THE WAR.

[From the Age of Tree-day.] We are able to give General Grant's history dawn to Sunday evening. On the north bank of the James, General Butler captured the out-er line of Confederate works; attacked the second; was repulsed, afterwards associated the greater portion of the onter line, and is now encamped eight miles from Richmond, with is strong force of the enemy in front of him. He has done nothing since Friday night. On the Weldon Railrond, General Made advanced two miles westward; captured some Confederate rifle-pits; was attacked and forced to abandon them; retreated a short distance and threw up intrenchments, and is now encamped behind them, ten miles southeast of the Southaide Railroad. The enemy are in strong force in front of him. He has done nothing since Friday night.
