These are heavy charges against the Presideat, socusing him directly with interfering with the commanding general in the field; giving orders without conferring with the commander-in-chief or the Secretary of War, and my to be informed of, and prepared for them. Quarter Sessions, on MONDAY, the 20th of these things, on the representations of Classics. these things, on the representations of Gens. Cochrane and Newton, whom he ought to have dismissed from the army, as demanded by General Hallack, is here held up to public contempt -as a man who, causing the plans of General Burnside to be divulged, has, to that extent, given aid and comfort to the enemy. Are not these charges monstrous? Ought not an order to be made out for the immediate arrest of the members of the committee? Would they not render the country better service at Fort Lafayette or Fort Warren, (Fort McHenry is too near Washington,) than in Congress? Why is it that innocent men have been accested withnt any cause being assigned for the arbitrary act, and such as these suffered to go at large, whose evident purpose it is to deprive the Pro endeut of the last remnant of confidence reposed in him by the people?

To leave no manner of doubt as to whom they mean to strike, and who is to be held up to public scorn, the Committee's Report says: "The Administration called by the feople to the head of the Government, in this the most critical period of the nation's history, was more promptly and fully supported than that of any other Government of which history has preserved any record. The call of the President for money and mer had been more than complied with; no and men had been more than complied with; no legislation which he had deemed necessary had been denied by Congress; and the people had most po-bly and generously supported and sustained what their representatives had promised in their name. The same Congress, fresh from their constituents, had again met, and so would they continue to act. It needs but to refer to the history of the Congress just closed for its po and therough action, clothing the Executive with the fullest power, placing at his disposal all the resour-ces of men and money which this nation possessed to prove that your committee judged rightly that Congress needed no prompting from them to do its entire duty. Not upon those whose duty it was to provide the means necessary to put down the rebellion, but upon those whose dubut down the received, out upon those whose au-ty it was to rightfully apply those means, and the agents they employed for that purpose, rests the blame, if any, that the hopes of the nation have not been realized, and its expectations have een so long disappointed." wanting to the audacity of this frantic Abolition committee—the impeachment of Mr. Lincoln. And these are the men that accuse the Democracy of disloyalty. What else can be their aim in thus holding up the Constitutional Chief Magistrate to public redicule and contempt, than to encourage the hopes of the Confederates, and to prolong the war? The Journal of Commerce, in commenting upon the report, says truly :

"What the committee think and say about Gen. McClellan is of little importance, since Franklin-John Raffensperger they are by no means judges of military mut- Cumberland-John F. Currens. ters. The kind-Mountjoy-Peter Bushe ly and most sincere tone of the President (ex- Liberty-John Nunemaker. cept when his words pass through the hands of other persons) is always visible, and the pa-triotic and noble utterances of McClellan al-ways respondfully and unmistakably. The po-from his position in Washington, and his jutimany with leadingtmen, is very apt to know more about these things than, with his usual discretion, he is willing to divulge to the pub-

Accordingly, we think it will be admitted by all that the President should not appoint any General to the command of an army, or retain any General in such command, who has so forfeited the confidence of his Government that his movements can be arrested at the unofficial and clandestine suggestion of two of his subordi-nate officers. This is not only a matter of decorum but a plain and elementary principle of military administration. "In the second place, this disclosure serves to set once more in a clear light the undefined nature of the position held by General Halleck under the existing military system of the Auministration, if that can be called a system, where system there would seem to be none.—

For as before we have had the spectacle of a

McClellan, so now we have the spectacle of a General-inchief who, though apprized that Gen. Burnside meditated a movement, was not apprized by the President that the movement had been by the President that the movement had been suspended at his own justance. And so little were General Halleck and the Secretary of War ealightened as to the true state of facts, that they urged the President to dismiss the two officers on whose information he had active officers of industry of the had active officers of the kind in the Union. Always on hand a large assortment of HOUSEHOLDAND OFFICE FURNITURE, embracing Bureaus, Bedsteads, Washstands, Wardtones, Mattresses of Husk, Cotton and Hair-Spring Beds, Sofas, Tete-e-Tetes, Arm Chairs, Cottinues to manufacture, and keeps constantly on hand, every variety of the had judged to be more reliable than that War enlightened as to the true state of facts, that they urged the President to dismiss the punished them for giving him comsel which by on hand, every wariety of he had judged to be more reliable than that TIN-WARE, all of his other advisers put together. For he seems to us that while the latter holds the post of General in chief he should, at least, be treated with the respect due to his office. If thus far, he has failed to fulfil the expectations of This is, indeed, a very mild stricture on the President, and on the whole mode in which the war has been conducted; but it does not re-lieve the Committee from the Tearful responsihours, from their beds, to be immured in loath-some dungeons. Dr. Schenck was sent for. He came and examined my lungs with his respirometer. He found one lung nearly gone, but the other was sound. He said he could generally cure when one lung was diseased. I do honestly think that if I had not used Dr. iSCHENCK'S Mediof my neighbors came to look at me as one raised from the dead.

My cough now became loose, and I felt something break where I had the pain in my breast, and I discharged large quantities of yellow matter. I have for weeks discharged and raised a spit-box full of matter every day, General Mc(lellan with hard lumps like grains of something.—
