

The Bedford Gazette utters much truth in the following: The Negro Suffrage man are at their old game. When they were about to start the "Establishment" party, the wire-workers notified that they were not to be "Republican" they never would go with that party, oh no! they only wanted to join with it for one election, so as to beat the dastard "Loco-foco" Well, they did just as they intended to do, they were "Republican" "Republican" Very well. The Democrats, then, accused these leaders with a design to "abolish the 'Republican' party. Oh! how viciously they denoted it! How angry they became at the bare mention of the word "Abolition"!

The Gettysburg Journal

A DEMOCRATIC AND FAMILY JOURNAL.

By H. J. STAHL. "TRUTH IS MIGHTY AND WILL PREVAIL." TWO DOLLARS A-YEAR. 47th Year. GETTYSBURG, PA., MONDAY, AUG. 21, 1865. NO. 48.

Terms. The Compiler is published every Monday morning, by HANCOCK J. STAHL, at $2.00 per annum if paid strictly in advance. No subscription discontinued, unless at the option of the publisher, until all arrearages are paid.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

A. J. Cover, ATTORNEY AT LAW, will promptly attend to Collections and all other business entrusted to him. Office between Fanebocks' and Danner & Ziegler's Store, Baltimore street, Gettysburg, Pa. Sept. 6, 1865.

Edward B. Buehler, ATTORNEY AT LAW, will faithfully and promptly attend to all business entrusted to him. He speaks the German language. Office at the corner of South Baltimore street, near Fanebocks' Store, and nearly opposite Danner & Ziegler's store. Gettysburg, March 20.

J. C. Neely, ATTORNEY AT LAW, -Particular attention paid to collection of Pension Bounties, and Back-pay. Office in the S. E. corner of the Diamond. Gettysburg, April 6, 1863. If

D. McConaughy, ATTORNEY AT LAW, (office one door west of Buckner's drug store, on the corner of Gorbarg street.) ARMY AND SOLDIERS' PENSIONS AND PENSIONS. Bounty Land Warrants, Back-pay suspended Claims, and all other claims against the Government at Washington, D. C.; also American Claims in England. Land Warrants, treated and sold, at highest and lowest prices given. Agents engaged in locating warrants in Iowa, Illinois and other western States. Apply to him personally or by letter. Gettysburg, Nov. 21, 1863.

Law Partnership. W. A. DUNCAN & J. H. WHITE, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will promptly attend to all legal business entrusted to them, including the procuring of Pensions, Bounties, Back-pay, and all other claims against the United States and State Governments. Office in North West Corner of Diamond, Gettysburg, Penna. April 3, 1865. If

Doctor C. W. Benson, OFFICE at the Railroad House, (front room, formerly occupied by Dr. Kinzer) LITTLETON, PA. June 19, 1865. If

J. Lawrence Hill, M. D. His office is at the corner of the Diamond, Gettysburg, Pa. April 11, 1865. If

Dr. D. S. Peffer, A. BROTTEN, Adams county, continues the practice of his profession in all its branches, and would respectfully invite all persons afflicted with any old standing disease to call on him. Oct. 3, 1864. If

Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal's OFFICE and Dwelling, N. E. corner of Baltimore and High streets, near Presbyterian Church, Gettysburg, Pa. Nov. 29, 1863. If

Dr. J. A. Armstrong, HAVING removed from New Salem, York county, and having located at Middle-town, Adams county, offers his professional services to the public. [July 31, 65] 6m

Removals. THE undersigned, being the authorized person to make removals into Ever Green Cemetery, hopes that such as contemplate the removal of the remains of deceased relatives or friends will avail themselves of this season of the year to have it done. Removals will be made with promptness - terms low, and no order required to please. PETER THORN. March 12, '60. Keep of the Cemetery.

Hardware and Groceries. THE subscribers have just returned from the cities with a large and complete stock of HARDWARE & GROCERIES, which they are offering at their old stand in Baltimore street, at prices to suit the times. Our stock consists in part of BUILDING MATERIALS, CARPENTERS' TOOLS, BLACKSMITHS' TOOLS, COACH FINDINGS, SHOE FINDINGS, CABINET MAKERS' TOOLS, HOUSEKEEPERS' FIXTURES, ALL KINDS OF IRON, & C. GROCERIES OF ALL KINDS, OILS, PAINTS, &c. There is no article included in the several departments mentioned above but what can be had at this Store. Every class of Merchandise can be accommodated here with tools and findings, and Housekeepers can find every article in their line. Give us a call, as we are prepared to sell as low for cash as any house out of the city.

Grain and Produce. HAVING taken the large and commodious Warehouse recently occupied by Frank Herz, &c. IN NEW OXFORD, we are prepared to pay the highest prices for all kinds of PRODUCE. Also, sell at the lowest prices, LUMBER, COAL and GROCERIES, of every description. A. P. MYERS & WIERMAN. New Oxford, Aug. 10, 1863. If

The Great Discovery OF THE AGE - Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism can be cured by using H. L. MILLER'S CELEBRATED RHEUMATIC MIXTURE. Many prominent citizens of this and the adjoining counties, have testified to its great utility. Its success in Rheumatic affections has been hitherto unparalleled by any specific introduced to the public. Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists and surgeons. Prepared only by H. L. MILLER, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, East Berlin, Adams county, Pa., dealer in Drugs, Chemicals, Oils, Varnish, Spirits, Paints, Dye-stuffs, Botanicals, Essences and Tinctures, Perfumery, and all kinds of Medicines, &c. &c. A. D. Buehler is the Agent in Gettysburg for "H. L. Miller's Celebrated Rheumatic Mixture." [June 3, 1861. If

Young Men AND OLD MEN do not allow your mothers and your wives to wear out their precious lives over the old Wash-tub longer, but like men and benefactors, present them with an EXCELSIOR WASH-B, and instead of frowns and cross words will see smiles depend upon it, cheerfulness will greet you. TYSON BROTHERS, Gettysburg, Pa. Dec. 14, 1863.

Battle-field Views. A FULL set of our Photographic Views of the Battle-field of Gettysburg, from a splendid gift for the Holiday. The best yet published can be seen at the Gettysburg Gallery. TYSON BROTHERS, Gettysburg, Pa.

SAO Arrow Root, Corn Starch, Rice-Flour and Gelatin, for sale at Dr. HORNER'S Drug Store.

Cumberland Coal! A LARGE supply of superior BLACKSMITH COAL, now on hand at reduced price. This Coal is superior to all other Coal in the United States for welding and other blacksmith purposes. For sale by F. H. EYFER, City Coal Yard, Frederick city, Md. June 19, 1865. 1*

Hay and Grain WANTED! The subscriber continues to buy HAY and GRAIN of all kinds, at Granite Station. He also sells, at the lowest rates, SALT, FEED, GUANO, &c. PHILIP HANN. July 17, 1865. 3m*

Cannon's MARBLE WORKS, South-east Corner of the Diamond and Baltimore streets, opposite the Star Office, GETTYSBURG, PA. Every description of work executed in the finest style of the art. April 17, 1865. If

Piano Fortes. CHARLES M. STEIFF, MANUFACTURER OF GRAND AND SQUARE PIANO FORTES, 103, 105 & 117 Franklin street, York, Pa., No. 7 North Liberty street, Gettysburg, Pa. Constantly a large number of PIANOS of my own Manufacture on hand, with the Full Iron Frame and Upright. Every Instrument warranted for five years, with the privilege of exchange within twelve months if not entirely satisfactory. Pianos always on hand at prices from $50 to $200. Baltimore, Sept. 5, 1864. 1/2 3m*

Pianos! The undersigned would respectfully inform the public that he can furnish PIANOS of the following manufacturers, or those of other make, if desired, at the lowest possible price: CURKUMING & SONS, DECKER BROS., HAZLTON BROS., HAINES BROS., G. H. STRICK, A. H. GABLE & CO., J. H. HAZEL & SONS. Particular attention is given to the selection of Pianos; and when so selected, in addition to the manufacturer's guarantee, the Pianos are guaranteed by us.

CABINET ORGANS AND MELODIANS. The recent improvements in these instruments are such as to fully warrant saying they are FAR SUPERIOR to any other make. One of the best of these of their merit is that they are portable, being on hand by other makers. The new style, four stop organ, have a Sub-Bass and Octave Couplet, making it an instrument especially adapted to Church and Sabbath School purposes.

FRESH CONFECTIONERY AND ICE CREAM SALOON. The subscriber respectfully informs the citizens of Gettysburg and vicinity that he has a Confectionery Establishment, one door east of the Eagle Hotel, on Chambersburg street, to which he would invite their attention. Cakes, Candies, and every description of Confections, together with Nuts, Oranges, and all kinds of delicacies on hand, as well as Family Groceries, and all kinds of cakes, Ice Cream, (in pyramidal form or otherwise) and other refreshments at their houses, upon short notice.

R. P. Bayley & Co., DEALERS IN CHINA, GLASS & QUEENSWARE, PLATED WARE, FINE CUTLERY, &c. &c. No. 6 HANOVER STREET, NEAR BALTIMORE ST., BALTIMORE, MD. GLASSWARE - Tumblers, Goblets, Wine, Lagers, Flasks, Biks, Bottles, Candy Jars, Cassons, Pres. Dishes, Fruit Bowls, Salts, Jars, Sugar, Candy, Ker. Lamps, Ker. Chimneys, Lanterns, &c. QUEENSWARE - Plates, Flat Dishes, Deep do., Covered do., Covered Dishes, Tea Pots, Sugar, Creams, Bowls, Pitchers, Chambers, Basins and Pitchers, Mugs, Spoons, Tea Sets, Tea Trays, &c. CUM. STONEWARE - Jugs, Jars, Pitchers, Milk Pans, &c. [May 1, 1865. 1/2*

I. K. Stauffer, WATCHMAKER & JEWELER, No. 148 corner of Quarry, PHILADELPHIA. An assortment of WATCHES, JEWELRY, SILVER & PLATED WARE, constantly on hand. SUITABLE FOR HOLIDAY PRESENTS! Repairing of Watches and Jewelry promptly attended to. Dec. 12, 1864. 1/2

Hanover B. Railroad. CHANGE OF TIME! - On and after Tuesday, November 1st, 1864, Trains on this Road will run as follows: FIRST TRAIN will leave Hanover at 9 15 A. M. for Baltimore and intermediate stations. SECOND TRAIN will leave at 10 A. M. for York, Gettysburg, Columbia, Philadelphia, and the North and West. THIRD TRAIN will leave at 2 25 P. M. for Baltimore. Passengers for York and Harrisburg by this train will be delayed two hours at the Junction. D. E. TRONE, Hanover, Nov. 4, 1864. Agent.

Picture Pictures! LEVI MUMFORD having purchased Samuel Weaver's PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, is prepared to execute work in his line equal to any establishment in the State. If you desire good likenesses, finished according to the latest improvements in the art, call at the above long-established Gallery, in West Middle-street, Gettysburg. [Jan. 9, 1865. 1/2

Picture Frames. GREAT VARIETY OF PICTURE FRAMES, with plain and convex glasses, for sale at Horner's Drug and Variety Store. June 20, 1865.

Picture Frames. LADES' Cloth for Clothing, a new supply just received at FAHNESTOCK BROS.

Forwarding Business. CULP & EARNSHAW'S LINE. HAVING purchased the Warehouse and Cars heretofore owned by Samuel Herist, the undersigned take pleasure in announcing to the public that they will run a LINE OF PASSENGER CARS from Gettysburg to Baltimore every week. They are prepared to convey Freight either way, in any quantity. They will attend, if desired, to the making of purchases in the city, and delivering the goods promptly at the Warehouse. Their cars run to the Warehouse of STEVENSON & SONS, 163 North Howard street, (near Franklin), Baltimore, where freight will be received at any time. They invite the attention of the public to their line, assuring them that they will spare no effort to accommodate all who may patronize them. Having purchased the buildings and lot on the Northeast corner of Railroad and North Washington streets, Gettysburg, their Depot will remain there. Any person having business in the forwarding of goods, is respectfully invited to call. CULP & EARNSHAW. Aug. 7, 1865.

Wall Papers. GREAT REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF WALL PAPERS. AT GILBERT'S, 19 West Market Street, York, Penna. I am now offering a very superior and choice assortment of WALL PAPERS, at 15 CENTS PER SHEET, 20 CENTS PER PIECE, THOUSANDS OF 20 CENTS, and a fine lot of SATIN PAPERS at the old price. The following goods, a beautiful lot of Nottingham Curtains, Covertines, and Curtain Bands. Also - Window Papers, Oil Shades, Picture Cord and Tassels; White and Check Marbling; Front and Top of Oil Cloth; Venetian Blind Timmings; Damasks of all colors; Curtain Fixtures; Door Mats, &c. &c. All of which will be disposed of on as reasonable terms as times will permit of for cash.

New Goods! Cheap Goods! THE PLACE TO GET THEM. We hereby inform the citizens of York and Adams counties, that we have established, at the southeast corner of Centre Square, and Baltimore street, HANOVER, a branch store, (the principal business being located in New York and York, Pa.) where we will keep at all times a regular assortment of Dry, Domestic and Fancy GOODS, also a well selected assortment of Groceries, such as BUTTER, CANNED FRUIT, CANNED MEATS, CHINA, Glass and Queensware, Ladies' Masses and Children's SHOES; also a nice and full assortment of all kinds of CARPET, Floor and Table Oil-cloth.

Moro Phillips' GENUINE IMPROVED SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, FOR SALE AT MANUFACTURERS' DEPOTS, No. 27 N. Front Street, Philadelphia, and No. 100 N. 2d Street, Baltimore. B. A. L. T. M. O. R. E.

Fresh Arrival. HATS, CAPS, BOOTS & SHOES. H. J. HARRIS & CO. have just received and opened another splendid assortment of HATS, CAPS, BOOTS and SHOES, for Summer wear, which they are selling at very low prices considering the time. The latest styles of Summer Hats and Caps of every description. Boots and Shoes, of superior make, and warranted to fit, always on hand. Work made to order and repairing done on short notice, by experienced workmen. Also, HARRIS' MAKING. Persons wanting anything in this line would do well to call. Don't forget the old stand in Chambersburg street, if you want Bargains. COBRAN & CRAWFORD. June 19, 1865.

New Goods. GEORGE ARNOLD has now on hand his stock of SPRING CLOTHING, mostly of his own manufacturing, consisting of all kinds of COATS, PANTS, VESTS, BLOUSES, SHIRTS, DRAWERS, &c. Also, a large stock of Piece Goods, such as CLOTHS, CASSIMERS, DRESSING, &c. &c. Please call before purchasing elsewhere. They are as cheap as the cheapest. May 22, 1865.

Picture Frames. GREAT VARIETY OF PICTURE FRAMES, with plain and convex glasses, for sale at Horner's Drug and Variety Store. June 20, 1865.

Picture Frames. LADES' Cloth for Clothing, a new supply just received at FAHNESTOCK BROS.

POETRY. TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP. In the prison cell I sit, Thinking, neither fast, nor light, And my bright and happy home so far away, And the tears, they fill my eyes. Spirit of all that I can do, Though I try to cheer my comrades and be gay, Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching, O cheer up, comrades they will come; And beneath the almy flag We'll breathe the air again, Of the free land in our own beloved home. In the battle front we stood, When their breast-plates were made, And they swept us off our feet, But before we reached their lines, They were beaten back, they fled, And we heard the cry of victory and o'er-charge.

AN AUTHENTIC ANECDOTE. Talleyrand was once in the company of Madame de Stael and another eminent French lady, whose names we do not remember. "You say charming things to both of us," said Madame de Stael to him; "which do you like best?" The witty statesman artfully replied that he was delighted with both. "Ah! but you prefer one of us," continued Madame de Stael; "suppose we continue to sit in the same room to-night, will you be so kind as to sit by the side of the one you prefer?" "I would," said Talleyrand, "but my right hand, to Madame de Stael, and my left hand, to Madame de Stael."

MISCELLANEOUS. THE Dollar. - The word dollar is derived from a German word which means valley, and was first applied to coins in consequence of the circumstance. In the mining region of Bolivia at a place called Joachimsthal (Joachim's valley) silver pieces of one ounce weight were coined and came into circulation about 1520 as Joachimsthaler, and then for shortness thaler; this became dolera in Spanish, and in English dollar. The thaler is all the German money of account, and the Dolara is a corruption of the Latin denarius; cent is a contraction of the Latin centum, hundred; and a mill a contraction of the Latin mille, thousand; so that our denominations are philosophical as convenient, each one being in order, and being designated a tenth part of the one above.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

Recreation. - Recreation is intended to the mind, as whetting is to the scythe, to a pen the edge of it, which otherwise would grow dull and blunt. He, therefore, who spends his whole time in recreation is ever whetting, never mowing his grass may grow, and his scythe sharp, as constantly, he is always ready to reap. Recreation is ever mowing, never whetting; laboring much to little purpose. As good no scythe as no edge. Then only doth the work go forward, when the scythe is so seasonably and moderately whetted that it may cut, and not that it may have the help of sharpening.

INCIDENT OF THE WAR. Many instances have been given by travelers of the affection shown by the Arabian people to the fugitive slaves, and so much, also, has been written to prove their sympathy, as to make one believe, at times, that they must be endowed with an instinct which approaches nearly, if not quite, to the reasoning faculty of a human being. It is, however, as it may, very peculiarly, if among the fugitive slaves, of the horses of the East any can be found that exceeds in affectionate devotion the following incident, which was told us a few days since at Saratoga by the soldier to whom it occurred. The narrator is a young Irishman, and like many others of his nation, he is a member of the famous 88th Regiment, Sheridan's brigade. It was in one of those forced marches when they had driven back the enemy and had been in the saddle for several consecutive days and nights, that this trooper availed himself of a temporary halt, to slip from his saddle and stretch himself, shortly after his arrival in America, he had, brought for some little time, when he was suddenly awakened by the frantic pawing of his horse at his side. Fatigued by his long ride, he did not rouse at once, but lay in that partially conscious state which so frequently attends great physical prostration. So, however, the faithful animal, perceiving that his efforts had failed to accomplish their object, licked his face, and placing his mouth close to his ear, uttered a loud snort. Now thoroughly awake, he sprang up, and as the horse turned for him he would have been the first to get on his feet, but he was so tired that he fell back on his side. He was coming down upon him at full gallop. Once mounted, the faithful beast bore him with the speed of the wind away from the danger and soon placed him among his companions. "Thus," he added with emotion, "the noble fellow saved me from the hands of the enemy, and perhaps from death. Can there be found on record a more beautiful example of affectionate devotion on the part of the dumb brute to his master than this? Undoubtedly similar examples have occurred during the recent war, which will forever be handed on oblivion, but this might be brought to light, if their narration could in any degree mitigate the cruelty to which the horse is constantly subjected, especially in our large cities where many of the drivers are more brutal than the beasts they have in charge." -Journal of Commerce.

INCIDENT OF THE WAR. Many instances have been given by travelers of the affection shown by the Arabian people to the fugitive slaves, and so much, also, has been written to prove their sympathy, as to make one believe, at times, that they must be endowed with an instinct which approaches nearly, if not quite, to the reasoning faculty of a human being. It is, however, as it may, very peculiarly, if among the fugitive slaves, of the horses of the East any can be found that exceeds in affectionate devotion the following incident, which was told us a few days since at Saratoga by the soldier to whom it occurred. The narrator is a young Irishman, and like many others of his nation, he is a member of the famous 88th Regiment, Sheridan's brigade. It was in one of those forced marches when they had driven back the enemy and had been in the saddle for several consecutive days and nights, that this trooper availed himself of a temporary halt, to slip from his saddle and stretch himself, shortly after his arrival in America, he had, brought for some little time, when he was suddenly awakened by the frantic pawing of his horse at his side. Fatigued by his long ride, he did not rouse at once, but lay in that partially conscious state which so frequently attends great physical prostration. So, however, the faithful animal, perceiving that his efforts had failed to accomplish their object, licked his face, and placing his mouth close to his ear, uttered a loud snort. Now thoroughly awake, he sprang up, and as the horse turned for him he would have been the first to get on his feet, but he was so tired that he fell back on his side. He was coming down upon him at full gallop. Once mounted, the faithful beast bore him with the speed of the wind away from the danger and soon placed him among his companions. "Thus," he added with emotion, "the noble fellow saved me from the hands of the enemy, and perhaps from death. Can there be found on record a more beautiful example of affectionate devotion on the part of the dumb brute to his master than this? Undoubtedly similar examples have occurred during the recent war, which will forever be handed on oblivion, but this might be brought to light, if their narration could in any degree mitigate the cruelty to which the horse is constantly subjected, especially in our large cities where many of the drivers are more brutal than the beasts they have in charge." -Journal of Commerce.

INCIDENT OF THE WAR. Many instances have been given by travelers of the affection shown by the Arabian people to the fugitive slaves, and so much, also, has been written to prove their sympathy, as to make one believe, at times, that they must be endowed with an instinct which approaches nearly, if not quite, to the reasoning faculty of a human being. It is, however, as it may, very peculiarly, if among the fugitive slaves, of the horses of the East any can be found that exceeds in affectionate devotion the following incident, which was told us a few days since at Saratoga by the soldier to whom it occurred. The narrator is a young Irishman, and like many others of his nation, he is a member of the famous 88th Regiment, Sheridan's brigade. It was in one of those forced marches when they had driven back the enemy and had been in the saddle for several consecutive days and nights, that this trooper availed himself of a temporary halt, to slip from his saddle and stretch himself, shortly after his arrival in America, he had, brought for some little time, when he was suddenly awakened by the frantic pawing of his horse at his side. Fatigued by his long ride, he did not rouse at once, but lay in that partially conscious state which so frequently attends great physical prostration. So, however, the faithful animal, perceiving that his efforts had failed to accomplish their object, licked his face, and placing his mouth close to his ear, uttered a loud snort. Now thoroughly awake, he sprang up, and as the horse turned for him he would have been the first to get on his feet, but he was so tired that he fell back on his side. He was coming down upon him at full gallop. Once mounted, the faithful beast bore him with the speed of the wind away from the danger and soon placed him among his companions. "Thus," he added with emotion, "the noble fellow saved me from the hands of the enemy, and perhaps from death. Can there be found on record a more beautiful example of affectionate devotion on the part of the dumb brute to his master than this? Undoubtedly similar examples have occurred during the recent war, which will forever be handed on oblivion, but this might be brought to light, if their narration could in any degree mitigate the cruelty to which the horse is constantly subjected, especially in our large cities where many of the drivers are more brutal than the beasts they have in charge." -Journal of Commerce.

INCIDENT OF THE WAR. Many instances have been given by travelers of the affection shown by the Arabian people to the fugitive slaves, and so much, also, has been written to prove their sympathy, as to make one believe, at times, that they must be endowed with an instinct which approaches nearly, if not quite, to the reasoning faculty of a human being. It is, however, as it may, very peculiarly, if among the fugitive slaves, of the horses of the East any can be found that exceeds in affectionate devotion the following incident, which was told us a few days since at Saratoga by the soldier to whom it occurred. The narrator is a young Irishman, and like many others of his nation, he is a member of the famous 88th Regiment, Sheridan's brigade. It was in one of those forced marches when they had driven back the enemy and had been in the saddle for several consecutive days and nights, that this trooper availed himself of a temporary halt, to slip from his saddle and stretch himself, shortly after his arrival in America, he had, brought for some little time, when he was suddenly awakened by the frantic pawing of his horse at his side. Fatigued by his long ride, he did not rouse at once, but lay in that partially conscious state which so frequently attends great physical prostration. So, however, the faithful animal, perceiving that his efforts had failed to accomplish their object, licked his face, and placing his mouth close to his ear, uttered a loud snort. Now thoroughly awake, he sprang up, and as the horse turned for him he would have been the first to get on his feet, but he was so tired that he fell back on his side. He was coming down upon him at full gallop. Once mounted, the faithful beast bore him with the speed of the wind away from the danger and soon placed him among his companions. "Thus," he added with emotion, "the noble fellow saved me from the hands of the enemy, and perhaps from death. Can there be found on record a more beautiful example of affectionate devotion on the part of the dumb brute to his master than this? Undoubtedly similar examples have occurred during the recent war, which will forever be handed on oblivion, but this might be brought to light, if their narration could in any degree mitigate the cruelty to which the horse is constantly subjected, especially in our large cities where many of the drivers are more brutal than the beasts they have in charge." -Journal of Commerce.

INCIDENT OF THE WAR. Many instances have