Grand Jury Report. 10 the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Adams co.

JANUARY 17, 1866.

The Grand Inquest sitting at the present.
Term beg leave to present the following Report:
After diaposing of some nineteen Bills of Indictment laid before us by the District Attorney, the Grand Jury proceeded in a body to risit the Alms House on Tuesday afternoon. We found the number of inmates large, but all properly cared for their comfort consulted without wastefulness, and the buildings kept in a cleanly state. It therefore affords us pleasure to bear testimony to the faithfulness annufasted by Steward Johns and his family in the discharge of their duties to the poor Unfortunates entrusted to their keeping.
On Wednesday morning we visited the County Jail, and found it also commendably clean.

2 WORK HORSES, 1 Four-horse Wagon, 1 One-horse Wagon, Buckeye Reaper, (as good sheriff Rebert and family appear to be assiduted as new.) Rockaway Buggar, Sled, Hay Ladders, out in their efforts to keep the building in a Feed Trough, Land Roller, Plough, Coru Fork, proper condition, and are likewise deserving Cultivators, 3 sets of lorse Gears, Collars and of earnest praise. By the improvements that Bridles, a splendid Riding Saddle and Reidle have from time to time been made in the Latter Side Country of the Reidle R proper, it has been rendered reasonably secure ures to suggest in the premises.

We cannot close this report without mention of the conviction that if many of the petry on he brought into Court, were kept out of the justice and morality would not suffer, whilst the time of the Court would be much economized, and the revenues of the county proportionstely husbanded. Justices of the Peace have this matter mainly in their hands, and we deem it not improper to urge that they, one and all, exercise due care and circum-pection in this regard. They can prevent many ca ce from being brought into Court if they will, and thus not only save the time and money of parties seeking "law," but inflict no wrong upon the peace and good order of society.
