DIFFERENCES.

The king can drink the best of wine So can I: And has enough when he would dine-So have I; // And cannot order rain or shine-Nor can I. Then where's the difference-let me see-Betwixt my lord the king and me? Do trusty friends surround his throne

Night and day? Or make his interest their own? No, not they. Mine love me for myself alone-Blessed be they! And that's one difference which I see Betwixt my lord the king and me. Do knaves around me lie in wait To deceive, A Or fawn and flatter when they hate,

And would grieve? Or cruel pomps oppress my state, By my leave? No! Heaven be thanked! And here you see More difference 'twixt the king and me! He has fools, with jests and quips, When he'd play :

He has his armies and his ships--Great are they; But not a child to kiss his lips. Well a-day! And that's a difference sad to see Betwixt my lord the king and me. I wear the cap and he the crown-What of that? I sleep on straw and he on down-

What of that? And he's the king and I'm the clown-What of that? If happy I, and wretched he. Perhaps the king would change with me!

TAXES. When this war was first waged, says the Johnstown Democrat, we predicted that the result would be direct taxation. This idea was scouted by our would be intelligent of tizens. The fact is now becoming verified. We do not now reiterate this prediction through any factious opposition to the Administration, but only to prove that we were correct in the premises. We now assert that one-tenth of the taxation has not yet been developed. That there must be a tax on real estate is as clear as day; and that this tax will amount to at least fifty cents per acre, every year, for every acre that a farmer owns, is on less apparent. In the entire United States there are one hundred and thirty millions of acres of improved land. Nearly one-half of this lies in the seconded States, leaving only sixtyfive millions in the Northern States-orsay for instance, eighty millions. Fifty cents an acre on eighty millions of acres, will a nly amount to forty millions of dollars, which is only the one fifth of the interest on the war debt. Where the other four-fifths will come from is more than we can figure out. The longer the war lasts, the more it will cost, and the longer the colored race is made the object of the war, the langer it will last. So that we may look out for tax -tax on all we eat, wear, buy or sell-tax on our lands and occupationsmortification I have experienced to-day in tax to raise troops—tax to keep them—and tax to pay them. It is too late to cry out now. This tax must be paid. ### PTAGIARISM.

The Attorney General of the United States hadhern stealing ideas from the Ace. In the following letter will be found quite literal quotations from our editorial columns:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE. WASHINGTON, } September 16, 1761. }
Hon. J. G. Knapp, Judge, &c., Mesilla,
New Mexico, Sir: Your letter of the 4th August, complaining of military arrests, was slow in reaching me; and then, such was the urgent and continued occupation of the President in the great affairs of the Government, that I have not been able until now to fix his attention upon the par-ticular outrage upon you, as your letter makes me believe it to be. There seems to be a general and growing disposition of the military, wherever stationed, to engross all power; and to treat

Please say a kind word to my army, that last sentence, the words of the order: "Gen. Lincoln to make. It was the full and William McSherry and James Renshaw, to be recognized as good in law, as far, at two of the owners of lands within the limits of the proposed borough, ask that their respective properties be excluded from the corporation, on the ground that "they are exclusively used for the purposes of farming, and not properly belonging to the two or village."

William McSherry and James Renshaw, to be recognized as good in law, as far, at two of the owners of lands within the limits of the proposed borough, ask that their respective properties be excluded from the corporation, on the ground that "they are exclusively used for the purposes of farming, and not properly belonging to the two or village."

It is unnecessary, for the purposes of this case, to reconcile the conflicting decisions in New York and other States, or to decide which portion is in accordance with the two or village."

It is unnecessary, for the purposes of this case, to reconcile the conflicting decisions in New York and other States, or to decide which portion is in accordance with the law. This application is founded upon the contraction of all words to make. It was the full and street in the outcommands that portion of the opposite confirmation of all we had charged. Army of the Potomac that has not beensent forward?"

But the morning of the 21st brought to Washington some startling intelligence.—
Halleck had been for four days busy rely the case, to reconcile the conflicting decisions in New York and other States, or to decide which portion is in accordance with the about me. McClellan commands that portion of the McClellan commands that portion of the Unconfirmation of all wond to my decidence, the words of the order: "Gen. Army of the Potomac that has not beensent forward?"

But the morning of the 21st be outcomed: "Renswer and its the morning of the 21st be ordered."

Washington some startling intelligence.—
Halleck had been for four days busy rely the subject of the recipient in the order. The morning of the order in the morning of the order in the that capital; it could not be denied; it could not be explained. Its meaning was

Mr. Davis has made no proclamation, and Yankee deserters come in large numbers to our lines. There may be many who go from our lines to the enemy. Such incidents always occur in protracted wars, and are worth, nothing whatever. General Longstreet objected to General Foster cir-culating the proclamation among his soldiers not because it would work any material injury to his army, but because it was calculated to induce a few to desert who, if apprehended, would be shot. It is humanity, not fear, that induced General Longstreet to write to General Foster to desist from circulating the prochamation. If Lincola's hopes of our subjugation are founded on desertions and deserters—if he is fool enough to suppose hat an army can be secously weakened by lesertion—he will be convinced of his error sefore very loug.

The Spring Election.—The Spring Election will take place on the eighteenth of March inst. We would say to our Democratic friends throughout the county—Unaxuna.
