

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 8, 1859. Gettysburg, Pa.

Democratic State Ticket. For Auditor General, RICHARDSON W. WHITFIELD, Philadelphia. For Surveyor General, JOHN ROWE, Franklin county.

News, etc. The President of the United States, accompanied by Miss Lane, Mrs. Secretary Thompson, Mrs. Wm. M. Brown, M. Thompson, King, Judge Bovill, and Hon. Augustus Schell, arrived at Washington, on Tuesday evening, at six o'clock, from Bedford Springs. Several of the members of the Cabinet were waiting to receive the President, who appears to be in the enjoyment of excellent health and spirits.

The Franklin Railroad was formally opened from Chambersburg to GreenCastle on Tuesday week. Great time.

The Hon. Gerrit Smith, upon reading the Hon. Daniel C. Sicken's late letter in regard to his assumption of his "maternal relations" with his wife, as a Vermont paper styles it, immediately wrote, says the Oswego Times, that gentleman a letter approving the condonation of his wife's offence, and has invited him and his wife to visit Peterboro.

Wm. Coward was tried in Pittsburg, Pa., on Tuesday, for bigamy. He proved that his first wife was a drunkard, and that he therefore married a second woman, when no cause of action was found, and Coward set at liberty.

A little son of George Dilling, of Martinsburg, Pa., was with his father in the harvest field, one day last week, riding one of the high horses in the team, when a clap of thunder frightened the horses, they ran off, throwing the boy off and killing him instantly.

Cous. Stewart, the father of the United States Navy, was 81 years of age, on the 28th of July.

On the field at Solferino, Francis Joseph is said to have addressed an angry reproach to one of his oldest Generals, who instantly broke his sword across his knees and threw it at his feet; the Emperor burst into tears and held out both his hands, begging pardon for the offence he had given.

A negro named Pompey, tied another named Eliza, to a tree near Diawiddle Court-house, Va., a few days ago, and whipped him to death with several whips. Cause-making love to his wife.

A young man, eighteen years of age, last Tuesday, walked from Hartford, Conn., to Worcester, Mass., in the rain, making the sixty-five miles in sixteen hours.

Miss Maggie Mitchell, the actress, was presented with a valuable riding horse, a few days since, by her admirers in Richmond, Va.

The Office-Seeker's Choice. The meeting of a crowd of Know Nothing Black Republican politicians, in this place, on Monday last, does not deserve the name of Convention, in its usual acceptation. So small and dull a political gathering never was had here before. Quite a number of the townships were not represented at all. Fully one-half of the members of the so-called Convention have been earnest in the "wild hunt after office" ever since Know Nothingism started. Many of them had "the taste" during the existence of the old Whig party, but discovering that they could not look for more from that quarter, they went into the movement designed to wipe out and supersede it, in order that in the new organization they might fare better. They have been unfortunate thus far, and we are sure they will continue to "enjoy the same blessing," their keen appetites to the contrary notwithstanding.

The ticket, as previously arranged by the Star managers and endorsed by the so-called Convention, is composed of—For Assembly, Sargent DUNBAR; Commissioner, JACOB HANSEN; Director, CHRISTIAN MCKENZIE; Auditor, JACOB S. HOLLYGERS; Surveyor, JOHN CUMMINGS; District Attorney, Wm. B. McCULLAN; Treasurer, E. G. FAYNE-STECK.

It was for weeks a question among the outsiders, whether Mr. Darborow should be risked again, they justly fearing that after all his loud professions in favor of reducing the salary of members of the Legislature, the Journal of the session might exhibit a not very consistent course on his part—and to attempt to deny the correctness of that record they have heretofore discovered to be an uphill business. But as he had already paid for his chance in the race, it was decided that it would be unkind not to let him have it. They do not count on his success with any degree of confidence, however.

The nomination for Commissioner has surprised the public. How it came to pass that Mr. Hansen, who is little more than a temporary resident of the county, and a dollar's man in means, is not a taxpayer on a dollar's worth of real estate within its borders, should be chosen over the heads of JAMES MANSUELL, of A. DAVIS SUYDERS, and Wm. S. ORR, cannot be otherwise regarded than as a marvellous performance. The public will not believe that his assumption of the authorship of the celebrated "Hosser Letter" was sufficient to bring about his success, rather than that of either of the other gentlemen named. There must have been some other controlling influence at work. A thoughtful friend of our fellow suggests that a particular intimate of Mr. Hansen's, who has adopted the profession of Office, and whom, in the absence of anything else, the Commissioner's Clerkship would suit very well, and, further, whose advice is taken as gospel by the dark lantern managers here—had a leading hand in the game which resulted in the choice made. Stranger facts have been concocted before—and have failed, as this will.

Considerable outside interest was manifested in regard to the nomination for the Treasurer. Messrs. HANSEN, HARR and JOHN WINTERKNECHT, it was sometimes heard, generally thought would have the field to themselves, and that the choice would necessarily fall upon one or the other of them. The rank and file of the party seemed so to wish. But it soon became evident that one of the leaders in the managerial department desired it for himself, and, of course, there was no gaining him—unpleasant and unjust to the other gentlemen as such a course might be. The nomination of Mr. Fahnstock is, under the circumstances, regarded with decided disfavor by many of the members of his party, as it deserves to be.

We may have occasion to allude to this ticket again. It is a wretchedly bungled affair, and with anything like effort on the part of the Democracy, will be beaten by hundreds. If the Opposition cannot bring out "bags" of better "wind and bottom" than these, they had better save themselves much anxiety, labor and expence, by giving up the field in Adams at once.

Among the distinguished visitors to Bedford Springs during the past week we noticed the names of Hon. George Parise, of Pittsburgh; Hon. Levi H. King, of Lebanon; Chairman of the People's State Committee; George T. Thorn, Judge Shars, and Judge Woodnut; William S. Stewart, and John H. Diehl, of Philadelphia; John W. Killinger, of Lebanon; J. E. Hiestler, of Lancaster; George M. Leaman, of Reading; Wm. A. C. Lawrence, of Dauphin; James M. Watson, of Washington; Hon. E. McPherson, of this place, and President Buchanan. We hope they will excuse us for mentioning their names in the same article with J. B. and his body-guard.—Gettysburg Star of 29th ult.

No one but "a fool or a knave" could have written the above paragraph. We publish it in order to show the depth of meanness to which the Star can descend when dealing with a political opponent. Just think of it! Begging pardon of George M. Lawson, for instance, or "Hon. E. McPherson," if you please, for "mentioning their names in the same article with" that of the honored and venerable Statesman who fills the Chief Magistracy of this Republic! Could party malignity go farther! His name and fame will remain bright upon the pages of our country's history, whilst most, if not all, of those at whose hands the Star asks to be "excused," shall have passed into the deepest obscurity, "unhonored and unused."

It is gratifying to know that decent men of all parties denounce the Star's article in unmeasured terms. It would likewise be gratifying to know who wrote it.

The Know Nothings and Black Republicans of Franklin county nominated their ticket on Tuesday, as follows: Senator, A. K. McClure; Assembly, James R. Brewster; Sheriff, Wm. McGrath; Director, John Stouffer; District Attorney, George Eyster; Commissioner, J. S. Good; Surveyor, David Spenser; Auditor, John Downey; Surveyor, John B. Kaufman; Coroner, Jas. S. King.

A. K. McClure, of Chambersburg, who has determined to be the Know Nothing and Black Republican nominee for Senator in this district, has sent the editors and proprietors of the Valley Spirit libel, their alleged offence being the publication of an article in that paper, charging him with corrupt acts whilst in the Legislature. Prosecutors rarely make anything by such attempts at intimidation, and we much mistake the spirit of the Spirit if the market Colonel profits any by this investment.

The potato rot prevails extensively in Rhode Island. Some farmers have ploughed up whole fields of potatoes for the purpose of replanting.

Disgraced with his Party. Stephen F. J. Trebas was an Opposition candidate for Congress in the eighth district of Kentucky, and in that capacity made an electioneering tour through the counties composing it. After thus associating with his political friends, and ascertaining their opinions and feelings, he withdrew from the contest in disgust, and joined the Democrats. In a letter to the voters of the district, he says: "This opposition party I regard as but a faction, having no measure of public policy, no motive or feeling to actuate them other than hate to democracy and love for office—and so I have charged throughout the district—a faction which, if successful, will be powerful for good, and only powerful for evil."

Regarding the Democratic party as the only truly national party of the country, and the only one capable of fighting successfully the many factions of the day, and the black republicans particularly, I believe it to be the duty of all true constitutional national men, in the present and approaching crisis of 1859, to sustain that party. Hence it is my help and support that accordingly be given. In my canvass throughout the district I endeavored to present my views fully, and which I regard as truly national, involving the best interests of the people of the whole country, as well as the naturalized citizen as the native born; and when I find those who recently the loudest in their professions of adherence to American principles now the most willing to wholly and shamefully abandon them, I re-posed to retire from the canvass, leaving those true men who have determined to support me to act as they may deem best for the good of their country.

When Secretary Cass submitted his estimate to Congress of the amount of revenue to be derived from the different sources, he was ridiculed most unsparingly. The country was suffering from the effects of the commercial revulsion; and it was argued in Opposition to the Secretary, that it was not possible to trade to revive in time to realize his anticipations. Much to the annoyance of the prophets of evil, the revenue has increased to an extent exceeding the estimates of Mr. Cass. Upon this subject the Constitution has the following:

We give below a statement of the receipts into the treasury from all sources for the three last quarters of the fiscal year just ended.—We also append the amount which was estimated for by the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report to Congress at its last session. When we take into consideration the actual receipts and the estimates upon record, it also exhibits another evidence of the thorough knowledge which the able Secretary of the Treasury possesses in all matters pertaining to the finances—above all others the most important and complicated subject belonging to human government.

Statement of the receipts into the treasury for the last three quarters of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1859.—From customs, lands, and miscellaneous sources.

The editor of the Luzerne Union, talks square up to the Oppositionists and gives them to understand that this fall, in that county, they will "have to encounter the Democrats banded united, confident and determined, marshalled under the lead of true, earnest, popular and competent candidates—the Democratic party as last fall, broken and dismayed—not the Democratic party as in '54, betrayed by traitors and conquered by fraud," and assures them that the Opposition cannot "nominate a candidate who will come within 800 votes of an election."

The Right Way to Talk.—The Somerset Democrat, a paper that was decidedly anti-Lecompton, as long as that question was a living issue, comes up boldly, in a recent number, to the support of the Democratic party and its principles. It says:—"The Democracy of this county are firmly united on all the leading principles of the party. The day for divisions on minor questions has gone by. Foreverism can no more affect the honest men of the party than Black Republicanism or Know Nothingism. Our Union is too valuable, our principles too highly cherished and the people's good too important to be thrown away for a mere Opposition potage."

One of the hardest contests that has ever been fought in Ohio will take place this fall. Both the contestants are already in the field. The Democrats are arrayed on the side of order, peace, the Union, our free institutions, and the Constitution of the United States, against the Abolitionist and Know Nothing fanatics, who would demolish the confederacy, destroy our freedom, plot against our peace, and under the miserable plea of political expediency bring the people into collision with the supreme authorities of the general Government.

A correspondent of the Washington Constitution writes, two weeks ago, as follows from Bedford: "President Buchanan is still here, and is visited by large numbers of his old Pennsylvania friends. A delegation of Bedford county farmers went by their way to his rooms on Saturday last. Mr. Buchanan receives these sons of toil as becoming a Democratic President, and they seem to appreciate fully his genial and warm-hearted bearing. Some of them, I was told, came thirty miles to take the Old Chief by the hand. Demagogues may slander and revile, but the people—the great popular heart of the Union—are with the Administration of James Buchanan."

The Way Things Look. A friend in a neighboring county, writing to us on business, inquires, in a postscript, "how things politically look in York county?" In answer we will say, that "things" are beginning to work, and look in this region, very much as they always do, when the Opposition are about to get an "all-fired thrashing." To those who expect that a want of organization, or "family jars," will prevent us from wheeling the white Democratic army into line this fall, we frankly extend the Milesian caution, that "they may expect to be disappointed!"—York Gazette.

The President will remain in Cumberland to-night, and will proceed to Bedford tomorrow. He was provided with a special car by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.—Argus.

Of course a Democratic President cannot travel in the same car with ordinary people.—Daily News.

It is remarked, as an evidence of the yet unattained state of Italy, that since the Spanish war of succession (1701) Austria has lost and regained Lombardy no fewer than twelve times.

Death of the Hon. Richard Rush. The Washington Constitution of Saturday evening announces the death of the Hon. Richard Rush, at Philadelphia, on Saturday morning, at an advanced age. Mr. Rush was the son of Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Rush was appointed Attorney General by President Madison in 1814, upon the resignation of the Hon. William Pinkney, of Maryland. In 1817 he was appointed minister to England by President Monroe, and he afterwards published a volume of his "Recollections at the Court of St. James." In 1825 he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by John Quincy Adams, and made an elaborate report in favor of a protective tariff. He was afterwards nominated as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the same ticket with Mr. Adams, who was defeated for the Presidency by General Jackson; was afterwards identified with Democratic politics, but we believe never again entered public life.

Mr. Rush married the daughter of Dr. Murray, of Annapolis, and a sister of James Murray, Esq., of Baltimore, through whom he was connected with several prominent families of Maryland.

Elections were held in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and several other States, last week, of which we give the results as far as received.

Kentucky.—Magoffin, Dem., is elected Governor by 5,000 to 7,000 majority. The present Governor is Morehead, Know Nothing. The Democrats also elect seven, and probably eight, of the ten members of Congress, with a majority in the Legislature, which will secure a Democratic United States Senator, in the place of J. J. Crittenden, Opposition.

P. S.—The Cincinnati Enquirer has re-elected Governor in forty counties of Kentucky, which show a Democratic gain of near 3,000 on the last Presidential election, when Buchanan carried the State by a majority of 7,200.

Alabama.—A. B. Moore, Dem., is re-elected Governor by an immense majority, and the Democrats have elected ALL the Congressmen.

Massachusetts.—The Democrats have elected a larger number than usual of the officers in St. Louis, but the balance of the State has not been heard from.

No definite returns from Tennessee.

Giving Them Notice.—The editor of the Luzerne Union, talks square up to the Oppositionists and gives them to understand that this fall, in that county, they will "have to encounter the Democrats banded united, confident and determined, marshalled under the lead of true, earnest, popular and competent candidates—the Democratic party as last fall, broken and dismayed—not the Democratic party as in '54, betrayed by traitors and conquered by fraud," and assures them that the Opposition cannot "nominate a candidate who will come within 800 votes of an election."

The Sabath School of the Bethlehem Church (Union) at Bendersville will have a Pic Nic in some grove convenient to that town, on Saturday, the 13th inst. A general invitation is extended to the public, and an interesting time may be expected. A Brass Band from Gettysburg will probably be present.

A Pic Nic will come off, in Snyder's grove, on the Conowingo, on Saturday, the 27th inst. The committee will, as are an effort to make it a "tip-top" affair.

Degree Conferred.—The honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon Prof. JACOB, of this place, at the late Commencement of Wittenburg College.

At the late Commencement of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, the degree of A. M. was conferred upon A. H. DILL, Esq., late of this place. Mr. D. left on Wednesday last, for Tennessee, in which State he intends to reside permanently.

In New Quarters. The County Commissioners removed into their room in the new Court House on Monday, and the Register and Clerk of the Courts followed suit on Tuesday. The Prothonotary's vault will be fully shelled in a day or two, when that officer will also change quarters. The rooms removed into are all spacious and airy, with any quantity of light, and are in every respect admirably adapted for the purposes intended, as experience will demonstrate.

In passing down Middle street, on Thursday, we noticed that Mr. POWERS was engaged with a force of workmen in putting up a flight of very solid granite steps in the rear of the building. The granite work in front will also be up in a few days.

At about 3 o'clock on Friday morning last, our citizens were startled by the cry of "fire!" "fire!" Flames were seen issuing from the stable of Mr. ANZEN M. TOWNSHIP, in Franklin street, near High, and before they could be subdued, the building and its contents, including a horse, set of harness, two or three tons of hay, lumber, and other articles, were consumed. A stack of hay adjoining was partly burned. There was no insurance on the property, and the loss will fall severely upon Mr. T. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Sabath School of the Bethlehem Church (Union) at Bendersville will have a Pic Nic in some grove convenient to that town, on Saturday, the 13th inst. A general invitation is extended to the public, and an interesting time may be expected. A Brass Band from Gettysburg will probably be present.

On Tuesday afternoon the log barn of Mr. Franklin G. Emmert, about two and a half miles from town, was struck by lightning and set on fire. The conflagration was so rapid that before effective assistance could be summoned the building and its contents were consumed. There was no insurance upon either, and the loss is estimated at one thousand dollars.—Hanover Spectator.

The President and Directors of the Hanover Branch Rail Road Company have declared a dividend of one dollar per share on the capital stock, payable on and after the 10th inst.

We publish the following from the Erie (Pa.) Observer: "Talk about Picoalumni, Strasstown, and other fashionable singers; there is not a mother's son or daughter in our goodly city, or in the country either, that cannot attend a better concert, 'without money and without price,' every day of their lives, if they have a mind. All they have to do is to get up at four in the morning, throw up the window, if it is not already up, which it ought to be, and let in the voice of the birds. Listen! there is a robin—can Picoalumni beat that? there goes an Oriole, Jenny Lind is nowhere; there that Blue-bird, how it stretches its little throat, and tries to lift its voice above the rest of the feathered host! And now they are in chorus, Robin, Oriole, Blue-bird, Catbird, even to the little Wren; did it ever produce anything equal to it?—did mortal voice ever sing his praise half as effectively? We doubt it! And yet how few enjoy it—simply because it costs nothing, and is not the fashion."

And—because the bird "concoct" comes off a little too early in the day! Say, friend SLOAN, couldn't the hour be changed? Unless it is, we must continue to refuse your "shaw" the benefit of our countenance.

A letter from a gentleman residing in Iowa to a friend in this place, dated July 29th, says: "I see by the newspapers, that Pennsylvania is a little ahead of Iowa in cutting her wheat. Our farmers are all dry and will finish this week. I have fifty acres of very good wheat, and forty-five acres as good as good for corn as I ever saw—seven acres have been in good standing for the last two weeks."

It has been truly remarked that Sarlinia, by accepting Lombardy under the first-mentioned name of Peter Kestor, after eating his dinner laid himself down on a bench to take a nap. He fell asleep, and while he was increasing and chafing around him, a bull dog, no doubt perceiving the danger, lay down in a snoring sleep, and catching the man in time to save his life. The bull dog, while the man was sleeping in his arms at one end when he was awakened by the interference of the dog.

Senators in Religious Circles.—The New York Evening Post announces that Rev. Dr. Bellows had proposed in an address before the united clergymen of the Unitarian Church, the establishment of a new Catholic Church, different from the one in New York, the omission of what may be deemed as absolute, erroneous or needless dogmas, but preserving the attractive features, the ritual, the imaginative symbols, and the sacred Catholicism which help to give the Roman Catholic Church its popular and universal character. The new sect is to be designated the "Brother Church."

Letter from the President Declining a Renomination. PITTSBURG, July 30.—The following letter, from the President, was received this morning, by Hon. Wilson M. Chandler: My Dear Sir: I have received your kind note of the 19th inst., with the leader from the Post. Whilst I appreciate, as it deserves, the ability and friendship displayed in the editorial, I yet regret that it has been published.—My determination, not under any circumstances, to become a candidate for re-election, is final and conclusive. My best judgment and strong inclination unite in favor of this course. To omit doubts upon my predetermined purpose is calculated to impair my influence, in carrying important measures, and afford a pretext for saying that they have been defeated by the desire to be renominated. With the kindest regards, &c. Respectfully, your friend, JAMES BUCHANAN.

Primary Election at Baltimore.—Baltimore, Aug. 2.—The Ward primary elections of the American party are being held to-night in this city. There has been a great deal of rowdiness at the polls, and the boxes of the 20th Ward have been smashed. The struggle is between the rowdy and the respectable portion of the party; in selecting delegates to the Nominating Convention, the indications are that the rowdies will be successful.

Sagacity of a Dog.—At a fire recently in Philadelphia, says the Daily News, one of the workmen, named Peter Kestor, after eating his dinner laid himself down on a bench to take a nap. He fell asleep, and while he was increasing and chafing around him, a bull dog, no doubt perceiving the danger, lay down in a snoring sleep, and catching the man in time to save his life.
