"POLICY OF THE FATHERS."

The Republican party and Abraham Lincoln are great on "bringing the Government back to the policy of the fathers."—We have a fair specimen of this in the resolution which the President saw fit to recommend to Congress, for the interference of the Government in the emancipation of the slaves. And yet the Congress of 1790 took diametrically the opposite view. We copy below a resolution passed by the fathers in 1790, at a time when George Washington was President, and we submit to the honest judgment of our readers whether it has any likeness to that framed and endorsed by our own latter-day President. It was as follows:

Resolved, That Congress have no authority to interfere in the emancipation of slaves, or in the treatment of them in any of the States; it remaining with the several States alone to provide rules and regulations therein, which humanity and true policy may require.

We know that our Republican brethren are very sensitive about exposures of the difference between their professions and practices; and impose upon the sympathies of the thoughtless, by laying the blame of all their departures from their professions and the Constitution upon their inapplicability in "war times." But history presents strong indications, that the war was fomented with the very design of affecting through the blindness of its blood and smoke, what seemed hopeless with the maintenance of peace. But whether this be so or not, if the existence of war threatens to overturn the principles of our government, the more should the jealousy of every patriot be invoked to guard and defend them.—Allentown Democrat.

From the Louisville Journal.

A LOYAL VIEW OF SLAVERY.

The contrasting of the preservation of the Union with the preservation of slavery, resorted to so unceasingly by the Abolitionists as a show of justification for the abolition of slavery in the States, is the very cream of nonsense. It is among the most senseless of all the senseless abolition fallacies. The contrast not only does not exist, but cannot exist in the nature of the case. It involves a flagrant self-contradiction.

Unquestionably the necessary effect of this struggle for the preservation of the Union is not only to diminish the number of slaves in the country but to weaken the institution of slavery itself. This effect is unavoidable, and no loyal man amongst us complains of it, nor does any such man wish the struggle on the part of the Government to be released in vigor or narrowed in design out of respect to this effect. By no means. Whatever detriment slavery may receive in this way the loyal men of the South will accept without a murmur of complaint. They ask no special immunity for the institution. They ask only that it shall not be the object of special assault,—that, in equivalent terms, it shall not be struck at through the acknowledged rights of the States.

But this the Abolitionists are not willing to grant. On the contrary, assuming that the preservation of slavery is incompatible with the preservation of the Union, they demand that the general government, regardless of State rights, shall abolish slavery in the States as the means of preserving the Union. They demand this; and this the loyal men of the South, and the true loyal men of the North also, oppose as not merely tyrannical but suicidal. Thus far, reflecting patriots everywhere contend for the preservation of slavery. The patriots of the South contend no farther. The fact is not disputed. Hence, the demand of the Abolitionists, apart from its villainous duplicity, involves, as we have said, a flagrant self-contradiction.

The preservation of slavery, as contended for by the loyal men of the South, is simply and purely the preservation of the rights of self-government in the States: in other words, it is nothing more or less than the preservation of the Union itself; because if the right of self-government in the States should be abolished by the general government, the Union for which we are struggling would not exist, and the Union as it would then exist could not be preserved. Therefore, the preservation of slavery as contended for by the loyal men of the South is identical with the preservation of the Union, instead of being incompatible with it; and to talk of abolishing slavery in the States by the general government as the means of preserving the Union is as irrational as to talk of cutting out the heart of a man in order to save his life, for, though slavery is not the heart of the Union, the right of self-government in the States is, and the abolition of slavery in the States by the general government would extinguish that vital right.

Thus the contrast drawn by the Abolitionists is absurd. The issue they undertake to raise is impossible in the nature of the case. There is and can be no such issue. When, therefore, men declare that they are for abolishing slavery if necessary to preserve the Union, they either do not think of what they are saying, or they are traitors at heart; they at least give aid and comfort to those who are. The declaration, if not moral treason, is certainly a very culpable indiscretion.

No Democrat a Disunionist.—No man can be a Democrat and at the same time be a disunionist. Devotion to country, fidelity to the Constitution and obedience to the laws, are cardinal doctrines of the Democratic party. This is the foundation upon which the party was first erected by the founders of the Republic, and to this it has faithfully adhered at all times and under all circumstances. Amid the wildest din of fanaticism the Democracy have raised their warning voice, appealed to the reason and judgment of the people, and pointed out the approaching danger.—Jeffersonian.

☞John W. Forney, who attempted to hang on to the coat-tail of Douglas, but who was not allowed even to touch the hem of the Little Giant's garment, in his Press of April 10th, 1861, said: "Fanaticism was fomented against the institution of slavery; northern agitators afforded the weapons to southern traitors to disunite the country of their birth." Now, this same renegade, Forney, swallows the stinking pill of Abolitionism, and blows his filthy breath in our faces.—Bloomsburg Star.

☞"Ma, I want some liquid generosity on my bread and butter."

"Some what, my child?"

"Some liquid generosity."

"What in the world does the boy mean by liquid generosity? What is it, my son?"

"Gosh, mam, don't you know? Why it is molasses to be sure."

"Here, Bridget, spank this boy and put him to bed."

☞"Wife, I thought you said you were going to have a goose for dinner."

"So I did; and I've kept my word."

"Where is it?"

"Why, my dear, ain't you here?"

Smith couldn't see the point of that joke.

☞The Democrats have carried Quincy, Ill., by a majority of three or four hundred. This is by far the largest majority ever obtained by the party in that city.

JUDSON'S

Mountain Herb Pills.

WE give a perfect likeness of Tezuco, a chief of a tribe of the strange Aztec Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The inventor and manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS" were discovered. A very interesting account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.

It is an established fact, that all diseases arise from

IMPURE BLOOD!

The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealthy matter gets mixed with it, it is at once distributed to every organ of the body.—Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food perfectly. The liver ceases to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the heart is weakened, and so the circulation is feeble. The lungs become clogged with the poisonous matter; hence, a cough—and all from a slight impurity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some earth, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a tiny rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discolored. As quickly does impure blood fly to every part, and leave its sting behind. All the passages become obstructed, and unless the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out.

These pills not only purify the blood, but regenerate all the secretions of the body; they are, therefore, unrivalled as a

Something New!

ON THE PRESERVATION AND CULTURE OF FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL TREES.

COPIES are being published, which contain many magnificent Engravings, such as Trees and various kinds of fine Fruit and Fruit Trees, some of the finest specimens that have ever been put on paper. The Fruit Trees are set with abundant burdens of fruit, similar to that which nature presents in proper season. The trees are represented as having their roots running through the soil in a natural position, and the Engravings of Trees are beautiful and grand. It also contains a fine Engraving which represents the innumerable thread-like roots of a vigorous tree running through and over the soil. The Root Engraving covers ten inches in diameter on paper, and also forms a magnificent engraving, which cannot help but prove gratifying to the eyes of all who may behold it. Such an engraving has never been printed on paper before. The engraving of roots not only proves admirable to the sight of the eye, but is designed to prove of great importance to all who take an interest in the cultivation of fruits and how to treat fruit trees properly.

A COPY contains Twenty-five different Engravings of Trees, Fruits, etc., composed of Evergreens, Forest, Apple, Peach, Dwarf Pyramid Pear and Cherry Trees, &c. The Fruit Engravings comprise Raspberries, Gooseberries, Blackberries, Currants, Grapes, Plums, Apricots, Pears, Peaches, Apples, etc., and are all colored by hand to represent the natural fruit, and are accompanied, with printed matter of great importance, and forms a copy in size 32 by 40 inches, on map paper, with muslin back and face varnished.

A COPY, with its numerous engravings, will be gratifying to the eye, and forms an admirable ornament for the wall of the parlor, and will richly beautify any apartment with horticultural matter of much importance and fancy. These copies are published at a very heavy expense. Twenty-five dollars have been paid to a scientific artist for forming the plates of single engravings of trees, roots, etc. But, in order that many can obtain such copies at a trifling figure, the price for a copy will be made so low, that fifteen persons can now obtain copies for the sum that has been paid for single engravings of trees, etc.

A COPY contains printed matter of much importance and great value. It will tell how to treat all kinds of Fruit Trees to render them very vigorous and productive, even in unfavorable seasons. It will tell how to prepare the soil without inconvenience before planting the trees in; to strengthen trees much in vigor; and to prove the productiveness of abundant crops, even in unfavorable seasons or locations, with proper and easy after treatment.

A COPY will tell how to prepare and plant all kinds of Fruit and Evergreen Trees, so as to prove successful, with scarcely ever proving a failure in a lot of many trees when properly treated as directed. It will tell how to train and plant Dwarf Pear Trees. It contains the most successful treatments for the culture of the Plum. It will tell how to train and cultivate the Grape.

A COPY will tell how to cultivate and treat Strawberries, Currants, Raspberries, Blackberries, Gooseberries, etc.

A COPY will tell how to treat Peach trees, to restore their roots healthy from the disastrous effects of worm insects. It will tell how to make use of an application over the soil surrounding the tree to protect the Peach and other tender fruits from the effects of being winter-killed in the bud. The same application also restores Peach trees from taking the yellows. The application has the beneficial effects to present the foliage of the trees healthy and the tree vigorous, and proves to the productiveness of luscious fruits. The application to be applied is not expensive. All have sufficient materials on their plantations.

A COPY will tell how to Preserve all Kinds of Fruits with little or no sugar. It will tell how to keep Apples with much success. It will tell how to treat and manage Pears to mature perfectly, and to attain to the highest flavor.

A COPY presents its numerous pictures all at a glance, and forms such an ornament for the wall as will be admired by all lovers of art, drawn from nature's products.
