

Rural Economy.
"By the way, the plough would drive, better than either hold or drive."
New Mode of Grafting.
An eccentric ingenious friend of mine has discovered a new mode of grafting fruit, which he says he has discovered and successfully tested, and which he says is really a new mode of grafting. It is really a new mode of grafting, and, if it is to be successfully practiced, and if it is to be ascertained by fruit growers, many of whom will, I hope, after reading this, try it at once. As I know the gentleman who communicated this to me will not write it out for you see any one else, I take the liberty to "steal some of his thunder," for the public good. He says that last spring (a year ago now) he cut some scions of pears and other fruit very late in the season, after the buds had become very much swollen, and being in a great hurry while setting his grafts, on account of other and more pressing business, he hastily contrived a quicker mode of grafting than the old-fashioned method, although he had no very strong hopes that the grafts would live, and was, in fact, very indifferent whether they did or not. His mode was simply this:—Instead of cutting off a limb and making a cleft, he took any desired limb that was large enough to admit of it, and made a gash into it with his knife, downwards and diagonally to the grain of the wood, at about the angle that a limb would naturally grow, not deep enough to weaken the limb too much; indeed, the limb must be large enough to admit of a gash or cut deep enough to let the scion in, so as to secure it firmly. The limb, before the scion is inserted, looks as though it had received a light blow with a sharp hatchet, at about the angle that a man would naturally strike with a hatchet. The gash must be smooth and the bark stripped out a margin of it. He then shaved off the lower end of the scion, as in cleft-grafting, and inserted it in the gash up to the bark of the scion, so that when done, the bark of the scion and the bark of the grafted limb met evenly on both sides of the scion. All that remained to do, was to put wax in the gash on each side of the scion into the gash. To his great surprise, the majority of his scions so grafted lived, and are now thriving, although hastily and carelessly set. This year he has improved his method, by using a sharp three-fourth or one-quarter inch (or even in some cases one-half inch) "firmer chisel," which he drives into the limb, or even into the trunk of a tree when not too old and large, instead of using a knife and making a gash.
He has grafted a great deal this spring in this way, and he says with unusual success. In this way he has grafted into the trunks of young thirty trees that were four and even six inches in diameter, and he says more of his grafts live than any that he ever grafted in any other way. His large experience and practical skill in this line, entitles his opinions to the respect which induces me to write you on the subject. He points out the following decided advantages of this over the cleft-grafting.
Any one can do it. It is not so tedious and laborious as the old modes.— Economy of time.— Limbs can be made to grow in any desired place or position on the tree.— Economy of wax.— It does not have all the greater certainty for that grafts will live.
The lower ends of the scions need not be so long and thin as in cleft-grafting usually, but may be more "stunt," (as we say of a wedge); that is to say, shorter, and the sides more inclined to each other.
It has just occurred to me, Messrs. Editors, that I may be a little presuming in treating this as a new mode of grafting; I perhaps ought rather to call it new to me, and other fruit raisers in this section, while it may not be so to you. It has been tried by others here this spring than my eccentric friend, and reported very favorably of by all. I have not tried it, as I have no trees this year to graft, but I mean to try it next year, unless tried and condemned by some of your correspondents or yourself, with sufficient reasons to convince me of its futility. If it is not new to some of your experienced correspondents, I hope they will report their opinions after actual trial, and their success, as, if it be a successful mode as any, I shall be induced to set more grafts next year than I ever before. STEVEN.

C. H. McCormick's REAPER AND MOWER.—I am having the Agency for C. H. McCormick's Reaper and Mower, and offer to the Farmers this year two machines, the two-horse machine and the four-horse machine, and will guarantee fair chances and full satisfaction to any person who may want to purchase a machine. Any man purchasing a machine from me may work the machine against any other machine during hay-making and harvest, and if it does not give better satisfaction than any other machine with which it may be worked, they are at liberty to return it. Farmers will send in their orders to myself, at Fairfield, David Schwartz, at Littleton, or to Mr. Herish, at New Oxford, as early as possible, and say which sized machine they want, as we are taking in orders now for the coming season.

The Liver Invigorator.
PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD, compounded entirely from GUMS, is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines now before the public, and acts as a Cathartic, earlier, milder, and more effective than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver, to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the usual feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build up with unusual rapidity.
The Liver is one of the principal regulators of the human system, and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the stomach fails, the bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the best remedies is this Liver Invigorator, which has been the result of more than 20 years' study in a practical remedy, which it is now a permanent remedy, and one to which it is liable.
To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with Liver Complaint, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and a conviction is certain. It is a safe and certain remedy, and has had matter from the system, supplying in their place a flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, purging the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease, and effecting a radical cure.
BILIOUS ATTACKS are cured, and WATER-BRUISES prevented, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.
One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.
One dose taken before retiring, prevents COICHOLEA.
One dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures COICHOLEA.
One dose taken after each meal will cure DYSPEPSIA.
One dose of two teaspoonfuls will relieve SICK HEADACHE, and prevent its return.
One dose taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.
Only one dose immediately relieves CHOLERA, which does often repeated is a sure cure for CHOLERA MORBUS, and a preventive of CHOLERA.
Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.
One dose taken for Jaundice removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.
One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes food digest well.
One dose often repeated cures CHRONIC DIARRHOEA in its worst forms, while SWELLING and BILIOUS complaints yield almost to the first dose.
One or two doses cure attacks caused by Worms in Children; there is no surer, safer, or speedier remedy in the world, as it never fails.
A few bottles cure Dropsy, by exciting the absorbents.
We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventive for FEVER and AGUE, CHILL FEVER, and all FEVERS of a BILIOUS TYPHUS. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.
All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.
Mix water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.
This is a new discovery, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver complaint, from the most chronic and obstinate cases, which have been pronounced incurable, and which fully satisfies me that consumption is no longer a fatal disease. My treatment of consumption is original, and founded on long experience and a thorough investigation. My perfect acquaintance with the nature of tubercular consumption, and the judiciously reading the various forms of disease that simulate consumption, and apply the proper remedies, rarely being mistaken even in a single case. This familiarity, in connection with certain pathological and microscopic discoveries, enables me to relieve the lungs from the effects of contracted chest, to enlarge the chest, purify the blood, impart to it renewed vitality, giving energy and tone to the entire system.
Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the United States and Canada by patient communicating their symptoms by letter. But the case will be more certain if the patient should pay me a visit, which would give me an opportunity to examine the lungs and enable me to prescribe with much greater certainty, and then the cure could be effected without my seeing the patient again.
