She became suddenly silent. She saw not far from them a boy in miserable half-torn clothing, shivering from the cold, holding his benumbed hands to his mouth, and weeping bitterly! Beside him lay a little bundle of brushwood, which he had evidently gathered. "What may be the matter with the poor boy," said Auguste, full of sympathy, "that he should be so sad and distressed even on Christmas day?" The children went up to him and asked him why he wept. "Oh!" said the boy, "my father is sick, and my mother is no able to earn enough to procure us bread and keep us warm. Thus I must gather wood to keep father warm. I do it cheer-tully; father is so good, and mother weeps

For some time they all stood and viewed the poor boy in silence, and tears filled the eyes of Auguste. Then she put her hand into her little basket, took out the little money she had in it, and gave it to the boy. Charlotte and their brother did the same ; for all had been deeply moved by the little boy's miseries. He was much surprised at this, and looked at his benefactors in silence. But soon he brushed away his tears, and attempted to give expression to his thanks and his joy. "O how glad mother will be!" he joy. "O how glad mother will be!" he said: "now she can make a soup for father, and heat up the room so that we can all be warmed." Then he shouldered his bundle of wood and hastened away.

The children accompanied him for some distance, and on the way he had to tell them who his parents were, and where they lived. Always but too poorly rewarded, now, when nearly all public pat-ronage is in the hands of the fan.tics, and the expenses of printing greatly increased, it becomes the manifest duty of every faithful Democrat to support and strengthen his local paper, and to discriminate in his patronage, if compelled to do so at all, in favor of the Democratic press of our own State. There is a culpable carelessness in this respect, in many of our public men. sion, as well as of remembrance to those

And in what I further undertake at this time, it is possible I may be charged with travelling somewhat out of the sphere of my appointment, and with entering upon a field of inquiry that is beyond its usual limits. But as my purpose is manly and up-right, and, I may add, patriotic—I feel I may safely rely in these times, that the spirit of liberty will secure me at least your indulgance.

On, or about the 1st day of September last, forty-four substantial and reputable citizens of Columbia and Luserne counties, in this State, were seized by military authority and hurried with indecent haste, at the bayonet's point, into the depths of a distant and disused military fortress, as a place of confinement. One of them, in a letter to his relatives, in simple words that must touch every honest heart, thus describes their imprisonment :

"Our treatment was inhuman. When first taken and incarcerated in this cell, not a stool or bench to rest our weary limbs on; not a cup, or knife, or fork, or plate; and these few indispensable articles were purchased at exorbitient prices, attended with vexatious delay. Forty-four of us in one cell, without even a separate place to attend to the calls of nature, it is no won-I have but waited the tardy movements his last resting pace, and many others prosder that one of our number was soon faid in trated by mad

I consifted a number have secontly been place, no hing to de. It is the startling lact that forty-four men, of good repute in their respective neighborhoods some of whom had held places of high public trust and honor, should be seized by soldiery, in the heart of this peaceful and loyal State, designed off to a propone military designed of dragged off to a noisome military dungeon, and there kept for months, without being than anything else! A brave of I name desecrated: a fortress associated with many proud recollections and memories of our forefathers' struggle for freedom, turned into a Bastile for the uses of modern ty-

This is not all, nor in my view the worst of the case—if it is to be established as a precedent. These men are being drawn out, one by one, to be tried before a tribunal unknown to the Constitution-called a Court Martial, in which they are denied the privilege—priceless in a freeman's estimate—of a trial by a jury of their peers, and of the vicinage!

I should impliedly impugn your intelligence and love of freedom, fellow citizons, by offering here, any claborate dis-No work of triangle, any theorate dis-cussion of this sacred right of trial by jury. No work of tyranny so sure the immost depth of every freeman's heart, as any at-tempt at infringement of this precious principle of liberty, which has come down to us untrammelled and unimpaired from the presents, and that his parents should also receive help, the boy stood in mute surprise. Now be gazed at the lights, now at the presents, while tears of joy fellifrom his eyes. The children rejoiced around him, their hearts beat with a pure pleasure, and olten alterwards they spoke of this evening, and declared that it was the happiest Christmas festival of their lives!

The militative in the contest, there will not the present the presents, there will always be liable to great abuses, and will always of Magna Charta to the present momest ever be unequal in its operation, and must ever be unequal in its operation, and unfair in its results.

Certain it is, that the privilege of voting given to the soldier is a mockey, when the surprise given to the soldier is a mockey, when the will always be liable to great abuses, and must ever be unequal in its operation impunity; and no administration of our Government ever before dared to infringe, even in the slightest degree? The fate to day, of these men of Columbia county, if innocent may be ours to-morrow. Besides. if it really has come to pass, that the old laws of the land require enforcement by bayonets, and the new ones introduced and about to be introduced, need the same il lustration and support, it must at least be interesting to the people to know it, and be prepared to yield up gracefully all those cherished principles of civil freedom pub-tized in the blood of our fathers of the revolution, and bequeathed to us as their inestimable legacy

True, we had the bonstful announcement of the Secretary of State at Washington that the suspension of the writ of habeas cornus placed every independent heart in the land under his gaolership; and we had also the practice of Secretary Stanton's stituted for proceedings in the civil Courts of the country, in cases clearly defined by statute law as belonging exclusively to their justidiction, is a state of things which could not have been fully contemplated by the people of Pennsylvania at the late elec-tion. We really seem to be fast reaching the condition of the German Baron of olden time, who, in order to provide the means for maintaining his castle against assailants, mortgaged it to some neighboring Shylocks, who seized and appropriated it themselves, before the Baron's defences were completed. Or, in planer words, in conducting what appeared at the outset to be a proper struggle to sustain the powers of the Constitu tion, and the supremacy of the laws over the Southern States—we are now sinking the same vital principles here at home! Who is responsible for this position of affairs so far as our State is concerned? The new Military Commander of this Division, with his own fair record to preserve, and a bright ancestral fame in memory, cannot be acting a voluntary in them. The Governor of Penneylvania disavows all prior knowledge of the original proceedings against the Columbia county prisoners, and all responsibility in the premises. The Judiciary, if applied to, would probably be disinclined to enter into a conflict with the military authorities, in which would simply be illustrated, that the President and his Cabinet ministers are the Lords paramount of our destinies, both civil and milli-

The people can allow-can perpetuate, this position of our liberties, if they desire.— They have the power—the awful power, to prove recreant to themselves; to become the executioners of their own rights-their own nappiness, and their own glory illustrated in the past. Yes : it they so elect as & people, they may, in cowardly supineness allow themselves to be covered with the pall of a despotism as dark and diamai as ever shrouded any of its victims in the old world : and finally fill the latest of those ignoble graves of National freedom, that lie in dreadful warning along down the great pathway of time!
