Soft, soft Music is stealing.

Air : " Am I not family thine own?" Soft, soft music is stealing. Sweet, sweet largers the strain; Loud, loud now it is pealing. Waking the echoes again; Yes, yes, yes, yes-Waking the echoer again,

Join, join children of sadness, Send, send sorrow away; Now, now changing to gladness, Warble a be unful lay; Yes, yes, yes, yes.— Warble a beautiful lay.

Hope, hope fair and enduring. Joy, joy bright as the day; Love, love heaven ensuring, Sweetly invite you away; Yes. ves. ves. ves-Sweetly invite you away.

Hints to Business Men.

There are a number of merchants, me chanics, tradesmen, manufacturers, &c. says the Reading Journal, who either de not advertise at all, or only semi-occasion ally. They say they can't afford it-that it don't pay-is a humbog, and so forth.

. Can't offord it !" + This is a penny wise and pound fool sh objection. 'Can' afford" to be known out of their streets and squares !- can't ufford to keep their names and business constantly before the people! Yet they can afford to buy a sign with · John Smith," in large gilt letters, and place it over their doors, where it is never read by one in a hundred of the passers by -and pay for it as much as it would cost to have their names and business printed in the newspaper and spread broadcast over the country for a twelve month!

"Don't pay!"-Have they ever tried it If they have, they probably belong to that class who think the moment an advertise ment appears in the papers, there must be the name and place of the advertiser, and them in their remembrances for an occasion when they may need the particular occasion arrives, he it in a day, a week, a month, or a year, they respond to the invitation, not before,

"It is a Humbug!"-That is just as the advertiser pleases. Editors print just what advertises offer. If the latter choose to count of the system. The best plan is to ess-like way, making no promises which you are not well able to keep. The 'public' is a keen old fellow, whose eves are conand rewards it by his support.

The Bruised Heart.

How softly on the bruised heart A word of kindness falls, And to the dry and parched soul The moistening tear-drop calls

O, if they knew, who walk the carth 'Mid sorrow, grief, and pain, The power a word of kindness hath, 'Twere Paradise again.

The weakest and the poorest may This simple pittance give, And bid delight, to withered hearts Return again, and live.

O, what is life, if love be lost-It man's unkind to man— Or what is beaven that waits beyond This brief and mortal span? As stars upon the tranquil sea

In mimic glory shine, So words of kindness in the heart Reflect their source divine ! O, then be kind, whoe'er thou art

And it shall brighten all thy life,

And sweeten even death.
