A J. COVER.

TOURSE AT LAW, Well Promptly strong to the byland, and the byland of the battle field not being adapted to Cavalry movements, he had not the privilege of participating in the fight, and did not get on to the field until Tuesday morning. He writes that Col. Staumbaugh's Regiment was in the midst of the fight, and behaved nobly. We believe Adams county has some seven or eight men in one of the companies of this Regiment.

We are glad to learn that Lieut. BAUGH-ER-who was in the thickest of the fight on Sunday, and severely wounded-is doing well. He writes in good spirits to his father from Savannah, Tennessee, under date of April 9, briefly describing his wounds, and was in expectation of being removed by steamboat to Galena, Illinois. We are permitted to make the following extracts, which will be read with interest :

Donaldson was no comparison to it. Many have been killed and thousands wounded: among the latter of whom is your obedient servant, who is lying in the Hospital at this place, with no less than AELEY BULLET shots in him. Don't you wonder that I can write at all? I do. The first would I received was in the right leg. below the knee, passing through the leg. but breaking no bones. This shot knocked me down, and I tried terrawl off the field, when down, and I tried tocrawl off the fell, when another shot took me ahout two inches to the nanother shot took me ahout two inches to the right of the rectum. I thought that was getting no better fast. So for up the best I could, and whilst hobbling along was hit in the right shoulder. I turned round, and defauntly held sup my sword, when a builet split on its edge sadentered my face at the cheek-bone. Another held struck between two of my fingers, and the words are dangerous. No hones are broken that I know of. You notice that all hit in the right side, which is very stiff and sore. I must have fainted: for the first fining I became aware of, was a babel of voices the other side of the log, and peeping under I saw a Rebel Regiment drawn up not 50 feet from ms. They advanced incline, one Company passing over the log. I lay still, remarking to one who I knew saw me, "Well, you have caught the all his." They now commenced firing into make of our Regiments, and soon fell back of the log, leaving me between the two fires.

The irrepressible and uncheckable Commodore Pôote is reported to have taken Fact Wright. This Fort is situated on the First Chickasāw Bluffs, near Fulton, a small town on the Mississippi side of the junction of the Hatchie river with the Mississippi. It is about seventy miles above Memphis. Below this point the Rebels have fortifications at Randolph, on the Second Chickasaw Bluffs, Fort Harris, at Island No 40, and finally Fort Pillow, at Memphis. The susceptibilities for defence decrease as the river is descended, and
