A SQUINTING JURY,

Once upon a time, or, to be a little more particular, nearly half a century ago, (for the editor of this paper well remembers the time, place, and scene, which are firmly fixed upon his boyish recollections,) there dwelt in the town of ----, in old England, a remarkable oddity, in the person of an attorney at law, who, although not fair to look upon. (for he was in truth one of the comeliest specimens of humanity ever beheld by mortal man.) was withal a person of sound judgment, great benevolence, varied learning, # poet, a painter, and a wit of no mean order.

It so happened that the aforesaid gentleman, G. G....., Esq., was appointed high sheriff of the town of ---. He was a man of fortune, and has kind heart, as many a poor prisoner could testify, who partook of the good cheer with which the prisoners were liberally supplied at Christmas and other well known festivals, from the private purse of the high sheriff.

It was, of course, the duty of the high sheriff to summon a grand and petit jury to attend at the quarter sessions, of which the recorder, mayor, and aldermen of the borough composed the court. In the performance of his official duty in summoning the petit jury, our sheriff indulged in some of the strangest and drollest freaks that have probably ever been heard of in any other town or country. In the first place he summoned for the October court a jury consisting of twelve of the fattest men he could find in the borough, and when they came to the book to be sworn, it appeared that only nine jurors could sit comfortably in the box! After a great deal of sweating, squeezing and scolding, the panel was literally jammed into the box, and when seated they presented to the eye of the court, the barristers, and the audience, "the court, the court, the

But the crowning joke of this waggish functionary occurred at the summoning of his fourth and last jury, at the summer session of July. For that term of the court, the high sheriff, not having the fear of the high sheriff, not having the fear of the last of the court, the high sheriff, not having the fear of the last o recorder, the mayor, and the aldermen, before his eyes, actually summoned, a squinting jury.
