fleshy. I can produce a number of my old consumptive patients now enjoying good health, weighing nearly 200 pounds. I will conclude by relating three cures I have made in New York, and which are all different, and wish any one who leels any interest in the matter to visit them. Pirst is Mrs. Farlow, reading then at No. 107 Houston street. Her husband called upon me at my rooms, 32 Bond street, and wished me to call and see her. He said could do no good; that he had had all the I could do no good; that he had had sli the best medical attendance, and all said she was too far gone with Consumption to be cured; but she had heard of some great cures I had made, and he desired to gratify her wishes.—I called, and found her lying confined to her hed in the last stage of brouchial consumption, and without doubt must have died soon. I examined her lungs, found both bronchial tubes very much affected, but no cavities had formed, her cough was very severe, the spit-box was half full of thick pust Pulse 140, legs swollen very much; and worse than all, she had thronic diarrhes. Her bowels had been moved eleven times that day. I told her that she had lungs enough to be cured, but that this diarrhora had been of long standing, and her stomach was in such an ulcerated condition that I was afraid nothing could be done.
She insisted I should try and do what I could for her, observing that she could not last long them just as the directions were printed. She came back to my rooms, 33 Bond' street, in two week', somewhat better; her tongue had be-gun to clean a little around the edges, her skin whiter and her eyes brighter, and the tumor discharging very offensive matter, much faster than it had ever done before. She kept gradually improving, and in about two months she came to my rooms very much trightened, saying that the tumor had nearly stopped running, and was healing up, and that every doctor had to'd her that if it ever healed it would cause her death. I told her that the disease had all left her system, and nature would heal the older up. They are now healed, and have been for about a year, and she is as hearty and robust a woman as you will find in a day's walk. She is glad for any one to call on her, and takes great pains to visit any one that she hears has anything like her case, and tries to get them to come and see me. The next case is Miss Scofield, from Stamford, Conn. Mrs. Burtholomew got her down to see me, and she has been ever since at her house. When she first came to my rooms, she was much enactated with a distressing cough, spitting large quantities of blood. I examined her lungs with the respirometer, and in all my practice never found one with one lung so far gone and the other lung so sound. I could not give much encouragement. I thought she town, N. J., a distance of nine miles, which took me two days to get there. On my arrival I was put to bed, and there had for many weeker. This was my native place, where all my family lived and had died of Consumption. Dr. Thoraton, who attended my father in his last illness, was called, and gave me one week to fix up my affairs. He had seen all my family go that way, and thought I was to go, too. Then I heard of the remedies I now biffer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system.

They soon ripened the matter on my lungs.

Pills all seemed to go right to work, the hung is all healed over, leaving a cavity as large as a goose egg; good app tite, fine spirits hand has gained some thirty fife pounds in weight. She has some comp yet, which I do not think it, well is so great interest to some unprejudiced physician to visit these cases, particularly Muss Scofield, or any of them who have been cured to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system.
