glory with those who come after them .but we have not seen or heard of any body Moses, Solon, and Lycurgus; Romulus, Alfred that heard any part of it.) All, heretofore and Washington, have left none to dispute their fame. So it is with the fathers of learning. The name of Cadmus inspires to-day, the same veneration that was felt for him by Plato, No and they are not expected to dictate, but to dramatic poet will dream of usurping the throne of Shakespeare -- no future astronomer will lay a profane hand on the crown of Galileo. The have named may be enabled to crawl into world looks for no other Iliad-there will be no second Dante. Daniel Webster has interpreted the constitution, and Noah Webster left us a standard of the English language which will guide all successive ages.

"The pen is the only scepter which is never broken. The only real master is he who controls the thoughts of men. The maker of words is master of the thinker who only uses them .-In this domain he has no rival. He stands at the fountain-head of thought, science, civilization. He is controller of all minds—to him all who talk, think, write or print, pay ceasless and the know nothing societies, which they assert involuntary tribute. In this sense, Noah-Web- is directly pointed against them in their busister is the all-shaping, all-controling mind of ness, political, and religious matters.—Washered that the noise and confusion all came involuntary tribute. In this sense, Noah-Webthis hemisphere. He grew up with his country, and he molded the intellectual character of her people. Not a man has sprung from her soil, on whom he has not laid his all-forming hand, His principles of language have tinged every sentence that is now, or will ever be uttered by an American tongue. His genius has presided over every scene in the nation. It is universal, omnipotent, comnipresent. No man can breathe the air of the continent, and escape

"The scepter which the great lexicographer wields so unquestionably, was most worthily sc.struggle for an honest, brave, faltering heart-a clear, serene intellect. No propitious accidents favored his progress. The victory was won after a steady trial of sixty years. Contemplate the indices of his progress; for science, like machinery, measures its revo-lutions. When the wheels of our ocean steamers have moved round a million times, the dial hand marks one. It was so with Galileo and Bacon-their books marked their progress through the unexplored seas of learning. It was so with Webster. When our republic rose, he became its schoolmaster. There had never been a great nation with a universal language without dialects. The Yorkshireman cannot now talk with a man from Cornwall. The peasant of the Ligurian Apennines, drives his goats home at evening, over hills that look down on six provinces, none of whose dialects he can speak. Here, five thousand miles change not the sound of a word. Around every fireside, and from every tribune, in every field of afford to wait a little longer!

The meeting finally adjourned, the boys went home, and Gen. Dunn rested from his tiplying his innumerable army of thinkers, who will transmit his name from age to age Only two men have stood on the New World, whose fame is so sure to last-Columbus, its discoverer, and Washington its saviour. Webster is, and will be its great teacher; and these three

THE CHRISTIAN DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES .- Maryland, the first State in the Union,' says the Boston Transcript, where the Roman Catholic Church gained a footing, now contains eight hundred and seven Protestant Churches, and only sixty-Catholics early settled. Now there are one hundred and seventy Protestant and only five Catholic churches. Louisiana was settled by the Catholics, who now have fiftyfive Churches in the State, while the Protestants have two hundred and forty-seven congregations. In Texes the Catholics were the first sect in point of time—they now have thirteen churches, but the Protestants report three hundred and seven societies in the State. The number of Episcopal, Lutheran and Roman Catholic Churches are nearly the same throughout the country, but each of the three denominations have about one eleventh of Dean's heirs and others, containing about the number of Methodists, scarcely one eighth that of the Baptists, and notone-fourth is about as 12 to 1. BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Wheat dull; receipts 30,000 bashels, and the market closed at $1,80a1,93 for good to prime white, and $1,80 for red. Corn, sales white at 88a90c. nominee. Democrats cannot be caught in Flour, a decline of about 5 cents; market the same net, by the same fishermen, or any heavy; sales of Howard street at $8.75.

A Hartford (Ct.) paper tells a story of an American who deposited $100 in the hands of an Englishman, for which he was was taken. This was the 1st of November last, and the American has received his $25 per month, ever since that time. One hun-

To show the folly of persecution for religious opinions, we recommend the following eloquent and truthful lines from the pen of EPES SARGENT, not only to the murderers of Louisville, and the Protestant ladies of Bards. town, but the people of this Union generally .--They are true as God is just.

"The very worst mischief that can be done to religion is to pervert it to the purposes of faction. Heaven and hell are not more distant than the benevolent spirit of the Gospel and the malignant spirit of party. The most impious wars ever made were those called holy wars .-He who hates another man for not being a Christian, is himself not a Christian. Toleration is the basis of all public quiet. It is a charter of freedom given to the mind, more valuable, I think, than that which secures our persons and estates. Indeed, they are inseparably connected; for, where the mind is not free, where the conscience is enthralled, there is no freedom. I repeat it; persecution is as impious as it is cruel and unwise. It not only opposes every precept of the New Testa-ment, but it invades the prerogative of God Himself. It is a usurpation of the attributes which belong exclusively to the Most High .-It is a vain endeavor to ascend into His Throne, to wield His sceptre, and hurl His thunder.

"And then its own history proves how useless it is. Truth is immortal; the sword cannot pierce it, fires cannot consume it, prisons cannot incarcerate it, famine cannot starve it; all the violence of men, stirred up by the power and subtlety of hell, cannot put it to death. In the person of its martyrs it bids defiance to the will of the tyrant who persecutes it, and with the martyr's last breath predicts its own full and final triumph. The Pagan persecuted the Christian, but yet Christianity lives. The Roman Catholic persecuted the Protestant, and yet Protestantism still lives. The Protestant persecuted the Catholic, but yet Catholicism lives. The Church of England persecuted Nonconformists, and yet Nonconformity lives .--Nonconformists persecuted Episcopalians, vet Episcopacy lives. When persecution is carried to its extreme length of extirpating herities, Truth may be extinguished in one place, but it will break out in another. If opinions cannot be put down by argument, they cannot by power. Truth gains the victory in the end, not only by its own evidences, but by the sufferings of its confessors. Therefore, if we have a mind to establish peace among the People, we must allow men to judge freely in matters of religion, and to embrace that opinion they think right, without any hope of temporal reward, without any fear of temporal punishment.

The Cost of Know Nothingism.

It is stated in one of our exchanges that several thousand naturalized citizens have left, or are about leaving Louisville, with the view of seeking homes where person and property are safe from the violence of Know Nothingism, and where they can remain undisturbed in the full enjoyment of their constitutional rights. Our neighbors of Canada, keenly alive to their own interests, have recently issued a circular, addressed to adopted citizens in the United States, inviting them to Canada, in order that they may rid themselves from the influence of ington Union,
