GEN. SCOTT ON THE WAR. The New York correspondent of the Boston Journal, in a recent letter referring to General Scott, says: "I had an interview with him, a short time since, of about an hour's duration. He did not regard the future prospects as very bright. Indeed, he said he did not see one bright spot in our national horizon. He considered the President's Army proclamation as impracticable, in consequence of the large number of persons exempted from the law of pardon. These would be made desperate and fight to the last. If the large number exempted from the pardon were in the hands of the President today, and under lock and key, so that he could, if he would, march them out to death he could not execute that large number. Humanity and civilization would revolt at it. The outcry of "copperhead" cannot be made against General Scott, nor will the Boston Journal, the leading Republican organ in New England, be accused of "treason" in publishing such correspondence. General Scott cannot see one bright spot in our national horizon; and yet if a Democrat says he has no hope of Peace and Union if the war is carried on as Republicanism has carried it on, and will carry it on so long as it has the power, he is a "copperhead." Gen. Scott considers the President's proclamation as impracticable, and if carried into effect leading to results at which humanity and civilization would revolt; and yet if a Democrat does not assent to it and support it, he is a "traitor!" The sentiments expressed by Gen. Scott deserve serious consideration. If the Republican policy which has prevailed, has served only to involve the country in deeper and deeper gloom, until now not a single bright spot remains, there can be no hope of returning light as long as the same policy is continued. And if the President's proclamation is impracticable, years and years of bloody warfare are still to come, if Republicanism is continued in power, because it has declared the full obedience and fulfillment of that proclamation to be its indispensable condition of peace.

BROWNLOW REPUDIATED. The more moral and respectable portion of the Abolition press are already showing signs of remorse at the encouragement they so recently bestowed upon that profane and vulgar scribbler, Parson Brownlow. One of these papers, the Meriden Recorder, is thoroughly disgusted at the fellow who, toward like, ran away from Knoxville on the approach of the rebels, leaving his wife to their tender mercies. It says: "We have been sadly disappointed in Parson Brownlow's Knoxville Whig and Rebel Ventilator. We deem it calculated to do more injury than good to the cause of the Union; and are surprised to see respectable gentlemen quoting from its columns such paragraphs as those headed, "Gone to Hell!" "Three Infernal Lies!" "The Villainous Clergy!" "Hell's Fire for the Rebels!" &c. The general tone of the Ventilator is repulsive and disgusting; while its boasting and bragging all accords with the legs do your duty portion of the editor, on the occasion of Longstreet's recent advance upon Knoxville!"

General McClellan's Report has at last been published by Congress, with the exception of the accompanying maps. The dispatch which the President has ordered to be printed, is a thin volume of but two hundred and forty pages, instead of the vast and voluminous volume which the War Department tried to make the country believe was forthcoming.
