POETRY.

ODE TO RELIGION. O sweet religion, heavenly name, Thy healing balm impart;

In this sad lonely heart. Thy blesced power alone can give True consolution here; My soul thy sacred joys receive,

Kindle thy pure and living flame,

And calm each wayward fear. When gloomy fears pervade my breast, Or evil thoughts mise;

Tis sweet religion gives me rest, And clears my clouded skies. Then welcome death, I willing stand, To meet thy cold embrace;

No earthly power can curb thy hand,

Or cheer my pullid face. Farewell to carth's dim fading toys, Pil bid a long farewell; Prepare my soul for sacred joys, Where endless pleasures dwell.

THE LADY'S BOOK.

From the Saturday Courier.

Among the diversified contents of the May Number of the Lapy's Book, will be found a well written tale from the London Literary Souvenir, the production of our townsman, R. Penn Smith. In the New Monthly Magazine, it is noticed as one of the best prose articles in the book, and is pronounced "a tale powerfully told by an American writer."-Commendation from such a source is worthy of being repeated. The Lapy's Book ulso contains a View of Philadelphia, from the Delaware, drawn by Bineu, and engraved by CONE; which has been allowed, by judges whose tastes may be depended on, to be the most correct and graphic sketch of our beautiful river that is any where to be found. The Engraver has shown a master's skill in the execution of the plate -we lament, with his friends, that talent like his, when just budding into maturity, should have been prematurely destroyed by the hand of death. Wo have heard it remarked that among the fraternity connected with the press, there prevailed to a considerable extent, (professionally of course,) a want of good feeling towards each other, which betokened a degree of selfishness discreditable to the parties implicated, and interfered with the interchange of those acts of courtesy which render society agreeable, and which among persons drawn together in other pursuits are said to joint, and several white spots on be freely and generally practised. Now all such the back—shed all round. She had a part assertions we consider libellous. We have taken of a halter chain and the neck-band on when occasion individually frequently to contradict them, and if it were necessary, abundant testimony could be produced to prove that they were fabrications. For instance, there is no new publi- take her away. cation issuing from the press(& who will complain that there is a dearth of them) but you will find, if the work deserve a pasing notice, our brethen appear emulous to select such terms of praise as will be best adapted to evince cordiality with which the new enterprise is cheered and encouraged to launch out boldly in the world of letters. Many go still further-and with their personal influence, and also the publicity that is given to it through the agency of their presses, procure for the publication an extensive patronage, which in no other way could be obtained so speedily and of-We are perfectly sensible of the feetually. obligations which bind us to gentlemen of the press generally; the liberality shown to our protego, "The SATURDAY COURIER," has been quite gratifying, and while we conceive it a duty, it will afford us at all times a pleasure to mete out the same kind feelings to them all. We were about to cite several instances of the interest which has been shown towards literary enterprises, by our brethren, but one will suffice. Scarcely a paper which we have an opportunity of perusing—and they include by far the geater portion of the whole that are published in the U. States—from one extreme to the other—we say that there is scarcely one of these papers which has not at Bitter Ingredients times recorded its preference in favour of that Black Lead excellent magazine, the "Lady's Book." Our co-Blacking temporaries, Messrs. L. A. Gonny and Co., we are antisfied deserve credit for their faste and indestry in improving the standard of American periodicals--for, we could name saveral, if we were disposed to turn oracles, which, like the Cameleon have changed their complexions entirely since this work was commenced. So far then the public have been benefited. For ourselves, we wish all Castor enterprising publishers success, and when we cannot do better for them we will select the notices we find of their works, and insert them graturtously. The following are too excellent to be debarred an insertion in our columns. From the Troy, N. Y. Watchman:

THE LADY'S BOOK, FOR APRIL. The publishers of this elegant work seem to be possessed with the laudable object of placing it beyond competition. It has been in existence not quite a year and already occupies a station which very few of the oldest and most celebrated periodicals have attained. The contents of the last No. is selected with a care and good taste which adds to it already well established reputation .-The plates of fashions in this No. are executed with greater neatness than any that have preceded them. The Lady's Book, is, to Fashionable America, what "Ackerman's Repository," and "La Belle Assemblee," are to polite Europe—the ne plus ultra of admiration and imitation. It is in the Literary world, what the Ladies are in the corporeal. The sweet, the beautiful & the charming-without any of the rough or disgnsting qualities of the other sex. Ladies; come and buy Your Book.

From the Fredericksburg, Va. Herald. THE LADY'S BOOK, FOR, APIL."-We always greet the pleasure; for invits pages and embellishments we find a soluce after the toil and tedium of wading through "everlasting newspapers," amongst which we have lived since we were of the altitude of à chopine, and will probably be snugly in- Nutnegs cased when our form tumbles into "pi" and is ready for the "old shoe" -- but this is not germain to the matter under consideration; and we hasten to say that one of the most agreeable and useful publications which passes through our hands, is the "Lady's Book," published by Louis A. Godey & Co. office of the "Daily Chronicle," Philadelphia, price $3 per annum. The last number, now lying upon our dosk, is equal to the best English publications upon the same plan, both as regards embellishments and township, Adams county, deceased, are reastructing and agreeable articles. The quested to come forward and make settlefrontispiece displaying the "Philadelphia ment without delay-all those having claims Fashions" for May, is beautifully executed, and the law blonde is only surpassed by the perly authenticated, for settlement. beautiful bi unette, in the elegance and grace f her costume.

VEGETABLE CATHOLICON. ADVERTISEMENT.

The unrivalled and extensive reputation acquired by this medicine for the last five years, both in Hospital and private practice, demands from the proprietor his grateful acknowledgments to a discerning public.

Potter's Vegetable Catholicon is offered for the cure of Diseases of the Liver, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Debility resulting from Intemperance and Dissipation, Scrofula or King's Evil, Old and Inveterate Ulcers, Pains in the Bones, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Diseases of the Lungs, Syphilis, Blotches on the Face and Skin, White Swelling of the Joints, Tetter, Mercurial diseases, Piles, &c. &c.

The Catholicon consists exclusively of vegetable matter, and with a slight determination to the bowels, which it preserves in a soluble state, acts insensibly, is pleasant to the taste, and requires no particular regimen or confinement. As a gentle cathartic medicine, improving the appetite and restoring the general tone of the system, it is confidently recommended to ladies in a delicate situation.

The unrivalled and very extensive character which this medicine has enjoyed, for the last six years, as a complete renovator, and purifier of the blood and humours both in Hospital and Private Practice, is a substantial basis for its future support. It has obtained its present great distinction by the extraordinary success which has attended parallel; indeed, its discovery may be concan be afforded to the unfortunate; and I garity, and too often evinced an utter disregard most sincerely hope the sympathy of the commodation for Travellers, Wagoners, and public will be excited to diffuse its invalua-

The following strong testimonial is furnished at the request of Dr. Davis, of Lynchburg, Va. by a gentleman of great respectability, residing in that place, whose original conficate, of which the following is an exact copy, is left with the proprietor of the Catholicon.

CASE.

LYNCHBURG, Va. May 5th, 1828.

At the request of Dr. ____, I here give a statement of the effect of Potter's Catholicon in the restoration of my health. My constitution had been in a declining state for more than eighteen months. I was much troubled with a short dry cough, slight difficulty of breathing, which was much increased by bodily exercise. At night, great oppression at the chest was experienced, with excessive colliquative sweats, soreness and pain in the sides and breast, with extreme languor and loss of appetite. In this situation, I travelled No charge in any case will be made unless to the New England states by sea, but obtained no permanent relief. Some time after my return, by way of experiment, I was induced to use Potter's Catholicon, and after using two bottles, my health was perfectly restored.

Dear Sir-After many but ineffectual trials to cheve myself from a most severe and distressing attack of dyspepsia, I have been completely cured by the use of, to me, your invaluable Catholicon, and I think it my duty thus publicly to state my case, and in order that others may profit thereby. The first symptoms of the disease were manifested in the spring of 1827. Warned at the approach of this destroyer of all case, I had recourse to physician after physician, and remedy after remedy but received little or no relief. I was recommended to retire into the country, where I so far recruited, that I began to think the enemy was dislodged. I returned to the city, where in a short time all my old symptoms returned with double violence. My stomach became so debilitated with drugs that I relinquished the regular system and entered on a course of Swaim's Panacea. It did me no good, and I went back to my doctor, who crammed me with pulverized oyster shells, etc. etc. My teeth became loose, and some actually fell out; there was a constant pain in my jointh particular-ly in damp weather, pains in my fight side and shoulder, etc. I now submitted to another course of medical treatment, until the full of 1829, when my physicians stated the disease to be a schirrus of the liver. Then it was that I determined to try plo of the "Cariculures," above spoken of, carifof the liver. Then it was that I determined to try Prospectus of a work of which Wit it in the Healing Art, while every avenue and and Humour, are to constitute the principal introck have been searched in vain for its gredients. The publisher has observed the avidity which, productions of similar pretentions are sidered one of the most sacred boons that senght after, notwithstanding their igaden attempts at wit, have been disfigured by coarse vulsought after, notwithstanding their leaden at-decency, unmindful that "Immodest words admit of no defence,

For want of decency, is want of sense. The favorable disposition which the public have so constantly manifested towards smiler attempts to amuse and entertain, has convinced the publish. er that a well conducted and pleasing melang of Wit and Humour, will be extensively patronized. Under this impression, he has made extensive arrangements to procure, at great cost, the best productions of a humorous nature both at home and abroad, including the comic works of Hood, Cruikshank, and other genuine sons of Comus: the Looking Glass, an amusing and unique affair, with numerous other laughable and mirth-inspiring subjects. It is impossible, nor shall we attempt to give in i mercoprospectus, an adequate idea of the variaty and spirit which it shall be the constant aim to infuse into the pages of the COMIC MIRROR .---It will be satisfactory, however, to show, by the testimony of the most distinguished physicians, that invalids of almost every description, will derive benefit from our labors; particularly those who are afflicted with weak nerves, lowness of spirits, and complaints of a dyspeptic or hillities nature. To these our work will prove invaluable, and the smile of good humor which will brighten the countenance, and the sense of inward satisfaction and self-complacency which will assuredly put our patients in the best of humor with theraselves and with the world, will induce them to throw, forthwith, their bottles, pills, and "physic to the dogs." We can only specify among the general and diversified topics of the future pages of the work:

ouches at the Pride, Whims and Follies of the Times, in which the lash of satire will be use: with unsparing severity; but always in such general terms, and with such perfect good nature, as to give no cause of personal offence.

Jumors and Vagaries of the Police Office, where human nature is exhibited in its true colors, and vice exposed in its naked deformity, only that the beacon may serve as a warning to the dissolute and vicious. Doings of Folks about Town; the Ways of the World, & Peops behind the Cartains Caricatures; Tales of Humes, Sketches of Wit, and Ancedotes of Celebrated Characters, men of Fancy and Fashion, who law nothing else to do but to entertain their neighbors, and inspire others with their flashes of wit and merriment, which is "wont to set the table in a rear."

The whole will be illustrated by numerous Comic-Engravings, executed at great expense, and which of themselves will furnish an inexhaustible fund of amusement, and may, better than any thing else, be taken up on a dull rainy day, or serve to beguile an hour which would other. wise pass heavily away.

TERMS-Nothwithstanding the heavy exonse aftending the publication of this singular and entirely unique work, the publisher has determined to put the subscription at the very lowest price at which it can possibly be afforded, confidently relying on an extensive patronage for re-muneration. It will be published every other week, at only $1 50 per annum. Agents will be allowed a commission of 15 per cent. on all remittances. No unpaid letters or orders without the amount of subscription, will recove attention; as the expense of the publication and the lowness of the subscription, will not warrant the publish-
