

VARIOUS.

DON'T KNOW EVERYTHING—A local of our exchanges says that "Phenox" was a formerly famous tyrant, and knew how to put the insolence through a course of epigrams by imposing apparently impossible tasks, but he didn't know everything. Making bricks without straw was a hard task, but if he wanted to put an additional turn of the screw to them, he should have started an industry paper and made the insolence furnish a daily paper and made the insolence furnish an interesting local column when there were no items to be had. Then he would have had them." Just so.

PLANT TREES.—We would urge now upon our readers the expediency of planting trees. They will grow up to bless you. Make good selections, and plant wherever you have spare ground. In this section of country the number of Fruit, Shade and Ornamental trees that have been planted within the last few years has been large, but there is still room for improving and beautifying in this respect. Farmers, mechanics, laborers; everybody, plant trees.

The abolition organs have generally labored to induce the belief that the Democrats in our southern border counties gave less encouragement during their invasion. The Chambersburg Repository edited by Col. A. K. McClure, an ex-senator and prominent Republican politician, exposes the malignant slander. In a recent editorial he says: "With very few exceptions, the people of the border, of every political faith, stood as one man during the invasion, and quitted their energies to confound the common foe, and in no single instance was the evidence found to the contrary. It is a fact that our citizens gave them aid, comfort or information, unless under duress or by accident. Every effort has been made to fix guilt on all suspected parties, and to have the evidence taken at all points, and our people in any way aided or guided the enemy, is uncontroverted in fact, and the impression that seems to prevail with some members of the legislature on this point is in no degree merited."

PERSONAL SECURITY.—There is a deep sense of insecurity beginning to pervade the minds of the community with regard to the protection of their persons and property.—Lawlessness seems to prevail everywhere, in high as well as in low places. Those charged with the high and responsible duties of executing the laws and administering justice with an impartial hand, have been found shamefully deficient in the performance of their duties.—That strict impartiality and inflexible integrity in the administration of the laws to which we were formerly accustomed, is now no more to be seen. Political prejudice and partisan bigotry are the influences that control the actions and decisions of many of our public officers; and the fact that a man belongs to this or that party, has much more to do with his obtaining justice at the hands of the courts, than the merits of his case. It is a sad wonder that the people are growing anxious under this sense of insecurity of their property, reputation and lives? Is it any wonder that they are beginning to inquire whether there is any longer any hope left for protection, save in their own ability to defend themselves? This is a serious question, involving the dearest interests and rights of every man, woman and child in the community, and should engage the serious attention of every well-wisher of society.—Valley Spirit.

Holders of U. S. Treasury notes payable at a future time, with interest coupons attached, should be careful not to detach the same from the note, for by so doing they render them useless, for practical purposes, until they fall due. A fifty dollar U. S. Treasury note dated December 1st, 1863, payable two years after date with interest at five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, was received a few days since by a banking institution in the way of business. Subsequently it was ascertained that the interest coupons had been detached from the note. The U. S. Treasurer at Washington was thereupon informed as to the effect on the value of the note by the detachment of the coupon, and replied as follows: "The coupons having been detached, it ceases to be a legal tender until the 1st of June, 1865, at which time it will be received for its full face value."

The West Branch Insurance Company, located at Lock Haven, Pa., has appointed a signee. Consequently those who have insured in that company would do well to apply to some solvent company for security against loss by fire.—Exchange.

Lamp Fixing Apparatus. BOILING—FRYING—STEWING—STEPPING—WITH THE FLAME THAT LIGHTS THE ROOM.

It is of the same of a common lamp, at the cost of a cent's worth of oil, a very comfortable breakfast can be cooked.—N. F. Tribune. Simple in construction; easily kept in order, ready for use in a moment, convenient to have on hand.—Drapers' Circular. This Lamp is one of the most popular novelties of the day. The utility of it is unquestionable, a great saving is made in heating and boiling articles, and can be made to cook meals for a great many persons, which is actually done on the ambulance cars which carry the sick soldiers.—Scientific American. For family use, hospital use, barracks, picnics, fishing, camp, or sick room, it is an article of comfort beyond all proportion to its cost.—Hall's Journal of Health.

I have tried the apparatus, and my wife and I are convinced it is a most valuable and indispensable article, and we now wonder how we could have so long done without it.—Ed. Coal Oil Circular. An economical contrivance for getting up heat at short notice, and for general household purposes. One important point in the saving is cost over coal fires.—N. F. Tribune.

Have you a Cough? Have you Sore Throat? Have you any of the preliminary symptoms of that most fatal disease, Consumption? Those who should be warned by these symptoms generally think lightly of them until it is too late for more than two hundred years ago, arises the sad prevalence and fatality of disease which sweeps to the grave at least "one sixth" of death's victims. Consumption has destroyed more of the human family than any other disease, and the best physicians for many years have despaired of a cure, or a remedy that would heal the lungs but for more than two hundred years ago, arises the sad prevalence and fatality of disease which sweeps to the grave at least "one sixth" of death's victims.

Great Central Fair.

FOR THE SANITARY COMMISSION. OFFICE OF THE COMMITTEE ON LABOR, INCOME AND REVENUE, No. 118 SOUTH SEVENTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 4, 1864.

THE Committee on "Labor, Income and Revenue," invite co-operation with them in the particular work for which they have been appointed. As no portion of the people are more patriotic than the working men and women of the country, it is but just and proper that they should alike have an opportunity to contribute to the objects of the Fair. The most equitable plan for accomplishing this, and at the same time the easiest one, is to ask for the contribution of a single day's labor from all classes in the community. Many will contribute a day of their labor willingly, who would not subscribe their money. To reach every department of industry and art will be a work of great labor, but, if attained, will be productive of immense benefit to the community. The success of the plan will depend upon the hearty co-operation of every element of influence within our limits, and we invite all the guardians of the public good to assist us in this great work of patriotism and humanity. The Committee is charged with the following duty, to wit: First.—To obtain the contribution of "one day's labor," or earnings, from every artisan and laborer, foreman, operative and employee; president, cashier, teller and clerk of every incorporated and unincorporated company, firm, bank, manufactory, iron works, oil works, mine and public office; from every private banker and broker, importer, exporter, merchant, creditor, agent and salesman; designer, engraver and artist; publisher, printer and mechanic; from every government officer, contractor and employee; grocer, butcher, baker, dealer in groceries, liquors, and provisions; from every manufactory, milliner and female operative; every individual engaged in turning the soil, tending the loom, or in any way expending his skill, or building a fortune within the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. Second.—To obtain the contribution of "one day's labor," from all the great employing establishments, firms, corporations, companies, railroads and works. Third.—To obtain the contribution of one day's income from every retired person, and person of fortune—male and female; from every professional man, and every clergyman, physician, jurist, dentist, editor, author and professor; and other persons engaged in the learned or other professions. Much is to be accomplished by the personal influence and efforts of individual gentlemen associated, or to be associated with the Committee in carrying out this plan. The Committee feel the responsibility of the work they have undertaken, and are confident that they will require a very perfect manifestation of their plan, and they therefore call upon all earnest people to assemble themselves together in every town, township, and county, and to organize a committee of men and gentlemen to cooperate with them in this great work and labor of love. In the manufacturing counties, the coal and oil regions, and in the agricultural counties, especially in the mountain and prairie regions, so that the young people may have an opportunity thus to render assistance to their relatives and friends fighting the battles of their country in the armies of the Fair, as in the mines of the coal regions. A day's earnings, or the value of the day's labor, or the produce of the mine, can be obtained, where no portable article could be procured for transportation. Indeed there is no part or section of these States where the day's labor may not be obtained, if organizations can be formed to reach them. The Committee cannot close without urging upon all Proprietors of Establishments, the duty of taking notice of the following notice, to secure the benefit of the day of labor from all within their control. The Committee deem it unnecessary to do more than thus to present the subject to the people of the three States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, as the labor of the "Sanitary Commission" will be greatly augmented by the fair of June 20th next. The most important of the objects of the Fair will be the operations in the field. So large a force, scattered over regions to which the men are unaccustomed, must necessarily carry along with it a large amount of sickness, suffering and death, by reason of the gathering horde of the little field. These sufferings, it is our bounden duty, as men and Christians, to relieve. A great and noble enterprise, enjoying the patronage of a government of their own making, and receiving assistance to men suffering to maintain its authority, and we will not believe that the "GREAT CENTRAL FAIR," drawing its proceeds from the three States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, so situated in all mineral, agricultural and industrial wealth, shall fall behind any similar effort which has yet been made for the relief of the Nation's children. All subscriptions should be addressed to JOHN W. CLAGHORN, Treasurer, office of the Committee on Labor, Income and Revenue, No. 118 South Seventh Street, Philadelphia. All needed facilities in Circulars and Posters will be forwarded to parties applying for them. Direct to the Chairman of the Committee above.

THE Committee on "Labor, Income and Revenue," invite co-operation with them in the particular work for which they have been appointed. As no portion of the people are more patriotic than the working men and women of the country, it is but just and proper that they should alike have an opportunity to contribute to the objects of the Fair. The most equitable plan for accomplishing this, and at the same time the easiest one, is to ask for the contribution of a single day's labor from all classes in the community. Many will contribute a day of their labor willingly, who would not subscribe their money. To reach every department of industry and art will be a work of great labor, but, if attained, will be productive of immense benefit to the community. The success of the plan will depend upon the hearty co-operation of every element of influence within our limits, and we invite all the guardians of the public good to assist us in this great work of patriotism and humanity. The Committee is charged with the following duty, to wit: First.—To obtain the contribution of "one day's labor," or earnings, from every artisan and laborer, foreman, operative and employee; president, cashier, teller and clerk of every incorporated and unincorporated company, firm, bank, manufactory, iron works, oil works, mine and public office; from every private banker and broker, importer, exporter, merchant, creditor, agent and salesman; designer, engraver and artist; publisher, printer and mechanic; from every government officer, contractor and employee; grocer, butcher, baker, dealer in groceries, liquors, and provisions; from every manufactory, milliner and female operative; every individual engaged in turning the soil, tending the loom, or in any way expending his skill, or building a fortune within the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. Second.—To obtain the contribution of "one day's labor," from all the great employing establishments, firms, corporations, companies, railroads and works. Third.—To obtain the contribution of one day's income from every retired person, and person of fortune—male and female; from every professional man, and every clergyman, physician, jurist, dentist, editor, author and professor; and other persons engaged in the learned or other professions. Much is to be accomplished by the personal influence and efforts of individual gentlemen associated, or to be associated with the Committee in carrying out this plan. The Committee feel the responsibility of the work they have undertaken, and are confident that they will require a very perfect manifestation of their plan, and they therefore call upon all earnest people to assemble themselves together in every town, township, and county, and to organize a committee of men and gentlemen to cooperate with them in this great work and labor of love. In the manufacturing counties, the coal and oil regions, and in the agricultural counties, especially in the mountain and prairie regions, so that the young people may have an opportunity thus to render assistance to their relatives and friends fighting the battles of their country in the armies of the Fair, as in the mines of the coal regions. A day's earnings, or the value of the day's labor, or the produce of the mine, can be obtained, where no portable article could be procured for transportation. Indeed there is no part or section of these States where the day's labor may not be obtained, if organizations can be formed to reach them. The Committee cannot close without urging upon all Proprietors of Establishments, the duty of taking notice of the following notice, to secure the benefit of the day of labor from all within their control.
