"LIPE AS IT IS." Life as it is—a thing of fears, A thing of hopes, of smiles, of tears; A blossom which at morning blews, A blossom which at evening goes; A flower tinged with beauty's blush, Which any thoughtless trend may crush : A sky of azure, fair and bright, Which storm-clouds quick obscure from sight. A moonbeam's evamescent play, Which ere the day dawn speeds away; A bubble floating on a lake, That soon a passing breeze may break; A wave that tosses high and free, Then dies upon a tranquil sea. THE XVITH CONGRESSIONAL DISE TRICT.

The opinion of Attorney General Merodith in the Congressional contest between Gen. A. H. Coffroth and Mr. Khontz, has at last been given to the public. From it we gather the following facts: That the return certifying the election of Coffroth was signed by four out of the five district. was signed by four out of the five district eturn judges, and that the return in favor of Koontz was signed by two out of the five —one (Winter, of Fulton) having signed both returns. The Attorney General says Diehl and Mann were legally appointed by a majority of the county return judges, and that Cart and Peck had no authority, having received only a monthly appointment. Wilhelm had been first appointed a district return judge, but at the final meeting after the receipts of the army vote, the Frank-lin county return judges appointed Laker, No. 14. and Wilhelm, as presiding officer at that meeting, declared Laker elected and signed his certificate. The Attorney therefore declares that Cart, Wilhelm and Peck were acting entirely without authority in sign-ing the certificate of Mr. Kooniz, and that In times of storm on the ocean, wise navthe return presented in his favor cannot

Does she, with words of heavenly wisdom and love, seek to alloy the storms of human passion? Does she as her mission is, stand forth by word and deed, as an omnipitentark of safety, amid the general ruin of country and liberty which threatens us? In a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in a word, is she in all her parts as true to herticited in the country and mankind, as she ought to be? These questions are for tinent to an extent, and in a sense, it appears to us, which many intelligent Christians have so far found themselves utterly unable to realize. As items to be considered in fairly answering them, we propose the following specimen facts:
