"I CAN'T DO IT."

Many little boys and girls are in the hab-it of saying—"I can't do it," when told by sheir parents to do some trivial thing. A very naughty habit is this, truly.

I heard a little boy (not so very little, however, for he-was most nine years old,) when asked by his mother to bring her in a little wood, say-"I can't do it."

His mother said to him again very pleasantly-"I think you can, James, it you try."

_I want Robert to do it." and you can do it just as weil, as to have said his mother.

A Bot of BRYAN'S LIFE FILLS will cost but they have a habit of saying—"I cun't do it." "I gan's drive up the cows; I want to the American Nation.

Robert to do it.'A

Such a habit do some children contract, that when requested to do any thing by their parents, without stopping to consider how wrong at is, the first reply will be-"I can't do it; I know I cau't."

Now this is not only disrespectful to their parents, but it is giving utterance to a falsehood; for it is seldom that parents desire their children to do anything they are unable to do if they will but try. Young reader, when bidden by your parents to do any little favor for them, don't say you can't, but say I'll try. How much better will you succeed as you advance in lile, in whatever you undertake, if you have the spirit well fixed in your mind-l'il TRY .- Pustor's Helper.
