

COMMUNICATION.

Mr. Editor:—Although there was not much doing at Court last week, it was obvious that a throng of business was on hand of some sort, a part of which gradually became public. The "American" interests of West Township received special attention. It seems that in the winter of 1854-5, the renowned Sam had upwards of one hundred and forty of the faithful to greet him in West—principally members of the "Green Tree Council." The people there usually attended to their Township elections without regard to politics—voted by cliques, sections, and personal preferences. When the oath-bound clan entered the arena, it was evident that Sam could have everything his own way, in spite of unorganized opposition. A certain renegade Democrat (Council Instructor) who had become renowned for his success with the Dark Lantern in school houses, churches, and at camp meetings, whose soul, conscience and principles are dependant upon the "almighty dollar." He had succeeded heretofore in getting himself appointed Collector of Taxes several times, and several times contested the appointment of others, being himself a candidate for the Duplicate nearly all the time. The net profits of the appointment in West are about $150 per year. His position with Sam made appearances look certain; but, in order to make assurance doubly sure, it was thought best to have an understanding with the Democrats. Consequently he repairs to their head quarters, and proposes that if they would put him on the return for Collector, they might form any Township ticket they saw proper and he would carry it through the Councils. The Democrats, anxious to understand the workings of the new political party, formed a Ticket, commencing and ending with the most uncompromising opponents of the Secret order. The Instructor calls his Council and introduces the Ticket as follows: "Gentlemen, members of Council No. —, I offer the following Ticket for our support at the approaching Spring election. It is the choice of the Petersburg Council, (the Petersburg Council at this time had not seen or heard of it) and is composed of good men, and will be better calculated to deceive our enemies than any one that can be formed. We are in our infancy yet as an organization it will not do for us to select from our own ranks candidates for these unimportant offices." The motion was seconded and carried unanimously. On election day the ticket was elected with but little opposition. The way to the Duplicate seemed clear. He and another were put on the Assessor's return. The two Commissioners of West agreed that the Instructor should not be appointed and promised the Duplicate to the other. Last week advantage was taken of the weak point of one of the West Commissioners, and he was wheedled round by the Instructor. The objections were pouring in, such as, that he sold the American Party for the Duplicate—made false representations in Council, &c. &c. The small fee Commissioners were enlisted.—They argued before the Commissioners that the objections urged with so much force were small matters—they only proved a master stroke of policy. A man capable of practicing those tricks upon his friends was a formidable man in our ranks, and should be patronized. The case is not yet determined, one of the Commissioners of the Old School threatens to resign. AN OUTSIDER.

From the Kansas City Enterprise. To Emigrants—Kansas City Kansas City is located at or near the mouth of Kansas river, the only navigable stream of Kansas or Nebraska Territory. It contains about one thousand inhabitants, seventeen stores—dry goods, grocery, &c., one drug store; smith and wagon shop, carpenter and cabinet shops, harness and saddle makers, &c. Has the largest and finest warehouses west of St. Louis. It is the departing or outfitting point for the New Mexico trade, and much of that bound to Utah, California and Oregon. It is the nearest and best steamboat landing for all the territory of Kansas lying south of Kansas river—for all the Cherokee country, and for a portion of Missouri and Arkansas, equal in extent to half of Kansas Territory. The nearest and best point, when settled, for the trade of over one hundred county seats.—See the map of the Southwest. One house alone in Kansas last season disbursed to steamboats in their business two hundred and thirty-five thousand six hundred and fifty-three dollars and eighty-four cents; and at our city last year eleven thousand wagons loaded for New Mexico, Utah and California. Its importance as a great commercial city cannot be overrated. It is the key, and has been called the "door" to Kansas Territory, and the beautiful and fertile valley of the Kansas, and the thousands of miles lying beyond, and to the westward of it. Four important railroads, all chartered, concentrate at this point—the "Pacific," the "Kansas Valley," the "Kansas City, Hannibal and St. Joseph Branch," and the "Platte Country Road." It has two thousand miles navigable river above it, (Missouri and Mississippi), with a hundred miles (the Kansas) directly. It is located in the centre of the largest area of first rate soil in the world, and in the midst of the largest body of first rate timber for every mechanical purpose in all Upper Missouri. Under the influence of a trade unexampled for activity, and in view of its future growth and prosperity, business lots on the level now command from four to six thousand dollars per lot—and in one instance a business house is now renting per annum for the amount of cost in erection. Steamboats are now running from Kansas City to Lawrence, Leocompton, Topeka, Manhattan and Ft. Riley—all occupying sites on the banks of the Kansas—affording the cheapest, the most easy and expeditious mode of reaching the interior and more important points in the Territory. For relative distances and greater proximity to all points of importance South of Kansas river, embracing two-thirds of the Territory, we appeal to the maps of the country. Withal, we wish to mislead no one, as our city is no speculative bubble, but a fixed fact, with titles perfect, and widely distributed among owners. We invite a consideration of the facts stated, and challenge the closest scrutiny of these representations desiring to avoid entirely the humbugging of speculators who would entrap the unwary by a great display on paper. If any other town on the Missouri possesses half the advantages, natural or local, pertaining to Kansas, we desire to be informed of such a town.

Mr. Buchanan designed leaving Southampton on the 9th of April in the Arago for New York. Mr. Buchanan had gone to Paris accompanied by Mr. Campbell, the American Consul at London, and Mr. Croskey, the American Consul at Southampton. He designed visiting the Hague before starting upon his return to the United States. According to the London "Times" the cause of the difficulties in the Paris Conference, was a demand put forth by the Prussian Plenipotentiaries to be admitted to sign the treaty, on the same footing and in the same character as if Prussia had been a party to the Alliance throughout. It is said that Russia supports the Prussian pretensions. This took place at the meeting on the 22d March. Another meeting was held on the 24th, but nothing has transpired of what took place. The opinion that the Peace Conference would ultimately resolve itself into an European Conference is strongly believed. The London Times' Crimean correspondence says that the war party still cherish hopes that the negotiations will break down. It may suit the French to make concessions, but it might not to suit us. They doubtless consider they have done enough for the honor and glory of France, and to revenge the reverses of 1812. Moreover, they cannot afford a war as England can. Their army, however numerous on paper, is dwindling sadly from the scurvy and fever, which are playing sad havoc in its ranks. The mortality is stated to be one hundred and twenty per day, and frequently more. The Allies had commenced the demolition of the enclosures and lines around Sebastopol. Ismael Pacha is increasing his army in Antioleia. General Mouravieff has received reinforcements via the Caspian Sea and Tiflis. The city of Parma, Italy, has been again laid under siege, owing to the frequent disturbances and assassinations taking place there. Sir Hyde Parker, the commander of the English forces in the East Indies, died at Davenport on the 21st of March. Sir Henry Pottinger died at Malta on the 18th of March. Advances from Hamburg state that Commodore Watson had declared all the Russian Baltic ports to be still under blockade. Advances from Persia state that Dost Mohammed had taken possession of Candabar, and that Persian troops were marching against him. A telegraphic dispatch from Jassy states that a courier who was the bearer of a formal demand for the union of the Principalities, addressed to Count Wallewski, had been arrested at Czernowitz. Advances from Nicolaeff state that a commission had arrived there from St. Petersburg on the 4th of March, and immediately commenced operations for the abandonment of that place as a military depot. It was stated that it would be a free port. The Manchester markets are steady without change in prices.
