HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE

HARRISBURG, January 24, 1860.
Editor:—It is becoming so fashionable to have a correspondent in the Capitol, with the hope of... some of your numerous readers.

The wheels of modern legislation have been seriously clogged this far by partisan discussions, and the record is shamefully encumbered with political speeches and unimportant resolutions. The Republican majority in the Senate and House has been used for party ends. They have the power to rule, and have taken a "rod of iron," so to speak, to wield it with terror-striking effect over the heads of any refractory member on the Democratic side of the Hill. After making their own time to discuss the tariff resolutions, and after forcing the Democrats to vote against them, by reason of an unfair amendment, they refused to permit a faithful record of the proceedings to be published. In violation of universally established parliamentary law, they denied to the Democrats of the House the right to place on the journal their reasons for voting against the tariff resolutions. This unprecedented determination to suppress the truth of history, should be widely known, and the people of the country apprised of the effort made here by the Republicans to place the Pennsylvania Democracy in a false position before the public. I know from general conversation with the Democratic members here, that they were willing to endorse both the President's and the Governor's views upon the revenue question, as expressed in their late messages, but they could not have the privilege of recording their votes accordingly by reason of the delusive partisan amendment referred to.

The same ungenerous course was followed in the selection of Committees to try the contested election cases in Philadelphia. For the first Committee, every Democrat was challenged; and for the second, only one Democrat was allowed to act. The first case has been disposed of, and the Democrat granted leave of absence, but I trust only till the assembling of the next session. The second case is undecided. Still, the 306 majority given for the Democrat, will not save him, if there can be invented any pretence for turning him out.

So much in this letter about the proscription course of the Republican majority; and now for a few paragraphs about their economy.

Most of your readers doubtless remember the size of the quarto Daily Record, published at the expense of the State. This Record is published daily when the Legislature is in session, and the contract for printing it was heretofore given to the lowest bidder. Last year the Republican printer here, offered to print it for $5 60 per page per day, and owing to the conditions of an unexpired contract with another, it could not be given to him. This year he demanded $7 per page, and the Republicans gave it to him, and refused to entertain any competition; thus giving their party editor some $11 20 per day more for the printing, than he offered to do for one year ago; and no doubt, $25 per year more than others would have contracted to do the same work for, had they been allowed to bid for the job.

Again, these peculiar economists have increased the petty officials about the Capitol, to a charitable extent. They elected an old debilitated man upon their party, into office, and then had to elect a more active man to be his assistant, at the same salary as the principal. So it goes, and the more you know these party factors will end, unless the people take matters into their own hands, and turn the politicians out. It is truly beyond the power of a State Poor Law to do the work of the special committee of Republican legislators, who are keeping all at a "house-keeping" all the time. Under present laws, the House, like the Clerk of the Court, has authority to provide for the expenses necessary for the use of the members while engaged in the performance of their legislative duties. As a result, the Republican Clerk rendered it known how many bills for his party reported to have been purchased for a mere trifle here for the use of the members.

Among which, I have been permitted to examine one, and I deem it my duty to give you a few lines, as it is of some interest in the Commonwealth. The bill would be too lengthy for publication, hence I send you the following summary:

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 6, 1860.

Gen. BOWMAN has been elected Printer to the United States Senate, which is a matter of sincere gratification to his numerous friends. The persistent and violent opposition which he had to encounter, makes his triumph doubly glorious. His election is a complete vindication for the slander and obloquy which were heaped upon him.

The recent Democratic Convention of Susquehanna county, adopted resolutions heartily endorsing the policy of the National Administration, reiterating a firm adherence to the Cincinnati platform, and desiring as a Presidential candidate a National man, who will fearlessly support the Constitution and all its guarantees.

The Democratic Convention of Allegheny county was held on Wednesday week. The resolutions adopted are soundly Democratic, and sustain the principles and policy of the National Administration. A resolution expressing a preference for DOUGLAS, for a Presidency, was laid on the table by a vote of 73 to 31. The Delegates are unimpaired for Governor.

The Rev. Joseph Addison Alexander, D. D., professor of Oriental Literature in the theological seminary of the Presbyterian Church in Princeton, died on Saturday week; after a very short illness.

The Hanover Democrat has passed into the hands of Messrs. I. W. G. WILKINSON and F. J. BAUER, by whom it will hereafter be issued.

The Legislature of Maryland has passed a new Police Law for Baltimore. Good!

Gov. Dennison, of Ohio, (Black Republican) it is reported, refuses to surrender John Brown, Jr., who has been demanded as a witness before the investigating committee at Washington.
