Absorption of Moss from Meadows.

In the Journal of the Agricultural Society of Hanover, Germay, salt is recommended for this purpose. It is stated to have proved efficacious during several years' trial. This salt is sown broadcast, and in a few weeks after its application the moss (and heath) begins to wither, and shortly is destroyed; in its place sweet grasses and nutritious plants make their appearance, and the herbage on the salted spots is greatly relished by cattle. It is warned not to use too much salt, else the grass itself is injured; the proper quantity is (in English measure) four bushels per acre.

Harrowing Wheat,

Gentlemen:—I promised you in April to write to you about the result of harrowing wheat in the spring. I find it pays well; it gives the wheat a good start, and the harrowed portion ripens as early as the unharrowed part, and has much heavier heads; if the state of the ground and the weather suits at the time, the wheat ought to be harrowed. I shall always prefer doing it.

Respectfully, L. GREAVES.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.

Guano.

The United States Agricultural Society has expressed the opinion that guano costs more than it produces. Mr. John Jones, of Delaware, stated that it had been estimated that one ton of guano was equal to 40 bushels of wheat, which at $1 10 per bushel would be only $50 per ton as the real value of a ton of guano, leaving nothing for profit, and that worse than that, the guano is now sold at $67 per ton, showing a net loss of $17 per ton on the use of guano, which he had abundantly proved by the use of over 75 tons per year.

Reasons

Why Farmers are healthier than Professional Men:

1. They work more, and develope all the leading muscles of the body.

2. They take their exercise in open air, and thus breathe a greater amount of oxygen.

3. Their food and drinks are commonly less adulterated, and far more simple.

4. They do not overwork the brain as much as professional men do.

5. They take their sleep, commonly, during the hours of darkness, and do not try to turn day into night.

6. They are not, commonly, so ambitious and do not wear themselves out so rapidly in the fierce contest of rivalry.

7. Their pleasures are more simple and less exhausting.

Glass Pans for Milk.

An Ohio farmer who has been experimenting with different kinds of milk vessels says, that during thunder showers the milk in glass pans is less likely to become sour than that in tin pans—that during the first twenty-four hours the milk in the tin pans was sour, whereas that in the glass pans was quite sweet—that at the end of twelve hours more the milk in the tin pans was thick, and that in the glass pans only beginning to sour. The milk used in this experiment was that of one cow given at a single milking, and divided equally, one-half placed in the glass and the other in the tin pan; both vessels were placed side by side. We do not know to whom we are indebted for this statement, as we found the paragraph from which the above was condensed, in several of the papers, without any credit being given.—Working Farmer.

Corn Bread.

One quart of corn meal, one pint of wheat flour, two eggs, and a little salt, with sour buttermilk sufficient to make a very stiff batter. Mix thoroughly, and then add one teaspoonfull of soda dissolved in a very little hot water.—Stir this in and pour into well-greased pans, sufficient to be one and a half or two inches thick when cooked. Place in a hot oven, and bake until done, say half an hour. Carry to the table hot. If all should not be used, bake over again, and it is about as good as when first baked.

Half a pint of flour and one egg will be very good, but not quite as good as the above.

The sourer the buttermilk the better, if it is not bitter. Success depends very much on the due proportion of acid and alkali.

Fine meal makes much better bread than coarse. If it does not keep as well, provide less at one time. Dent or gourd-seed corn makes better bread than flint corn.

Some are shocked at the idea of eating drugs with their food, and exclaim against the use of alkali in cooking.—Just such consider that acid neutralizes the caustic property of the alkali; and if they never eat anything more unnatural than that, they will do well.—Gen. Telegraph. M.

Agents, Attention!

DO you wish to find good employment, and make money with little or no investment, and without interfering with your regular business? If you do, read this advertisement.

C. E. Todd & Co. of 392 Broome street, New York, are manufacturing and selling massive gold Pencils for $5 each, (which are cheap at that price,) and they throw in a gift or prize with each Pencil, worth from $2 up to $5, $10, $15, $20, $25, $30, $50, $75, $100, $200, and $500. Don't cry out, "Humbug! Lottery!" It's no such thing. The Pencils are sold at their cash value, and all the profits over the first cost are thrown into the gifts, which actually cost the purchaser nothing.—The prizes are distributed on a simple plan of drawing, which would take too much room to explain, but which has never failed to give complete satisfaction. We have drawn and sent to purchasers 183 gold watches of various prices, 74 purses of gold dollars, 238 gold lockets, 850 gold chains, and a corresponding number of other prizes, within two months.

THERE ARE NO BLANKS, but every purchaser draws a prize worth $2 certain, and it stands thousands of chances to be a higher figure.

We want a good agent in every neighborhood throughout the country, to solicit purchasers, and any agent, to be successful, must have a Pencil and prize to exhibit.—We pay agents $1 cash for each purchaser he obtains, and the first person in any neighborhood who applies for a Pencil and gift, will receive the agency for that locality. Should an agent obtain a valuable prize to exhibit with his Pencil, he would have little difficulty in obtaining scores of purchasers, and making it a paying business.

A NEW IDEA! READ!! READ!!!—We ask nobody to send their money till they know what prize they draw. Any person wishing to try their luck, can first send us their name and address, and we will make their drawing and inform them by return mail what prize they drew, when they can send on and take the Pencil and prize, or not, whichever they choose. We give this privilege only once to a purchaser. After the first drawing, every purchaser will be required to send in advance, through the authorized agent. We will send with each drawing the number taken out, with full description of the plan of drawing. Address C. E. TODD & CO.,

Hover's Liquid Hair Dye.

THE testimony of Prof. Booth and Dr. Brinckle having previously been published, the following is now added:

From Prof. McCLOSKEY, formerly Professor of Theory and Practice of Medicine in the Female Medical College of Pennsylvania, and late Professor of Surgery in the American College of Medicine, &c.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27th, 1853.

MR. JOSEPH E. HOVER:—A trial of your Liquid Hair Dye will convince the most skeptical, that it is a safe, elegant, and efficacious preparation. Unlike many others, it has in several instances proved serviceable in the cure of some cutaneous eruptions on the head, and I have no hesitation in commending it to those requiring such an application.

Very respectfully,
J. F. X. McCLOSKEY, M. D.,
475 Race St., above 13th.

Important Discovery.

CONSUMPTION and all Diseases of the Lungs and Throat are positively Cured by Inhalation, which conveys the remedies to the cavities in the lungs through the air passages, and coming in direct contact with the disease, neutralizes the tubercular matter, allays the cough, causes a free and easy expectoration, heals the lungs, purifies the blood, imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving that tone and energy so indispensable for the restoration of health. To be able to state confidently that Consumption is curable by inhalation, is to me a source of unalloyed pleasure. It is as much under the control of medical treatment as any other formidable disease; ninety out of every hundred cases can be cured in the first stages, and fifty per cent. in the second; but in the third stage it is impossible to save more than five per cent, for the Lungs are so cut up by the disease as to bid defiance to medical skill.—Even, however, in the last stages, Inhalation affords extraordinary relief to the suffering attending this fearful scourge, which annually destroys ninety-five thousand persons in the United States alone; and a correct calculation shows that of the present population of the earth, eighty millions are destined to fill the Consumptive's grave.

Truly the quiver of death has no arrow so fatal as Consumption. In all ages it has been the great enemy of life, for it spares neither age nor sex, but sweeps off alike the brave, the beautiful, the graceful and the gifted. By the help of that Supreme Being from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, I am enabled to offer to the afflicted a permanent and speedy cure in Consumption. The first cause of tubercles is from impure blood, and the immediate effect produced by their deposition in the lungs is to prevent the free admission of air into the air cells, which causes a weakened vitality through the entire system. Then surely it is more rational to expect greater good from medicines entering the cavities of the lungs than from those administered through the stomach; the patient will always find the lungs free and the breathing easy, after Inhaling remedies. Thus, Inhalation is a local remedy, nevertheless it acts constitutionally, and with more power and certainty than remedies administered by the stomach. To prove the powerful and direct influence of this mode of administration, chloroform inhaled will entirely destroy sensibility in a few minutes, paralyzing the entire nervous system, so that a limb may be amputated without the slightest pain; inhaling the ordinary burning gas will destroy life in a few hours.

The inhalation of ammonia will rouse the system when fainting or apparently dead.—The odor of many of the medicines is perceptible in the skin a few minutes after being inhaled, and may be immediately detected in the blood. A convincing proof of the constitutional effects of inhalation, is the fact that sickness is always produced by breathing foul air—is not this positive evidence that proper remedies, carefully prepared and judiciously administered through the lungs should produce the happiest results? During eighteen years' practice, many thousands suffering from diseases of the lungs and throat, have been under my care, and I have effected many remarkable cures, even after the sufferers had been pronounced in the last stages, which fully satisfies me that consumption is no longer a fatal disease. My treatment of consumption is original, and founded on long experience and a thorough investigation. My perfect acquaintance with the nature of tubercles, &c., enables me to distinguish readily, the various forms of disease that simulate consumption, and apply the proper remedies, rarely being mistaken even in a single case. This familiarity, in connection with certain pathological and microscopic discoveries, enables me to relieve the lungs from the effects of contracted chests, to enlarge the chest, purify the blood, impart to it renewed vitality, giving energy and tone to the entire system.

Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the United States and Canadas by patients communicating their symptoms by letter. But the cure would be more certain if the patient should pay me a visit, which would give me an opportunity to examine the lungs and enable me to prescribe with much greater certainty, and then the cure could be effected without my seeing the patient again.
