

A DEMOCRATIC AND FAMILY JOURNAL.

By H. J. STAHLER. "TRUTH IS MIGHTY AND WILL PREVAIL." TWO DOLLARS A-YEAR. No. 30. 48d Year. GETTYSBURG, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1861.

THE COMPILER is published every Monday morning, by HENRY J. STAHLER, at $1.75 per annum if paid strictly in advance...

National Hotel, LITTLE TOWN, ADAMS CO., PA.—The undersigned, having leased the National Hotel, Railroad House, in Gettysburg, Pa., has the honor to inform the public of the fact...

100,000 Guarantee. BUCK WHITE LEAD AND WASHINGTON ZINC. BUCK LEAD. 100 pounds will cover as much surface as 120 pounds of other White Lead.

Only One Dollar Each. 10,000 ENGRAVINGS OF THE BIBLE'S PRAYER FOR SALE.—VALUABLE PROPERTY GIVEN AWAY!

Health. Health, says an exchange, like virtue, seems more easy to acquire than to believe. It is not, indeed, the virtue of the body, and only to be attained by compliance with a system of rigid rules...

The Human Figure. The proportions of the human figure are strictly mathematical. The whole figure is six times the length of the foot.

Recommendations. We invite attention to some of the recommendations of the Hon. J. M. McKim, President of the Board of Commissioners of the City of New York...

Photography. ALL ITS BRANCHES, executed in the best style known in the art, at C. G. CRANE'S GALLERY, 522 Arch Street, East of High Street, Philadelphia.

The Muse.

GIRLS AND WIVES. Somebody has written the following about the girls, and set it afloat: God bless the girls, Their eyes and curls, Blend with our evening dreams; They haunt our lives, Like spirits who haunt the night...

Miscellaneous.

Health. Health, says an exchange, like virtue, seems more easy to acquire than to believe. It is not, indeed, the virtue of the body, and only to be attained by compliance with a system of rigid rules...

The Human Figure. The proportions of the human figure are strictly mathematical. The whole figure is six times the length of the foot.

Recommendations. We invite attention to some of the recommendations of the Hon. J. M. McKim, President of the Board of Commissioners of the City of New York...

Photography. ALL ITS BRANCHES, executed in the best style known in the art, at C. G. CRANE'S GALLERY, 522 Arch Street, East of High Street, Philadelphia.

Peculiar Sheep.

In the Punjab, India, there is a breed of sheep so small that a full-grown one is not larger than one of our lambs of about four weeks old. These creatures have small bones, a full, fleshy carcass, and the mutton is excellent.

Curious Record. A correspondent of the Rural Register gives the following recipe for curing rancid butter: For 100 lbs. rancid butter, take 2 lbs. fine white powdered sugar, 2 ounces saltpetre finely pulverized, and as much fine dairy salt as you wish to add to the butter to make it to your taste.

European news is extremely warlike. The London Post states that the military operations in which Garibaldi is to take part are about to commence, and that the Italians and Hungarians have done to a perfect understanding to make a combined movement.

The National Intelligencer refutes the story that two copper-lead snakes were received at the Post Office Department in a box addressed to the President. A week or two ago two snakes were detected in the city post-office, and were immediately seized.

The Philadelphia Argus says the reason it did not have a national flag suspended from its office was because the proprietors of the North American, who occupy the opposite building, refused to allow one of a rope to be attached to their premises.

The patriot, ever resolved to stand by the constitution, and as the only course that self-preservation can justify, still may plead for peace, and by everything honorable that can operate on human conduct, may plead for it.

A diver, of Kingston, Jamaica, recently covered a thousand dollars' worth of ivory from a ship sunk in the harbor of that city over one hundred years ago.

REASONS.

Edited upon the Journal of the Senate of Pennsylvania, by the Democratic Members of that Body, for voting against the act passed on Friday, April 12, 1861, entitled "An Act for the Better Organization of the Militia of the Commonwealth."

The undersigned, members of the Senate, desire to place upon the Journal their reasons for voting against the bill passed in this body on Friday, April 12th, A. D. 1861, entitled "An Act for the better organization of the Militia of the Commonwealth."

The heavy burdens resting upon the people demand that all expenditures from the public treasury should be made with the greatest care and economy.

It is our unquestioned duty as Legislators to put this State in a condition to repel invasion, to suppress insurrection, and to protect the National flag in the land.

Most of the occupants of Faneuil Hall Market have decorated their stalls with flags and hunting, and occupants of stores and rooms on State, Washington, South Hanover, and other streets, evince a liberal display of "red, white and blue."

Washington has never, the greatest activity is going on in the War and Navy departments, all other business being laid aside for the detail work of the increase of the army and navy.

St. Louis is a wicked place. On a Sunday morning it got up a fight between two dogs and a tiger—a Brazilian animal. The tiger was killed.

THE CIVIL WAR IN BALTIMORE.

EVENTS OF SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.—THE MILITARY STILL UNDER ARMS—ENROLLMENT OF VOLUNTEERS.—ARRIVAL OF STATE VOLUNTEERS.—PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS AT COCKEYSVILLE.—THEIR FURTHER MARCH DISPUTED.—TIMOTHY ORDERED BACK.—FORT McHENRY REINFORCED.

We take the following from the Baltimore Clipper of Monday. The city on Saturday morning presented an unusual appearance, the military were moving rapidly to and fro, excited sympathizers of the South were everywhere with Confederate badges on their breasts.

All citizens leaving arms suitable for the defence of the city, and which they are willing to contribute for that purpose, are requested to deposit them at the office of the Marshal of Police, Wm. W. Brown, Mayor.

Both branches of the City Council assembled in their respective chambers at 9 o'clock, and went into secret session. After an hour this spent, the doors were thrown open.

Mr. Nicholas moved that a joint special committee be appointed to inquire into the consideration of the bill for the protection of the public property and to enforce the laws.

Under these circumstances, it is a solemn duty to inform you that it is not possible for more soldiers to pass through Baltimore unless they fight their way at every step.

Confederate States Flag Displayed. Early in the morning the flag of the Southern Confederacy was thrown to the breeze from the headquarters of the National Volunteers, on Fayette street.

THE CIVIL WAR IN BALTIMORE.

run until the existing troubles shall have moderated. During the day Holiday Street Square was in a fever, caused by the constant arrival of boxes containing arms. The first lot received was 61 cases, containing 1,227 breech-loading rifles. They were purchased from Mr. Bennett, auctioneer. The next lot consisted of 43 cases, containing 860 muskets. The police next turned their attention to the Central Male High School, where over two hundred muskets were stored.

About four o'clock a company of volunteers, commanded by Capt. Johnson, from Frederick, wheeled into the Square amid the cheering of the multitude. The company brought with them seven pieces of artillery, which had been taken from St. Timothy's Hall, at Annapolis, and took possession of several hundred muskets.

About half-past five o'clock, the Howard Dragoons, a splendid looking body of men, made their appearance in Holiday Square, commanded by Capt. Gardner, a whole-souled fellow and a brave officer.

The Maryland Cadets, Lieut. Commanding Wm. Wilson, appointed a committee on Saturday morning to inquire into the consideration of the bill for the protection of the public property and to enforce the laws.

On Saturday afternoon, a crowd of excited young men visited the "Wecker" newspaper office, on Frederick street, near Holiday street, and ordered the proprietor to haul down a small American flag that was flying from the window and place in its stead the Confederate flag.

Yesterday will be a day that in after times will supply many a theme for the fireside. The day dawned most beautiful, and nature appeared as if smiling upon us with every assurance that our troubles were at an end.

Upon the receipt of the telegraphic despatches last night, the city assumed a remarkably quiet aspect, the corners of Baltimore and South Streets and Holiday square became in a short time nearly deserted.

Another report was circulated, that if the troops were attacked, Fort McHenry would hold the only one generally believed, and the Seventh Regiment had landed at Annapolis and would move forward, and at a given time enter our city in conjunction with the Federal troops at Cockeysville.

At four o'clock, a special messenger arrived from Cockeysville, bringing the intelligence that there were at that place twenty-five hundred Pennsylvania troops, and that they were in a wretched condition. They had not tasted food for twenty-four hours, and were suffering rapidly.

At 3 o'clock on Saturday morning, one company of the City of Baltimore, accompanied by a number of police officers, proceeded out on the line of the Northern Central Railway a distance of five miles, and destroyed the Melville Bridge.

All citizens leaving arms suitable for the defence of the city, and which they are willing to contribute for that purpose, are requested to deposit them at the office of the Marshal of Police, Wm. W. Brown, Mayor.

Both branches of the City Council assembled in their respective chambers at 9 o'clock, and went into secret session. After an hour this spent, the doors were thrown open.

Mr. Nicholas moved that a joint special committee be appointed to inquire into the consideration of the bill for the protection of the public property and to enforce the laws.

Under these circumstances, it is a solemn duty to inform you that it is not possible for more soldiers to pass through Baltimore unless they fight their way at every step.