While for the North it is comparatively a mere abstraction, with the South it is a question of

The numerous, powerful, pious and respectable Methodist Church has been thus divided. The division was a severe shock to the Union. A similar division of the great Democratic party, should it continue, would rend asunder one of the most powerful links which binds the Union together.

I entertain no such fearful apprehensions.

The present issue is transitory, and will contingency which can endanger the Union: and against this all Democrats, whether squatter sovereigns or popular sovereigns, will present a united resistance. Should the time ever arrive when Northern agitation and fanaticism shall proceed so far as to render the domestic firesides of the South insecure, then, and not until then, will the Union be in danger. catastrophe 1 There are in our midst numerous persons who predict the dissolution of the great Democratic party, and others who contend that is has already been dissolved. The wish is father to the thought. It has been heretofore in great paril; but when divided for the moment it has always closed up its ranks and become more powerful, even from defeat. It will never die whilst the Constitution and the Union survive.

It will live to protect and defend both. It has its roots in the very vitals of the Consti-tution, and like one of the ancient cedars of Lebanon, it will flourish to afford shelter and protection to that sacred instrument, and to shield it against every storm of faction (Renewed applance.)

Now, friends and fellow-citizens, it is probable that this is the last political speech that I shall ever make. (A voice—"We hope not!") It is now nearly forty years since I first came to Washington as a member of Congress and I wish to say this night that, during that whole period, I have received nothing but kindness and attention.

Washington was then comparatively a small town; now it has grown to be a great and beautiful city; and the first wish of my heart is that its citizens may enjoy uninterrupted health and prosperity. I thank you for the kind attention you have paid to me, and now bid you all good night. (Prolonged cheering.)-

Who Oppose the Union ?

The Democratic papers, par excellence, who are loudest in opposition to the plan of union recommended by the State Central Committee, are as follows, viz:

Philadelphia Press, edited by the Clerk of the Republican House of Representatives, an office worth from $6,000 to $10,000 a year!

Harrisburg State Scattinel, edited by a New Jossey adventures, who came to this State. Jarsey adventurer, who came to this State something less than two years ago, and who has never yet, it is believed, voted a regular ticket anywhere!

The People's party of Wilmington. Del. met in the City Hall, on Saturday evening week, for the purpose of electing delegates to the State convention, to be held at Dover on the 25th instant. The Bell and Everett men, being in a majority, secured the organization. The chagrin and disappointment of the Lincolnites was hard to conceal. They had a true family quarrel over the mode of selecting the delegates—the Bellites contend-ing for the appointment of a cummittee for that purpose by the president, and the Lincolnites for an election by ballot. The former prevailed, and a committee was appointed, who reported a set of delegates to the meeting for approval. The report being agreed to, midst groans, cheers, and hisses, a motion to adjourn was carried, and the chairman vacated his seat. A Lincolnite immediately assumed the chair; and, after some viudicative language and threatening from the sore ones, which was no doubt intended as a salve for their own incerated feelings, another set of delegates was elected by ballot.
