The wounded were in crowds, horribly cut up. The slightest wound noticed was a hand shot off. Whole quarters of the human frame were torn away from some bodies—a head, a right shoulder, and entire legs and arms from others. The ship too, was on fire. The shells had kindled her wood work in several places.

Nearly all the guns were dismounted, the bulkheads blown to pieces—rammers and handspikes shivered—the powder boys all killed. The inside of the ship looked like the inside of a burnt and sacked house.—Everything was in fragments, black or red—burnt or bloody.

The horrible scene lasted for about half an hour. We then struck. A rebel tug sent about to us, and soon came alongside herself. Our great concern was for the wounded. We were told to come ourselves, and bring others aboard, as prisoners. We begged for a little time to get the wounded ones, but were told to "hurry." "We can't hurry men badly hurt." "But you must; I am going to burn the ship, and that d—d quick," said the officer in command. But he was mistaken. He did not burn her. At this moment an Indiana regiment on shore opened a heavy fire on the tug from rifles and a howitzer. I saw one rebel officer fall under it. The tug found it too hot for her, and she backed out. Where she went I did not see.

In the meantime our own small boats and some from the Cumberland ran alongside, and we began getting all the wounded into them, and pushed off for land. I do not think one man was left on shipboard.—Twenty-seven came in the small boats.—Probably eighty were left dead on the decks and in the cock-pit. The ship was already on fire, as before stated, and she burned and blew up during the night.

Evacuation of Manassas by the Confederates.

CENTREVILLE, March 11.—Yesterday morning our forces, amounting to upwards of 2,000 men, proceeded to Centreville, and occupied the village about four o'clock in the afternoon. It was altogether deserted.

The entire command then proceeded to Manassas, arriving there in the evening.

The rebels had destroyed much of their property, which they could not carry away, by fire and otherwise.

The bridges and railroad track and depot in that vicinity were extensively damaged—nothing but wreck and desolation were apparent.

When some time ago it was stated in this correspondence the rebels were falling back from Manassas, the assertion was industriously contradicted, but there is now satisfactory evidence that the main body left their lines nearly two weeks ago. The roads in Virginia in some places are tolerably good and improving.

The whereabouts of the rebels who retreated from Manassas is a subject of earnest speculation.

☞ Intelligence from New Mexico to the 23d ult., confirms the report of a battle near Fort Craig, and the defeat of the Federal army. The engagement took place, as stated, on the 21st, and was fought desperately and with varied successes until two of the regiments of Federal volunteers fled from the field, turning the scale in favor of the Confederates. The Federal loss is reported at about two hundred killed and wounded. The loss of the Confederates is believed to be much greater.

The Constitution and Union.

The Jeffersonian says: We gave last week, under this head, a proclamation from Gen'l Halleck, Commander-in-chief of the Army of the Mississippi now penetrating Tennessee. We now give a joint one from Commodore Goldsborough and Gen'l Burnside, to the people of North Carolina. The emancipation, slave-arming patriots of the Greely-Fremont stripe howled terribly at Halleck's, because of his adherence to the Constitution and refusal to make his army a kind of underground railroad for running off slaves; and we presume they will be equally denunciatory of Goldsborough & Burnside, because they avow a like purpose.

A Joint Proclamation from Commodore Goldsborough and Gen. Burnside to the People of North Carolina.

ROANOKE ISLAND, N. C. Feb. 18, 1862.

The mission of our joint expedition is not to invade any of your rights, but to assert the authority of the United States and to close with you the desolating war brought upon your State by comparatively a few bad men in your midst.

Influenced infinitely more by the worst passions of human nature than by any show of elevated reason, they are still urging you astray to gratify their unholy purposes.

They impose upon your credulity by telling you of wicked and even diabolical intentions on our part; of our desire to destroy your freedom, demolish your property, liberate your slaves, injure your women, and such like enormities—all of which we assure you, is not only ridiculous, but utterly false.

We are Christians as well as your selves, and we profess to know full well, and to feel profoundly, the sacred obligations of the character.

No apprehensions need be entertained that the demands of humanity or justice will be disregarded. We shall inflict no injury unless forced to do so by your own acts, and upon this you may confidently rely.

Those men are your worst enemies.—They, in truth, have drawn you into your present condition, and are the real disturbers of your peace and the happiness of your firesides.

We invite you in the name of the Constitution, and in that of virtuous loyalty and civilization, to separate yourselves at once from these malign influences, to return to your allegiance, and not compel us to resort further to the force under our control.

The Government asks only that its authority may be recognized; and we repeat, in no manner or way does it desire to interfere with your laws, constitutionally established, your institutions of any kind whatever, your property of any sort, or your usages in any respect.

Kentucky on the War.

The following resolutions have been introduced in the Kentucky House of Representatives by Hon. Nathaniel Wolfe:

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the effort now being made to divert this war from its original purpose, as proclaimed by the President and Congress of the United States seven months ago—the maintenance of the Federal Constitution and the preservation of the Union's integrity—and to turn it into a war for the emancipation of slaves and the subjugation of the Southern States, or their return to a territorial condition, is an effort against the Union, against the Constitution, against justice, and against humanity, and should be promptly frowned upon by all the friends of Democratic institutions. It is unworthy of loyal citizens, and can find support only in the sectional fanatics who have no love for the Union or desire for its restoration, and whose highest patriotism is an unnatural and uprighteous hatred of the citizens of sister States.

And Whereas, We perceive gratifying indication that President Lincoln is resisting, and will continue to resist, this treasonable effort, it is Further Resolved, That in such patriotic resistance he is entitled to, and does, and shall continue to, receive our cordial sympathy and unfaltering support.

Washington, March 13.—Colonel Kerrigan, who was recently involuntarily relieved from his military command, took his seat in the House to-day, for the first time this session.

Cameron Pugnacious.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Evening Journal, of March 4th, says: Last night an altercation occurred at Willard's Hotel between the late Secretary of War, Gen. Cameron, and Mr. Van Wyck, Chairman of the Congressional Committee. The late Secretary was hot and choleric, and wanted a pretext to whip the Chairman of the Committee; but the latter was cool, and declined politely, but firmly, to accord that favor to his very urgent assailant, who was obliged reluctantly to subside, without a fight over the grievances inflicted by the Committee.

Snow in Vermont.—The snow in Windsor county is seven feet deep on a level, the fences and walls being completely covered and the roads almost impassable. The Vermont papers record the deaths of several persons who lost their lives in returning to their homes through the mountains of snow.

Special Notices.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:—

Scrofula and Scrofulous Complaints, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases, Ulcers, Pimples, Blotches, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Syphilis and Syphilitic Affections, Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Neuralgia or Tic Doloreux, Debility, Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of the Blood.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well: but with the pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure.

DISEASES OF THE LIVER.—You may always know when your liver is out of order, or when you are what is called bilious, by any of the following symptoms: pain in the side and back, dizziness, dull headache, a bad taste in the mouth in the morning, sallow-colored complexion, yellowish tint in the eyes, costiveness, or diarrhœa of slimy dark color, low spirit and dismal forebodings. It is acknowledged by all physicians and others who have seen their action, that JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS are a perfect cure for all bilious affections. So pleasantly do they search out and drive away the seeds of disease, that all persons living in a country where Fever and Ague, and all other bilious diseases are prevalent, will find they should never be without them. From two to four Pills each night on going to bed, will in a short time drive away the sickly, yellow looks of bilious persons, and bring to their cheeks a beautiful glow of perfect health. Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all Dealers in Medicine. [Feb. 24. 1m

GREAT DISCOVERY!—Ample tests, both by able practitioners and chemical analysis, have demonstrated the great value of Prof. De Grath's beautiful combination, called "ELECTRIC OIL," for the relief and cure of pain.—But the people themselves are rendering their verdict in a manner both unmistakable and satisfactory. More than two million bottles have been sold in a very short time—a great proportion of those who heard others recommend it, who had tried it. That it's a splendid discovery is every where acknowledged, and nothing like it was ever before prepared. The only genuine Electric Oil is Prof. De Grath's, which is to be had at all the respectable Druggists in the cities, and at wholesale and retail, at the proprietors' prices of the agent here. See advertisement.

☞ SHEADS & BUEHLER'S Store is well worthy a visit just at this time. We doubt whether even in our largest cities, so fine a display of Stoves can be found. Their large room is full of Stoves of every pattern; also, every variety of Hollow Ware, Sheet-iron Ware, Tin Ware, Planished Ware, Japan Ware—embracing, indeed, everything in the house furnishing line, desirable. Sausage Cutters, Sausage Stuffers, Lard Presses, &c., &c. They are prepared to sell wholesale and retail, Tin Ware and Sheet-iron Ware of their own manufacture—keeping a sufficient number of hands to supply any demand. Their assortment of Lumber is very large; also Coal of every kind.

The Peach Crop.—From present indications, says the Delawarean, the largest peach crop ever gathered in Delaware will reward the labors of our husbandmen this year.—So far everything has been favorable, not a bud has been blasted, or a tree killed by the frost. The cold weather has kept down the sap, and unless we have strange weather in March, no harm can be done by the frost to this crop.

Coughs.—The administration of medicinal preparations in the form of a Lozenge, is of all modes the most elligible and convenient, more especially as regards a Cough Remedy. Communicated.

Died, Feb. 28th, MARGARET E., daughter of James and Jemima Gardner, aged 2 years and 9 months.

"Ere sin had stained the infant gem,
Ne'th came and plucked the flower;
Withered the heart, the parent stem—
Alas! how sad the hour.

"Rough as the hand of death has been,
Dark as the grave appears,
How sweet to think Maggie lives,
Cherished far from tears.

"Soon did the earthly mission close,
Kind heaven saw it best,
Eternal glory she beholds,
Like Angels, she's with Jesus blest d."
