But where, saks the Curlisle Volunteer, is that imptense army now? Alse, alas, it i has wasted and dwindled away to less than Bold by all Druggists and Retailers every one half its original number. Richmond is not taken, and Petersburg, it seems, can epare 30,000 men from its intrenchments and still defy Grant. And now Mr. Lincoln orders another draft for 590,000 more men!

And the "loyal" papers—those vehicles of glass in Gettysburg, Pa. deception and lies-affect to rejoice at this Feb. 29, 1864. and say they "are glad it has been made," because "this will put a speedy end to the war," &c. The old story, and containing the same falsehood. Every draft we have monthleas in the Counties composing the 19th bid every demand for men—has been followed by assurances from the hired min framed for a charmeless. ONE OF ME. LINCOLN'S PREDGES. On the Sunday before the day the extra then shall be in the Jail of the said County of session of Congress of 1861 adjourned, Pros. Adams, are to be then and there to prosecute ident Lincoln said to Mr. Mallory, a Representative of Kentucky, in presence of Senator Crittenden and others:

Mr. Mallory, this war, so far as I have Anything to do with it, is carried on on the idea that there is a Union sentiment in these Blates, which, set free from the control now held ofer it by the presence of the Confederate or rebe! power, will be sufficient to replace those States in the Union. If I am could be sumplied from first hands. It was reliable on in this if there is no such centic the interval of mistaken in this, if there is no such senti-the intention of ment there, if the people of those Mates are determined with unanimity, or with a feel to do a strictly Tea business, but as we have ing approaching unanimity, that their had some ensumers living at a distance that States shall not be members of this Confed-had some enstoners. It is, at a distance that states shall not be members of this Confed-have relied upon us to supply them exclusive-eracy, it is beyond the power of the people by with Tea and Coffee, it being inconvenient of the other States to force them to remain for them to come to New York. The Great Tea in the Union; and, said he, in that continguity of this country—and us geney—in the continguity that there is not our Tea Taster was possessed of information that sentiment there—this was unotonly an relating to a Coffee that could be turnished at a moderate price, and give universal satisfac-mity, that their States shall not be members of this Confederacy." Spite of the constant and persistant efforts of habitual deceivers and persistant efforts of habitual deceivers of the Northern riseople, the mask of the Abolitionists themselves know this to be true.

Abolitionists themselves know this to be true than a sentence of the control in the country it has been in use by some of the control in the country it has been in use by some of the control in the country it has been in use by some of the country it has been in use by some of the control it has even we suppose him to be. Old Abe's story about "swapping horses when crossing a stream," is likely to prove rather an unfortunate one for him.-The Fremont men ridicule it without mercy. At their recent monster demonstration in St. Louis no less than a dozen of the emblems were devoted to the horse swapping question. One of them, which was pecuharly happy, "represented Lincoln as a worthless old horse, ridden by the Goddess of Liberty, and crossing a stormy river, vistbly exhausted. At his side, and a little ahead, was a proud Arabian horse, swimming with ease. Near the Goddess avas the Spirit of Ruiz, crying out in a sientoring voice, 'Don't swap horses.' "

It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system.

They soon ripened the matter on my lungs, and I would spit of more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pain, might sweats—all legan to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty I could keep from earing too mach. I soon gained my strength and I have been growing in flesh eversance. For m my vears I have enjoyed uninterrupted good health, keeping.
