PRINCE JOHN.

We remarked some time ago that we make much out of John Van Buren, and we now repeat the observation. The New York Journal of Commerce of Monday contains the following characteristic note from the Prince to the Vice President of the Loyal League of Union citizens:

DEAR MR. JEROME: I inclose you $50 tobut as I see they were permitted to cheer for M'Clelian, I raise it to fifty. Pray see that nothing is done to prevent them voting for him also when the proper time arrives. Common sense is not so common as is generally supposed, but I should think there and blundering assaults upon a retired patriot, whom the mass of the people respect and admire, and whom the soldiers love.
